Rules of Order
Rules of Order of the Annual Council of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia

1. On each day of Council there shall be appropriate worship services including a celebration of Holy Communion at each regular meeting of the Council.

2. On the first day of Council the Presiding Officer, having taken the Chair, shall declare a quorum present, if such be the case, or he may direct that the roll of the members of the clerical and lay order be called to determine a quorum.

3. On the first day of Council, a Program of Council shall be adopted.

4. On the first day of each regular meeting of Council, the Presiding Officer may appoint assistant secretaries to the Secretary of the Council.

5. Prior to each regular meeting of Council, the Presiding Officer shall appoint the following Committees of Council to serve until their successors have been appointed.

A. Committee on Credentials

B. The Committee on Constitution and Canons, to which all proposed amendments to the Constitution and Canons shall be referred. The Committee on Constitution and Canons shall conduct a hearing at a session of Council and thereafter make a report to Council.

Notice having been given that amendments to the Constitution and Canons should be submitted prior to the Council meeting, no additional amendments to the Constitution and Canons shall be received and acted upon at the Council without a two-thirds vote of the Council, unless it shall be reported by a Committee of Council. All such amendments submitted on the floor of Council must be submitted in 600 copies ready for distribution.

C. The Committee on Resolutions, to which may be referred all written resolutions, except those referred to the Committee on Budget.

All resolutions shall be introduced in writing in such electronic or written format as specified by the Diocesan Office. Resolutions shall be introduced no later than three days before the first open hearing of the Resolutions Committee, which may occur at a Pre-council meeting, provided that the date of such meeting and the intent to hold a hearing shall have been announced at least a month previous. If no such hearing occurs before the opening of Council, all resolutions shall be submitted no later than ten calendar days before the opening day of Council.

Other than Courtesy Resolutions, no additional resolutions shall be received and acted upon at the Council without a two-thirds vote of the Council, unless it shall be reported by a Committee of Council. All such additional resolutions must be submitted in 600 copies ready for distribution. Unless a resolution addresses circumstances arising after the deadline for submission of resolutions, it may be ruled out of order.

Courtesy Resolutions are those expressing thanks, congratulations, or condolences to individuals, families, or organizations, as may be appropriate for the occasions of retirement, departure, achievement, anniversary, or death. Courtesy Resolutions may be introduced as late as the first day of Council without bringing 600 copies of the resolution and without the need for a two-thirds vote. A Courtesy Resolution thanking or commending service at Council may be introduced at any time.

The Committee shall conduct an open hearing or hearings and thereafter report its recommendations on all resolutions submitted.

D. The Committee on Budget, to which shall be referred (a) the Executive Board’s recommended program and proposed funding, and (b) such resolutions related thereto as shall have been filed in writing with the Council.

The Committee on Budget shall conduct a hearing at a session of the Council and thereafter report to Council by presenting:
1. The Executive Board’s budget
2. The resolutions or recommendations referred to it by Council with the Committee’s recommendation(s) to Council regarding adoption or rejection of each.
3. Such other changes in the Executive Board budget as the Committee shall recommend, said changes to be presented in the form of a resolution or resolutions.

No floor amendment to the proposed budget will be considered unless the subject matter of the proposed amendment has been presented or made known to the Committee on Budget prior to or during open hearings.

No amendment to the proposed diocesan budget, as presented by the Committee on Budget, shall be received unless the amendment includes provision for offsetting changes in other expenditures or revenues.

E. The Committee on Church Status, to which shall be referred all petitions for church status prepared and presented as prescribed by Canon.

F. The Committee on Related Organizations, which shall study, review and report to Council the relationship existing between the Diocese and any organization, institution, corporation, board or other group which by charter or custom or for any reason may be considered to have a relationship with the Diocese or a desire to have such a relationship. All requests to change or create such relationship shall be referred to this Committee. This Committee is charged with presenting to Council, or to the Executive Board between meetings of Council, nominations or elections for confirmation, of officers or board members of all related organizations whose articles of incorporation or bylaws require such action.

G. The Committee on the Journal of the Council, composed of three persons of whom the Secretary of the Diocese shall be one, and of either order, to whom shall be referred all matters to be printed in the Annual Journal of the Council, which said Committee shall have power to act during recess of the Council, and report to the Council.

6. The Presiding Officer shall appoint such other committees of Council as the Council may direct or the Presiding Officer may determine and he may designate the chairman of any committee.

7. The size and composition of every committee of Council shall be in the sole discretion of the Presiding Officer, except where otherwise provided by the Constitution and Canons.

8. The President may appoint a parliamentarian for any meeting of Council.
9. Elections: In every election where more persons are nominated than are to be elected, the balloting shall be:
   A. On each ballot, the nominee(s) receiving the highest number of votes, but not less than a majority of votes cast, shall be declared elected.

   B. If any office remains to be filled after the first ballot, second and subsequent ballots shall be taken. On each later ballot, the number of nominees shall be reduced by one-half, but such reduction shall always provide for two more nominees than offices to be filled. In the event of a single vacancy, the number of nominees shall be reduced to two. Depending upon the distribution of votes, the presiding officer may, on the advice of the Chief Judge of Election and with the approval of Council, authorize the retention of three more names than offices to be filled.

   C. In the event of an impasse, declared to be such by the Presiding Officer, the Council may change or modify Section A and B of this rule by a majority vote of members present, notwithstanding the requirement for a two-thirds vote to suspend a Rule of Order. Notwithstanding paragraph 9(B), where a special council is electing a bishop, a nominee may be removed from the ballot only at a nominee’s request.

   D. Whenever the Council must fill a vacancy on the Standing Committee, the order of election shall be:
      (1) The member for a regular term;
      (2) The member or members for the longest vacancy to be filled;
      (3) The member or members for the remaining vacancy to be filled.

10. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Presiding Officer, and, if in writing, be read by the Secretary. After a motion is so stated or read, it shall be deemed in possession of the Council, but may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before amendment or decision, with the consent of the second.

11. Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the Presiding Officer or any member requires it.

12. A. When a motion is pending, the following amendments shall be in order:
      (1) One amendment may be made to each independent or separable portion thereof; and
      (2) one motion to amend that amendment shall be in order; and it shall be in order also
      (3) to offer a further amendment by way of substitute to which may be offered
      (4) one amendment.

   B. No proposition not germane to the subject under consideration shall be received under color of an amendment or a substitute. Neither the substitute nor its amendment shall be voted on (except to lay on the table) until the original matter is perfected. An amendment or a substitute may be withdrawn by the mover with the consent of his seconder before amendment thereof or before decision is had thereon.

   C. The amendment or the substitute shall be debatable only when the main question is debatable.

   D. The adoption of an amendment by way of substitute or otherwise shall not displace the main resolution, which, after being amended, shall be the question before the Council.

   E. The following questions cannot be amended:
      1) The call for the Order of the Day,
(2) an appeal from the decision of the Chair,
(3) an objection to consideration of any question, or the motions
(4) to adjourn,
(5) to lay on the table,
(6) to take from the table,
(7) for leave to continue speaking,
(8) to postpone indefinitely,
(9) to reconsider,
(10) to suspend rules,
(11) to take up business out of order or
(12) for leave to withdraw a motion.

F. The order of decision of a question before the Council shall be:
(1) Amendment to the amendment of the main question;
(2) Amendment to the main question;
(3) Amendment to the substitute motion;
(4) The substitute motion;
(5) If the substitute fails, then the main question.

13. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but to
(1) adjourn,
(2) to lay on the table,
(3) for the previous question,
(4) to take at a certain time,
(5) to commit or recommit,
(6) to amend or substitute,
(7) to postpone to a certain day, or
(8) to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order enumerated and be settled by a majority vote.

14. A motion for the previous question shall be put in this form: “Shall the previous question or questions before the Council now be put?” If the previous question is voted, only the immediately pending questions before the Council shall be put without debate.

15. A motion to adjourn, or lay on the table, shall always be in order and shall be decided without debate.

16. When two or more members of Council rise at once, the Presiding Officer shall decide who is entitled to the floor.

17. Except by leave of the Council, no member shall speak more than twice in the same debate, nor longer than two minutes at one time. No applause shall be permitted when a question is under debate.

18. The vote on all questions shall be taken by orders whenever as many as five members request it.

19. Reports of all committees shall be in writing. Statistical and other reports of officers and committees which require no action by Council may be read by title only, and any report may be read in part only when the Presiding Officer shall, without obligation, so direct, or when the Council shall so require.
20. No member shall absent himself from the meetings of the Council without leave, unless he is sick or unable to attend.

21. All persons elected as officials of the Diocese by the Council or by the Executive Board of the Council, Presidents of the Regions, and members of the Executive Board-elect who will take office at the conclusion of the regular meeting of Council, shall by virtue of their respective offices, be entitled to a seat and voice, but no vote, at all meetings of the Council.

22. These rules may be amended or special orders for the conduct of business adopted at any time by a two-thirds majority of the members present.

23. In all matters not specifically covered by these Rules of Order or by the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese, Robert's Rules of Order, Revised, shall govern the Council in all cases to which they are applicable.

24. Rules in force: At the meetings of the Annual Council, the rules and the orders of the previous meeting shall be in force until they are amended or repealed by the Council.

First Meditation
The president called on the Rt. Rev. Susan E. Goff, bishop suffragan of the Diocese of Virginia. Bishop Goff addressed Council:

It is a joy, a privilege and an honor to stand before this Council as your chaplain, and for the first time as your bishop suffragan. Thank you for giving me this joy.

The theme for this Council, and the theme of our yearlong diocesan stewardship effort this year, is “Setting God’s Table.” With what do we set God’s table? On the night before he died for us, our Lord Jesus Christ set the table with his very own body. “He took a loaf of bread, and when he had given thanks, he broke it and gave it to [his followers] saying, “This is my body which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me.” (Luke 22:19.)
Five centuries later, St. Augustine preached a sermon, “On the Eucharist” (Sermon 57), in which he extended this imagery to include even us.

“You are the body of Christ,” he said. “In you and through you the work of the incarnation must go forward. You are to be taken; you are to be blessed, broken, and given; that you may be the means of grace and the vehicles of the Eternal love. Behold what you are. Become what you receive.”

In our meditations, sprinkled throughout Council, and in the Eucharist this afternoon, we will reflect together on these words, on how we set the table with the body of Christ, revealed in the bread and wine, revealed in our own bodies.

Jesus took bread that night so long ago. The living Christ takes us still.

How very strange that Christ should take us, that Christ should choose us. Us. Broken, imperfect, incomplete, striving, struggling us. Poet Ogden Nash wrote, “How odd of God to choose the Jews.” I paraphrase and say, how odd of Christ to choose us. But then, who else has he got? When we think about it, it’s not such a stretch. After all, Jesus said to his disciples, “You did not choose me, but I chose you.” (John 15:16) And look who he chose – people who usually didn’t understand him, who often fretted over what was in it for them personally, who ran away when the going got rough; or who, like his women followers, were ignored and overlooked for centuries. He chose them, broken, imperfect, struggling, striving them – so why not us?

Jesus chose them to be his disciples, his students and followers. And he empowered them to be his apostles, the ones sent out as his partners in ministry. Yes, partners. For Jesus needed them to expand his work. So the living Christ chooses us, needs us to be partners with him in ministry to the world today. St. Augustine put it this way, “God without us will not. We without God cannot.”

So Christ takes us today and tomorrow as we meet in Council together to be his light, his love, his grace for the sake of others. This business of the Church can be, ought to be, will be, kingdom-building. Even as we do what might feel like the mundane, internal business of hearing reports and casting ballots and grappling with a budget, we can, if we have the vision and will, be doing outward-reaching mission and ministry. Nothing we do here this next day and a half need be anything less than serving the world in Christ’s name.

In prayer that we might allow Christ to take us, and that we might dedicate our work at this Council to building up the Kingdom of God in our midst, we sing together Hymn 707.

Members of Council joined in the gathering hymn, Hymn 707.

Introduction of Nominees

The president recognized the following nominees for Standing Committee, asking them to stand:

Clergy Nominees:
The Rev. Kim Coleman, Trinity, Arlington

Lay Nominees:
Ms. Allyson Getlein, St. Andrew’s, Richmond
Mr. Roger Inger, St. Paul’s Church-on-the-Hill, Winchester

The president invited nominations from the floor. There being none, the president asked for a motion to close the nominations. The motion was made and seconded, and Council voted to close the floor for nominations.

First Ballot
The president explained that the Council would be electing two clergy and two lay members for the Standing Committee class of 2016. The first ballot was for the full, four-year term election, two in each order. Tellers distributed and collected ballots.

Keynote Speaker
The president introduced keynote speaker Dr. Clif Christopher. The president detailed some of Dr. Christopher’s background and experience. Dr. Christopher addressed the Council:

Thank you so much and thank you, bishop, for that introduction. I appreciate it. It’s been quite a treat for me to experience you Episcopalians doing business this morning. I’ve been greatly moved as I am in all of the Methodist business sessions that I have been a part of. But I have sat here and tried to determine how it is that you all are like the Methodists in the way you do your business, and how you are different, from at least a brief exposure. I have determined that you are different from the Methodists in that it seems that your resolutions and motions just sail through at the very command of the bishop. Our bishops are not nearly that powerful. We would have a difficult time getting a second to offer a prayer to Jesus. It would at least be amended several times as to exactly how we should refer to him or her or it or they or we or us or our or whatever we may be about at the moment. So, I have noticed you Episcopalians do that with great ease and I commend you for that. Where I have noticed that we are very much alike, I was supposed to be up at here at 8:50. It’s now 10 after 9 a.m. You have just begun and you are already behind by 20 minutes. I can tell you that is exactly like we Methodists run our business sessions. You might as well – if you are 20 minutes behind on your first, go ahead and just extend for another day.

I’m pleased to be joined here – I believe somewhere here is one of our colleagues at Horizons, Tom Norwood. I don’t know if Tom is sitting down in here or not. He may not have made it through the ice and snow or whatever they were having a little south of here. He was planning to make it. I don’t see him jumping up and down and shouting, “Hallelujah.” But he wouldn’t do that anyway. He’s Presbyterian.

I want to share with you today some words and remarks that frankly have been a part of the book that I title, Not Your Parent’s Offering Plate. It’s a book that Abingdon press sells more copies of than any other stewardship book in the history of Abingdon press. I got the royalty check the other day. They really haven’t sold very many books. But, I’ll take whatever honors they want to hand out.

The title of the book and the title of this brief word that I share with you this morning came out of that old Oldsmobile commercial that many of you will probably remember, because from glancing across the crowd there’s a few of you as old as I am. The old Oldsmobile commercial was, “It’s not your father’s Oldsmobile.” They began to notice that they were losing market share as all of General Motors was losing market share in a rather drastic decline. Oldsmobile woke up one morning and realized that where we used to sell a lot of cars to everybody, now the only people buying cars were over 65. In all their brilliance, they determined that that means we probably won’t be selling too many more cars soon. So, we better do something. We have two choices. We can either radically change the product that is the Oldsmobile car. Or, and it’d be a lot cheaper, let’s just change the slogan.

So, they went on television and magazines and simply began to say, “It’s not your father’s Oldsmobile.” And see, they realized women didn’t buy cars back then so they just referenced the father. I remember looking at that and thinking, “Oh, yes it is.” You see, my father-in-law only drove Delta 88s. Every three years a new Delta 88. That’s the last car on the planet I would ever buy. Even if they said, “It’s really not,” I would say, “It really is.” And I’m not buying into it. They didn’t really change the product. They just tried to change the slogan. And the market shares of Oldsmobile continued to decline until three years after they made that slogan they no longer made the Oldsmobile. General Motors continued its decline rather steeply going from 60 percent of all cars sold down to about 19 percent. And at the point of closure, they appeared before Congress and said, “Help us. Please. Give us billions of dollars to resurrect our company.” As you are aware, they got the bailout money and they have begun to change the product and to change General Motors, and their market share has begun to return.

What scares me today when I look at stewardship in America is that our market share looks exactly like General Motors. The church used to receive 60 percent of all charitable dollars in America. Last year we received the lowest reported amount since we had begun to keep record. It is now down to 32 percent. America is saying loudly and has for a long time, “We are not choosing you. Church, we are not choosing you.” And yet we in the church have continued by and large to offer the same exact message as to why we should be chosen. By simply saying, “We are the church. Therefore you should. We’re the church. And thou shall.” And more and more and more with each coming year Americans are saying back to us, “We will not.” And if we do not radically change the way in which we do stewardship in our churches, we will eventually be not at 32 percent but down to 19 percent. And we too can go appear before Congress and we can say, “By the way, the Episcopal church would like billions.” And they will say, “No. No.” And we’ll be left to our own devices.

The question for each of us as Episcopalians, as Methodists, Presbyterians, Lutherans, whatever, is: Will we change the way we espouse our message or will we just sit back until we no longer have the dollars available for the message?

I had a most interesting experience a few years ago in Kansas City. I was working with a pastor in establishing a capital campaign committee for his church, a project they had determined they wanted to do. We were going to be meeting with the team that was going to help lead that campaign. Recruiting them one at a time, they were coming in spending 30 minutes with us in his office and out we’d go and we’d have our team.

I had researched with the pastor exactly who we thought would be perfect on the team. One lady seemed to be a slam dunk. She and her husband had been members of this church for over 20 years. They were the third leading donors to the church. She had been the chairperson for their board on two previous occasions. So, by all measures, she was committed, active, involved. She’s going to serve. So, I had told the pastor: Bring her in and introduce us quickly. Tell her what you want her to do. I’ll explain the job. She’ll say “yes”. She’ll be out of here in a couple minutes. We’ll have another cup of coffee. This one will be easy.

Well, she came in. We were introduced. She sat down. She sat right across from me. The pastor sat kind of to my right. We were in sort of a triangle. The pastor said, “Thanks for coming. Here’s what we want you to do.” I explained just enough where we thought she’d say “yes”. And then I noticed as I finished talking and I was ready for her “yes” how she sort of settled back into her seat. Uh oh. I thought she was going to hop up and leave, and [instead]she’s going to stay awhile.

Everything was quiet for a second and she turned to her pastor and she said, “Pastor, thank you for inviting me to be here. I appreciate the honor. My husband and I are aware of what our church is looking to do. We have discussed it at home in some length already. I am aware of the expectations of leadership and the invitation you have made for me to be a part of this leadership. You know that we care deeply for our church. We have always supported this church in any way we possibly could.
“Lately, in fact last year, my husband and I have also begun to give significant support to Oxfam and to World Vision. We’ve really come to appreciate those two organizations and what they do. The changes that we understand they are making – it’s dynamic in a number of places. It’s been kind of exciting for us to do that. We’ve really appreciated some of that work.

“And then we’ve been looking at our church. You know it seems again this year that I saw a lot more folks in church with gray hair or with no hair. I’ve seen a lot fewer children than what I used to see. I’m looking on Sunday mornings for some of the differences that we’re making. I haven’t seen anyone becoming a part of our church in a while. When’s the last time there was a baptism?

“Pastor, I guess my question to you this morning is: Do you really believe that the church is the best place for us to give our money?”

Oh, when she asked the question, that’s when I settled back into my seat. This is going to be good. Do you really believe, pastor, the church is the best place for me to give my money? She was in essence saying, “I’ve got a number of choices. Make your case.”

Well, the pastor was an Episcopalian, by the way, so you can already feel better about this. He began to sort of squirm in his seat a little bit and then, in as pastoral way as he could, he started to try to talk by saying to her, “I uh…uh…uh. I thank you again for coming. You know you mean so much to me and to our church. And I know – you are right. You have always been so supportive of this church in so many blessed ways. I’m just so thankful. I appreciate you being here today. You’ve honored us by at least coming and allowing us to visit with you. And, uh, I want to thank you for this question. It’s a good question.

“And these organizations you mention are wonderful. I’m familiar with them. They are fine. They do you right. They do some wonderful work. And I’m not at all upset that you have given support. My goodness, I give support to some other things. I understand. And this question you ask is, uh uh uh…about the church. It’s such a good one. Is this the best place for you to give your money? I think Clif could help us with this.”

Oh my God. Me? Well, I wanted to go right back at him and say, “Not me brother. This is your church. You’re the one that signed here. You’re the shepherd of this flock. Make your case.” But I didn’t. I didn’t want to embarrass him any more than he was already embarrassed. So, I mumbled some words about it being the body of Christ.

She just sort of sat there and looked. She didn’t want to hear from me. She knew I was temporary. She knew I was there for just a short time. I wasn’t going to be the one leading that congregation to where God wanted them to go. So, after mumbling a few words for a minute or two, I hushed.

She just very quickly and politely said, “Thank you so very much. Thank you both. Thank you for asking me. I’m flattered and I appreciate this. I will go home and speak with my husband again. I’ll let you know in the morning what it is that I’m determined to do.” She got up, shook hands and left. The preacher kind of stood there and went, “Well, you think she’ll serve?”

“No. She won’t. But she has framed for you the question you have got to learn to answer if you want to have any hope of success. Why are you more worthy than all of the other places that are calling upon her and her husband to give? Why is Jesus more at work here? Why is this work more valuable? How do you stack up? Make your case. Make your case.”

And he looked at me. He got kind of quiet. And then he said, “Would Horizons have a template for that?” He wanted me to give him a template for God’s call for his congregation. I said, “No. No we don’t.”
The question that we have to learn to ask is not so much the question of, “Why give?” Americans have very consistently said for going on almost 40 years that they are going to give, roughly, the same amount of their disposable income each year. It is not where we would like to see them give. They are giving at about a 2.1 to 2.2 percent rate of disposable income away. And they have been there for a long time, which is interesting in these difficult economic times. How many times have you had persons in your church say, “Well, giving is really tough because of these hard economic times.”

Some of you heard that? Greatest giving year in American history was 1933. We gave away more disposable income in that year than in any other single year. The height of the Great Depression, when we had unemployment of close to 25 percent, not 8 percent. The question we need to move from is not, “Why give?” But, “Why give to you?” Americans are saying, “I heard the sermon. We are going to give. Now we are trying to decide if that gift should go to you. What is really occurring with my money that goes to you versus my money that goes here?”

That’s the question that the coming generation is asking and frankly, we as the church have not been prepared to compete. There are 1.8 million non-profits in America - 1.8 million and they are making their case. And we’re standing around saying, “Well, you should just give,” with an assumption that that’ll all start with the church. And Americans are saying by our market share loss that that’s going to occur less and less. And as the World War II generation continues to die off, and the Baby Boomers and Generation X-ers begin to move up, we are frankly facing a stewardship tsunami in which we could be absolutely overwhelmed with the lack of funds available for ministry because we haven’t learned to compete.

The other day I noticed on the front page of our statewide newspaper in Arkansas there was a picture of a couple who had just given $6 million to the university. They gave it to the art department. Now, if they had given it to the Arkansas Razorbacks, it wouldn’t have been so stunning. I didn’t even know we had an art department. But I was struck by it because I knew this couple. I knew them well. I knew them through their church. Through working with them in a church through various giving efforts. Their church was presently involved in an effort to secure additional capital assets, and I had talked to this couple and with a smile upon their face, they had indicated they were considering giving a gift of a half-a-million dollars.

Now, I understand in Virginia and with Episcopalians a half-a-million is not that big a deal. But in Arkansas, that’s a pretty big deal. And at the church everybody was doing a happy dance over it. Even though that half-a-million was only about 5 percent of what they ultimately needed, they were just thrilled to have that. And, here on the front page of the paper, they were indicating they were making a gift to the university 10 times what they had indicated to their church.

I knew this couple very well. I went to visit them. I just went out and sat down and said, “Jim, let’s talk. Talk and help me. You know I write books about donors and motivations for giving and that stuff. I’m really not here on behalf of your church. I’m not here in any way to judge what you’ve done. But, I want to understand it. You obviously had the ability to make a $6 million gift to your church. And a half-million dollar gift to the university. But you chose to reverse that.

Now, I know you went to the university. I know that’s important to you. I also know that you and your wife have been a part of this church for nearly 30 years. That’s important to you. I see you sitting in the pew Sunday after Sunday. So tell me: What sort of went through your mind as the two of you determined the university should get a gift of 10 times what the church was getting?”

And he looked at me and said, “Clif, I didn’t get my money easily. We worked almost a lifetime for it. And I want to make sure that it does good when my time is up. I want to get a return on this investment. And I am absolutely certain from all that I understand and from what has been explained to me, I’m going to get a greater return on what I’m giving to the university than the church.”

And he said, “I don’t like saying that. But I am not at all convinced that the church is going to change lives to the degree the university is going to change lives, and that’s why we made that decision.” And then he said, “I hope I’m wrong. But today I am just not convinced.”

Now, this is a good Christian man with a wonderful Christian wife who had been a faithful part of the church for decades and he is saying to me, “I believe the university will change more lives than my church.” And that hurts.

So I said to his pastor the next day, “Did you see the front page of the paper?” “I did.” “You saw who was on it?” “I did.” “Did you see how mu…?” “I did.” I said, “Look, that didn’t come overnight. The president of the university worked diligently to get that gift over a number of visits and occasions and made a case that was convincing enough they got it. It’s not too late. You need to go see Jim.” And he said, “Me?” I said, “You.” He said, “You know I’m not good at that.” I said, “Well who do you want to do it? Who else runs this organization?” “Yeah, well I’m not comfortable with money.” He didn’t go. And the gift stands in both places. I’m sure he got a thank-you note from the preacher saying for the half-a-million, “Well done, good and faithful servant.” But nobody sold him a higher case.

What we have failed to understand in our churches are the top three reasons why Americans say they give. Our message of, “they give to us because we are the church,” doesn’t wash anymore. And if you need proof of that, just look at the market share decline. It ain’t working.

As Horizons began to grow in the 90s after I founded it initially just to work with churches, we began to work with non-profits. And the biggest difference that came out to me from working with non-profits was that they understand why people give. And therefore they made sure to compete with an understanding of what motivates a person to make those gifts. They must [in order] to do their mission.

What Americans consistently said is the No. 1 reason why they give is a belief in the mission of the institution. What they are saying is, “We believe lives will be changed here in ways that I, the donor, value. Therefore, I am going to invest my money to see that change occur.” And they give money there.

So, every non-profit I know tells in ever communiqué it sends out a life-changing story. How this individual’s life was changed through what they do. And they say it in a way that is very personal and understood. They generally talk about a person.

You know I get newsletters from dozens of non-profits and I get newsletters and communiques from dozens of churches, though I notice I get fewer and fewer from churches because they’re taking me off their newsletter list because I talk bad about them. But when I look at that non-profit website, when I look at that non-profit newsletter, I will see front and center, bold-faced, right out there, a picture of an individual and a testimony from them about how their life was changed through what this non-profit did. And it leads me to believe they are doing the mission they were created to do.

Now, when I read church newsletters and look at their websites, I will frequently see the smiling face of the pastor, or a tall steeple, or in some horrendous situations, their financial situation today. But, I haven’t seen the picture of a congregant yet witnessing as to how this church changed their life.

I will see on there that the women are hosting the women’s bazaar. They are going to have the women’s bazaar on Saturday. And at the women’s bazaar, they will collect funds that go where the funds always go with the women’s bazaar. The women’s bazaar is an annual event. We hold it here. It’s one of the things we are known for throughout the community. We’ll be doing it all day so you can come and spend money at the women’s bazaar so we can give money to where women’s bazaar money goes. And with a little footnote underneath, that while you’re here, you may want to go across the street to where our men will be selling manure for your gardens this year.

This is the church newsletter full of announcements and then sometimes you’ll see printed down there our giving to date. We expected this much, didn’t get it. We’re short. This is our deficit.

God loves a cheerful giver. We wonder why the women’s bazaar and the men’s manure sale were not more motivational. And we just spread the word everywhere our church is about bankrupt so please come and join us quickly before we close the door. We communicate a message that there’s not a non-profit in America who communicates. And somehow we think that’s effective when it comes to telling our story of how we are changing lives today. We fail miserably and that’s the No. 1 motivator; the No. 1 motivator for giving.

You know what we have in our churches is such a marvelous opportunity because we gather our donors every seven days. Every college would love to bring all the alumni in every seven days. We get that opportunity. This is an opportunity for us to not only worship but to communicate how we are doing the mission we are asking you to fund. And yet in how many of the churches that I visit – and I get to visit a lot of them because for the last 20 years my bishop won’t let me have a church, so I just get to visit around – in how many of those places do I witness an individual sharing with those who gathered how Christ has transformed their lives? How this church has caused them to get on a new path of victory and hope? How many times?

No, but I will see the head of the stewardship committee get up and state that we are about 8 percent behind on the budget and so everybody needs to dig a little deeper.

Folks, we fail miserably at the No. 1 reason why Americans say they give. We are not competing. The No. 2 reason they say why they give is their regard for staff. Donors realized some time back that without leadership no building, no program does anything. It’s people who change people. It’s people who change lives. And they invest in and around their confidence in people.

The person who sold this $6 million donor on the university is the president of that university and the head of the art department, who said, “We can control how this $6 million is going to be used and we can assure you it will be used in exactly the ways you desire, that you have stipulated, that you want to see happen with art within this university for the young people who go here.”

And they sold it. And they sold it around their leadership. And this man said to me, “I had the confidence investing with them they would make those changes. I believe in them. And we’ve already got an appointment some months from now where I’m going up to see the beginning implementation of all that.” That probably means another check will yet be written. But in that man’s church, the pastor said, “I don’t. I’m not comfortable with that.”

And in a lot of our churches, we have ridiculous rules that actually prevent the leader of the organization, being the pastor of the church, from actually knowing who the donors are. That’s one of the stupidest rules I’ve ever seen. It is the most ridiculous thing. It is no way, not only to run a rodeo, like we’d say in Arkansas, it ain’t no way to run the church.

Why is it important for the head of the university or the Boy Scouts or Habitat for Humanity or the Red Cross or Heart Fund or whatever...why would we say that leader better know where their revenue is coming from and better knew the donors? And yet we’d say the leader of our organization, the body of Christ, responsible to help usher in the kingdom of God, doesn’t need that.

I’m sorry if I get to preaching. That’s another thing the Bishop doesn’t let me do anymore. I’ve Folks, we have to examine that. Those of us who are members of the clergy, if we have made some rule that we believe it is a higher and holy right to be ignorant instead of informed, I would say to you, “We are wrong.” That is not good for the kingdom. It is not good for the kingdom. And if you sit there and say, “but if I knew what people gave, I’m afraid that I would judge them,” then you are in the wrong kind of work.

The third chief reason why it is that Americans say they give is a belief in the fiscal responsibility of the institution – that the gift given there is used wisely and responsibly and with good stewardship. I have had good church donors say to me, “I am hesitant to fully invest in the church because I think God is going to judge me on my stewardship. And I believe it is poor stewardship for me to take what God has given me and place it in the hands of what I believe are fiscally irresponsible leaders.” And I have a hard time coming back saying, “Oh no, God doesn’t think that way.” No non-profit would ever dispense its dirty laundry to its donors. Yes, they have financial issues at times. Yes, they struggle. They do not publish on the front pages of their newsletters, “Give now or we are going under.”

Some of you think about it. Ya’ll are Episcopalians, aren’t you? You take cruises. How many of you want to go sailing on the coast of Copernia? We’re not in the business of investing in sinking ships. We actually want to invest in a ship that will take us from point A to point B and do it appropriately. So, non-profits continue to simply say to their donors, “We will continue to do our mission.” That’s what they talk about. The mission, the mission, the mission. Even as they may struggle within the board.

What do we do in our churches? Well, we go into our finance committee meetings, and we’re there and the leaders of the finance team will look at the pastor and say, “Pastor, either you do it or I’ll do it, but we’re getting up on Sunday and we’re going to tell them how bad it really is. You don’t give more next week – no heat. You got a month – no youth director. Six weeks – no children’s director. By golly, if you don’t give more, we will have no ministry here at all.” And that’ll make them take their wallets out and just throw them up. That’s the way we do it.

We are the only non-profit in America that believes the more we cry wolf the more people give. That’s the motivation behind why we want to place these giving things in worship bulletins and in newsletters and on websites that say we wanted this much, we only got this much, and we’re short. Believing that every time we keep saying we are behind people will give more.

What it continues to reinforce to them is: Why is this organization always behind? Why can’t they get their act together at some point? And I will talk to these pastors, “Why did you send that out halfway in the year? That you were only at 42 percent of your income?” “Well that’s because that’s true.” “But, you are implying that you thought you should be at 50 percent.” “Uh huh.” “What’s the best giving month in your church?” “December.” “And you knew that when you lied to your people?” “Uh huh. But when they think we’re behind, they give more don’t they?” “No. No they don’t.”

One of the worst things we can do is to continue to publish that kind of financial junk in a bulletin. There is nobody, but nobody, I’ve ever found in America who says, “Oh goody. It’s Sunday morning. I want to go worship the Lord God Almighty. I want to touch the face of God this morning.” And they walk into some of our churches and are immediately told the church is about bankrupt. It’s printed right here. Absolute turn-off in our giving.

Folks, there was a great business leader who gave us this quote. Peter Drucker died a few years ago but he was probably America’s greatest business guru and he gave this to us: “A business has discharged its task when the customer buys the product and pays for it and is satisfied with it. Government has discharged its functions when its policies are effective.” Okay, that hasn’t worked out so good lately. The non-profit institution – that’s us. You have got to understand you are a non-profit institution competing with 1.8 million other non-profits. We neither supply goods nor service. Our product isn’t a pair of shoes or effective regulation. Our product is a changed human being.

The non-profit institutions are human change agents and their product is a cured patient, a child that learns, a young man or a young woman grown into a self-respecting adult. A changed human life altogether. My friends, that’s what we sell. That’s what we advertise when we stick the cross out on the front lawn and say, “You come in here in the name of Jesus. We change lives. So shop here and experience it for yourself.”

And they pull in off the street and they come into our place and when they see that happening and they see witness that we are indeed selling the product they seek, they will continue to shop at our store. But when they come Sunday after Sunday and they leave empty, and they do not see it and they do not hear it and they do not feel it, they continue or discontinue to shop here. And that’s our problem. When we do what Christ called us to do, we don’t have stewardship issues because you can’t help but give when you love Jesus.

Friends, we’ll talk some more about this tomorrow. I’m going to try to give you some specifics on how we might make some of these changes. But for today, you’ve been mighty nice to this Southern Methodist boy. I appreciate. God bless and I’ll see you later.

The president thanked Mr. Christopher.

The Pastoral Address

The president addressed Council:

I imagine that a significant number of you have had the chance to notice that over the past several years, our Diocese’s Annual Council has become much less contentious. I know that many of you have noticed this because you have told me so, and you have appreciated the difference it makes in comparison to some very difficult years in the not-so-distant past. Of course, there are several reasons “why” this new concord has come to be, but I’m not going to enumerate and evaluate those dynamics. We’d all have our own explanations. Some of these reasons would be fairly obvious and common-sense, and some would be more nuanced. Let’s just suffice it to say that we’ve had a relative lack of arguing over our common life as a diocese in recent years and, yes, things are easier that way.

Now, at the risk of stirring things up and opening boxes that would be better left undisturbed, I stand before you today to say that, generally speaking, agreement is overrated! I know, I know, who could quibble over a more pleasant, easy-going Council? Besides – and more pointedly – we do have a conspicuous bit of “one heart” and “one mind” language in the collects of the Prayer Book, and in Holy Scripture St. Paul returns over and over to the theme of the members of the Body of Christ living peaceably with one another. But I submit that these examples are NOT simply about everyone thinking and believing in the same way. I certainly don’t think that Christians are, by some sort of definition or default, supposed to shy away from having honest differences among ourselves.

As can be seen from all of Christian history, questions regarding faithfulness can be settled by common consensus, or simple majority, or by authoritative decree. Now, as then, there are questions that must be settled in some fashion. Even so, unanimity or conformity are not absolute tenants of Christian belief and spirituality. I would say that this is particularly true about our Anglican heritage … but, I’m getting ahead of myself. Let’s go back and take a look at the beginning; let’s look at Jesus and how He gathered his disciples, for a compelling example.

I’m often surprised that many people miss a crucial reality about Jesus’ closest followers, the ones we call the Twelve Disciples. We too often neglect a scandalous fact about who Jesus chose to be in His closer confidence and trust. We may be able to name most, even all of the Twelve, and surely we know that some were fishermen and that one (Matthew) was a tax collector. When we remember to name the disciple Simon, we might also include his biblical description, “the Zealot.” Now, wait just a minute! A tax collector walking in a common witness with a Zealot. There’s my point.

Pause to consider that a Jewish tax collector was perhaps the ultimate collaborator with the hated Roman occupation government. Practically by definition, Matthew had used force against and cheated his own people, not only to benefit their oppressors but also to line his own pockets in the process. Understandably, Matthew himself was likely despised; a tax collector was certainly shunned and even targeted for abuse (if not violence) by the Jewish nationals.

Consider also that the Zealots were chief among those who carried out such retribution. But, beyond that, they also employed what today we might call “terrorist” tactics against the occupying and coercive Roman army and government. I think it’s safe to say that no one hated those who collaborated with Rome more than did the Zealots. And so the collaborators themselves, such as tax collectors, had every reason to fear the Zealots more than they feared anyone else.

And yet Jesus called both a tax collector and a Zealot to walk together for His sake? Precisely. You couldn’t find two people more opposite each other than Matthew and Simon (not to mention how all of the others might have sided with, or at least sympathized with one or the other.) It’s hard to imagine how those two could ever have “agreed” on the burning questions of the day. But Jesus decided that both of them were needed for what He had in mind for His Church.

We don’t know how – or if – Matthew and Simon worked out and lived with their differences with one another, except for the fact that they came to agree on Jesus Himself or, at least, upon the hope and confidence they each placed on their teacher and leader. No, they didn’t get everything “right” along the way. (Sometimes we’re close to asking, “What did any of them get right, during the earthly ministry of Jesus?”) But, for all of their shortcomings and failings, they all came to know and follow Jesus of Nazareth as Lord, God Himself with us.

To get to that point, they all had to start with something, and that “something” was the person and the authority of Jesus. But we would do well to remember that they squabbled with each other after they came to follow Him. And this after stupefying miracles and even after the Resurrection! Sometimes, over the most self-centered, or mundane, and seemingly never-to-be-settled issues. And so it continued, over the centuries, down to our own day and times. Liberals or conservatives, progressives or traditionalists, who will be the true Church? No! Liberals AND conservatives, progressives AND traditionalists make up the one Church. Yes, a great many important, surely definitive questions were indeed settled along the way, but I say that this both was and is still essentially what Jesus has in mind for His Church.

I’ll grant you that the tax collector and the Zealot getting together is an extreme example, but the point, of course, is that if even they could do it because they had JESUS “in common,” then surely so can we with one another and still to others near and far.

And the key? What is it that would allow moving from human estrangement to a godly commonality in Jesus Christ? Well, first of all, it’s grace, the gift of God to God’s repentant people. Repentant people. This means that we have to recognize the ungodliness of estrangement and enmity and be sorry for it. As we know about the origin of the word “repentance,” it means that we must turn away from the ungodliness, and go in the other direction. This is most especially true for people who themselves profess to follow Jesus and belong to His Church. We must want reconciliation and be open to the possibility of it. That’s when “grace happens.”

And I suggest to you that, at least as often as not, the vehicle that conveys God’s grace in the Church so that we might live in the restorative power of the Holy Spirit is relationship, not theological ideology. A commitment of faith in Jesus Christ means the willingness to share your life with and for others. It’s about relationship: Find it, dive into it, stick with it and just see what God’s grace can do. Try it. You’ll find that, by definition, it is impossible to see another person as one to be shunned or disregarded when you are committed to having a relationship in the name of Jesus and through invoking the presence of the Holy Spirit. This is profoundly true even for someone with whom you vehemently disagree, even about weighty matters in the life and witness of the Church.

This all might sound like pedestrian, even predictable, piety were it not for my “zinger.” And that is …not only “may” you still disagree in many matters in the life of faith, but I would go so far as to say that it’s even somehow “better” when you do disagree! Engaging questions and differences actually makes us stronger and more confident in our own faith and corrects us when need be. Moreover, we give a better witness to the power of grace when the relationships we seek out and hold onto are, in and of themselves, “unlikely.” And by “unlikely” I mean not only against our commonsense, but even being all out nonsensical by human standards (like the relationship between Matthew and Simon). It is in such relationships that grace does its best work and gives the greatest witness to the power of God through the Church.

Perhaps you’ve experienced such an “unlikely” but definitely godly relationship. If not, I earnestly pray that you do one day. I know I have. I’m being supported and encouraged and made more faithful by one such friendship right now. (In fact, it’s been going on for about a year and a half) I want to tell you about it, because, as your bishop, I firmly believe that you should know about it, if not “understand” it. I’m not even sure that I “understand” it, but I do know that the Holy Spirit is absolutely running wild through it all! Some of you know about this extraordinary friendship, but most of this Council doesn’t, so if you’ve heard me tell of this before, please bear with me. In fact, listen more closely as you may hear new things that might ease your puzzlement.

I have found a true brother in Christ in the Rev. Tory Baucum, who is now rector of Truro Church, a congregation that left the Diocese of Virginia and the Episcopal Church in 2006 under the leadership of its former rector. An American, Tory was serving as a priest in the Diocese of London when he accepted the call to Truro Church at just about the same time that I came to the Diocese of Virginia in mid-2007 to be bishop coadjutor.

As I said, about a year and a half ago, Tory called my office and asked whether or not I would be open to a meeting between the two of us—no agenda, just to have some “face time.” I readily agreed (I hope you know by now how important I think listening is) and we had a very good first meeting. It went so well that we began to have meetings approximately every month in my office.

In a remarkable convergence of experience, we both had a strong feeling that we were being called together, and that simply talking and listening to each other was somehow very important for reasons we couldn’t define. We talked about our experiences of ministry, theological influences, family, movies, books, and what-not—and yes, about our own differing beliefs and practices and the division between our two Church bodies. I’m not implying that we’re anywhere near the differences of, say, the example of Matthew and Simon, but our disagreements over important parts of Christian witness and ministry were obvious and deeply held.

We had two “rules”: one, that we were not together to “negotiate” in any way or to serve as agents of communication for the respective legal teams that were then in the thick of litigation and, two, that we kept the content of our conversation to ourselves so that we shared an absolutely safe space. And we prayed together – deeply and humbly – for ourselves, for each other, for our churches and people, our respective leaders, our ministries, and our families.

What grounded our relationship was this: We did not paper over our differences, but neither did we exaggerate them or allow them to divide us any more than the ecclesial realities and politics dictated. And “grace happened.” We found that we had become fast friends, bound together in relationship through our mutual discipleship of Christ and our conviction that our time together is what our Lord wanted of us.

Now this is what I think is meant by “Christian unity” and “like-mindedness,” the one heart and one mind that the Prayer Book and St. Paul call us into. This is what our classic Anglican heritage has handed down to us and still embodies. The spectrum, the whole spectrum, right, left and center holds, and it must be valued and nurtured as a whole. And in my judgment, the Diocese of Virginia must be the “whole Church,” right, left, and center together.

In our ongoing friendship, Tory and I still believe the way we believed, and lead and minister as before. We have compromised nothing of our core theologies. We’re not looking for some sort of mishmash of middle ground. We have no sense that the theological and legal conflicts between our traditions can be simply overcome, but we are clear that those conflicts will not overcome us.

What’s more, we both know that we’ll probably not see structural or organic unity restored between our church bodies. But we are committed to the vision that, so far as it is in our power, our congregations should not walk farther and farther away from each other. From this, it is our hope that at least some common mission and ministry might be shared, not for “feel-good works” but for the sake of nothing less than the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

In a broken and deeply hurting world that desperately needs this Gospel, a great many broken lives and hurting hearts really don’t care about our ecclesial divisions – except to find them discrediting of any claim that God is working among us as “Church.”

Fast forward to March 2012. To make a long story short, Tory happens to be a close friend of Dr. Jane Williams, herself a most distinguished theologian and the wife of Archbishop of Canterbury Rowan Williams. The Archbishop heard from her about Tory’s and my “unlikely,” indeed surprising, friendship. Given the sad experiences he so often had about Anglican divisions, he was intrigued by our small story of mutual respect and personal commitment in the midst of a divide. When Archbishop Rowan learned that Tory and I would be attending a conference together in London, he offered to send his representative to a luncheon that was being held so that we could share our story with friends of Tory’s who are leaders in the Diocese of London.
That representative turned out to be my friend, the Rt. Rev. Justin Welby, Bishop of Durham (formerly Dean of Liverpool Cathedral, where we had come to know one another through the companion relationship between the dioceses of Liverpool and Virginia). Bishop Justin was much moved and encouraged by the relationship Tory and I shared. He was impressed that, somehow, we had—at least in a way—transcended theological and ecclesial boundaries. In fact, he was so moved that on Pentecost Sunday he used our story in his sermon at Durham Cathedral as an example of how the Holy Spirit can come crashing into the Church’s life, and soon he invited us to be presenters at a conference called “Faith in Conflict” that he is co-sponsoring at Coventry Cathedral. A bit flabbergasted, we agreed to attend that conference (to be held next month) and make a presentation as to how our personal relationship of sharing our faith with one another took us above and beyond our disagreements.

The next thing we know is that Bishop Justin Welby of Durham is named to be the next archbishop of Canterbury! Just a short time after that announcement was made, Tory and I had personal invitations from the Archbishop-designate to attend his enthronement on March 21 at Canterbury Cathedral as his guests. Obviously, we are deeply humbled and feel so privileged and very honored. We will gratefully attend this historic event.

Then comes the news that the Public Broadcasting System’s program, “Religion and Ethics Newsweekly,” has picked up on our story and will be interviewing the two of us, both prior to, and after, our presentation at that February “Faith in Conflict” conference at Coventry Cathedral.

Really, we ask, “What in the world is going on?! And, what could possibly be next?” We’re confident that something is and we simply wait to see.

There’s a lot of detail I’ve left out but, essentially, that’s our story. It all simply amazes the two of us …from just some “face time” in a Richmond office to the enthronement of the new archbishop of Canterbury in just over a year’s time! We still have no “agenda,” and even only a very small sense about what all we’re experiencing actually means. Tory and I would like to find some ways to bring others from our respective “sides” into a circle of like relationship, enlarging that group as circumstances allow and as the Spirit calls and leads. We feel that whatever it is that we’ve stumbled into is bearing fruit that is too important simply to keep to ourselves.

I’m quite struck by the fact that our relationship is clearly quite meaningful to others. I think this is rather telling. The more cautious or (dare I say) cynical among us could opine that this is more of a “sad” example than an incredible one, that such a small thing could be raised to such heights, or even be “used” for church politics or just publicity. Or, more palatably, perhaps our story only shows how hungry divided Anglicans are for something of sustenance, how much we all need a semblance of normalcy or just some simple civility in the midst of our disagreements and divisions. I do think there’s some truth about that hunger and we do indeed see just how powerful “normalcy” and civility are for a Communion that is under great stress. So be it. God grant that more and more of us throughout the Episcopal Church and the whole Anglican Communion learn these lessons.

But I will say that I think there’s more to it all than just such lessons. Having given the friendship I share with the Rev. Tory Baucum of Truro Church a lot of thought and prayer, I’ve come to see something like a parable in our story, a parable about relationships that are grounded in the grace of the Christian faith.

The simple truth is that neither Tory nor I had any idea about “where” our relationship would take us, either figuratively or, as it turns out, literally. All we knew is that, by God’s grace, we were called to take one small step together. The wider truth is, all of us are called in one way or another. We took that step, and for a while that was sufficient; we just “stood” in that new place and grew comfortable. in it. The wider truth is, this is the way it usually seems to go. But then, we were called to take another step into another place.

The wider truth is that God never stops calling us beyond our familiarities. Not knowing “why,” or what that next step meant, we trusted the fact that the Holy Spirit was leading us. The wider truth is that we are all asked to give ourselves over to the presence and leading of God’s Holy Spirit. Before long, yet another step, still small in and of itself, was requested of us in that Spirit. By then, we could clearly sense that we were caught up in some purpose quite beyond ourselves, yes, even Providence. The wider truth is that in our faithfulness we can perceive God’s presence and movement in our lives—we can hear God’s voice, if you will. The wider truth, disorienting for some, is that our like-mindedness has little, if anything, to do with the reaches, the depth and breadth, of the mind of God.

As I said, “agreement is overrated.” It might, just “might,” even get in the way sometimes of knowing the movement and the power of the Holy Spirit. History is rife with examples of portions of the Church living in a consensus that was proven to be wrong, such as our own part of the Episcopal Church with respect to the institution of slavery.

Tory and I trusted each step that opened up before us because these steps were so obviously not of our own making. We simply could never have somehow engineered all that happened along the way. The “parable’s” overarching truth is that in a faithful, honest relationship, based primarily on trusting grace, our stories of the transforming power of the living God unfold right before our eyes, just out of the reach of our own devising, but not so far removed that we can’t take that next, small faithful step.

I am as creedal a Christian as you will ever find. The core of my faith is utterly and absolutely defined by the Apostles’ and Nicene Creeds. I do in fact believe that the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments contain all things necessary for salvation. But I also think that, inevitably, people will have differing ways of understanding, interpreting, appropriating, and applying these essential truths. I do not accept that my own dearly held faith is in any way compromised by agreeing to disagree over the ways in which the catholic and apostolic Church gives witness and offers ministry, any more than I feel that my Church is compromised by my doing so. Furthermore, although sometimes I don’t live up to this ideal, I want always to keep an open and respectful mind to other points of view. To me, the plain fact is that I – we – need to hear and understand other views of Christian truths.

Maybe you’ll have the chance to talk about something in this Pastoral Address with an “unlikely” confidante and maybe you both would grow in your faithfulness and openness to God’s grace as a result. Who knows where such a conversation would lead you? Could you take a few surprises along the way?

God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit bless you, one and all.

Announcements
The president recognized the secretary. The secretary announced that UTO blue boxes were available for donation. The secretary noted that if anyone could demonstrate that they had made a $100 contribution, he would reveal who in the Diocese can do the best impression of Bishop Peter Lee, Bishop Shannon Johnston and Bishop Ted Gulick. For a donation of $200, the secretary would do his own impression of the bishops discussing certain matters.

Morning Break
The president announced a 15-minute break, with council reconvening at 10:50 a.m.

Ballot 1 Results
The president announced an election in the first ballot. The Rev. Kim Coleman and the Rev. Linda “Lin” Hutton were elected in the clerical order for the Standing Committee. Ms. Allyson Getlein and Mr. Steve C. Van Voorhees were elected in the lay order for the Standing Committee.

Report of the Standing Committee
The president called on Ms. Cindi Bartol, president of the Standing Committee. Ms. Bartol addressed Council:

Thank you. Bishop Johnston, Bishop Goff, Bishop Gulick, Bishop Mono, members of Council and guests. I come before you as president of the standing committee this past year and after a morning of inspiring talks by the Rev. Dr. Clif Christopher, our bishop and Susan. Thank you all but what an act to follow.

A full report of the decisions of the Standing Committee and the actions during our past year can be read in the list of official acts that appear in the Journal following Council, and a more complete overview of our place of deliberation can be read in my narrative report contained in your Council packet.

Service on this committee is a privilege that you have entrusted to its members and a place where we see the face of our Diocese growing into its continuing breadth and love for all of God’s people. By canon, we are lay and ordained in equal numbers. By prayerful thought for the jobs to be accomplished and knowledge for the work to be done, each of us put forth our names to stand for election at an Annual Council gathering. We are women and men. We are African American and Caucasian, under 50 and over 50. We are married or now a widow, gay and living in a blessed partnership that is now possible in our Diocese. We come from different size congregations located in the Valley, the Northern Neck, Richmond and the urban areas in Northern Virginia.

Our joy is that none of us is the same. And our gift is that we bring all parts of who we are to our conversations when we are in counsel with Bishop Shannon, and in our approval in the ordination process of those seeking service as deacons and others who will have a specific time of diaconate ordination and then live out their call to ministry as priests. We approve the election of bishops. We listen intensely about the vision of churches as they come before us for permission to borrow money. God’s love is growing. Our churches are growing. They’re looking at their needs and they’re making a difference.

I would like to extend my thanksgiving for the committed service of my colleagues and I ask that they stand as I mention their names. First, who those will be finishing their term with me: the Rev. Abbott Bailey, the Rev. Bob Malm and Mr. Steven Van Voorhees. Bob and Steve are filling unexpired terms of two who were elected with me in 2010: The Rev. Michael Pipkin, who is in the mission field in the Diocese of North Carolina, and Mr. Paul Brockman, who now celebrates eternal life with God. In the class of 2014, we have Mr. Frank Baxter, Ms. Janet Peyton, the Rev. Wes Smedley, who has served as secretary with assistance from others when needed, and the Rev. Jackie Thomson. Remaining in service until 2015 are the Hon. Jane Delbridge, the Rev. Lucia Lloyd, the Rev. Sven vanBaars and Ms. Mareea Wilson. Thank you all for being around that table.

We have a deep appreciation for the support of many on our diocesan staff from Henry Burt, from the Rev. Canon Pat Wingo, Mike Kerr, along with Ed Keithly, Bill Martin and Amy Williams. Believe me they are awesome. And the cheerful voice of Karen Smith makes asking for assistance a real pleasure. We have been blessed by our growing relationships in understanding and our places of interaction with the Commission on Ministry, particularly with the Committee on Priesthood, the Committee on the Diaconate, and the Diocesan Board of Examining Chaplains. The availability of our chancellor, J.P. Causey, for advice and counsel is a gift to be celebrated. Overseeing the election of the Rev. Susan Goff to become the Rt. Rev. Susan Goff last year, and working with her in new ministry, brings increased awareness of how exceptional the episcopal colleagues in our Diocese are and how many ways they come to serve among us.
Bishop, one of my last jobs is to put in nomination the disciplinary board. The Disciplinary Board of the Diocese shall consist of 11 persons, six clergy and five lay persons, each serving a three-year term and thus, in a three-year rotation schedule. In two of these yearly elections, two lay persons and two clergy persons shall be elected. In the third -year group, one lay person and two clergy persons shall be elected. This year, two lay persons and two clergy persons are being nominated by the Standing Committee for election by this Council to serve through Council 2016.

Bishop Johnston, as the president and on behalf of the Standing Committee and according to canons of this diocese, I am pleased to place in nomination the following persons for election at this Council to serve on the Disciplinary Board through Council 2016. Would they stand when their name is read?

Ms. Karen Grane, St. Paul’s, Alexandria
Ms. Peggy Miller, Holy Comforter, Vienna
The Rev. Weezie Blanchard, St. Stephen’s, Richmond
The Rev. Matt Johnson, St. Stephen’s, Richmond

The president called for a motion to elect the slate presented by the Standing Committee. The slate was elected unanimously on a voice vote.

Ms. Bartol continued to address Council:
Thank you all for the privilege of sharing the walk and being among those who seek to serve God in all places and at all times. Thank you.

The president thanked Ms. Bartol.

Awards
The president presented the annual Bishop’s Outreach Award, which is sponsored by the Committee on Human Need and honors a church or faith-based non-profit whose outreach and social ministry programming is exemplary. The president addressed Council:

I am indeed pleased to announce that this year’s Bishop’s Outreach Award winner is the Church of the Resurrection, Alexandria. The Church of the Resurrection’s ALIVE! Last Saturday Feeding Program works with all eight city of Alexandria’s Region IV Episcopal Churches. Church of the Resurrection’s involvement in the ALIVE! Last Saturday Feeding Program engages one-fourth of the active members of the congregation in hands-on ministry, along with other volunteers from other churches and the community. Thirty-seven percent of the church’s pledging units provided money in 2012 to meet special ALIVE! needs.

Equally important, members of the church get to be the “hands and feet of the Lord, reaching out to our community and our world.” This program allows the church one important way to live its mission statement. We hope this recognition from your diocesan community will help energize Church of the Resurrection for many more years to come in addressing short-term and long-term needs for those less fortunate in the community.

Will Maureen Bryant, on behalf of the Church of the Resurrection, please stand and be recognized? Please congratulate Maureen and the volunteers from the Church of the Resurrection for their excellent work in outreach. Please come on up to the stage to accept your award.

Maureen Bryant, accompanied by her volunteers, accepted the award.

The president presented the Harriet “Happy” Pullman Award, which honors individuals who have demonstrated exemplary work in Christian social ministries or outreach programs in the Diocese of
The Diocese of Virginia, and is given in memory of the late Canon Harriet “Happy” Pullman in recognition of her 13 years of faithful ministry to the bishop and the people of the Diocese of Virginia in support of the mission of the Church. The award is sponsored and the winner selected by the Diocese of Virginia’s Committee on Human Need. The president addressed Council:

This year’s winner of the Harriet “Happy” Pullman Award is Joan Dameron of Buck Mountain Church, Earlysville. Joan is a longtime member of Buck Mountain, and throughout the years she has been a strong supporter of many outreach ministries. Joan is co-founder of the Buck Mountain Food Pantry and serves as co-chair. The Food Pantry, which began with very modest volunteer and financial resources, depends upon her leadership and sweat equity to grow to serve close to 140 needy families in the area. Joan also plays a key role in pastoral ministry since completing a pastoral care course and serves not only persons in the church but in the community.

Another community ministry that was help started by Joan is once-a-month service to Rosewood Village, a small local assisted-living facility. This has now grown into a two-to-three Sunday service monthly, along with a sponsored Christmas party. Always with a kind word, dedicated service and sincere concern for those in need, Joan generously gives of her time and spirit to Food Pantry clients as well as the community as a whole.

Please congratulate Joan for her excellent work in outreach. Please come on up to the stage to accept your award.

Report of the Bishop Suffragan
The president called on Rt. Rev. Susan E. Goff, bishop suffragan of the Diocese of Virginia, to deliver the report of the bishop suffragan. Bishop Goff addressed Council:

It is a great joy and privilege to deliver to this council my first report as bishop suffragan. It has been a full year in the life of the Diocese for me, and for all of us together. Thank you for calling me to be a partner in ministry with you and for giving me the honor, challenge and pleasure of serving you as your bishop suffragan.

I want to share briefly with you stories from the two areas of ministry that command most fully my time and energy. These are Dayspring and mission congregations.

Dayspring is a Diocese-wide initiative that was created at this time last year, after the judge’s decision returned disputed properties, including consecrated church buildings, to the Bishop of Virginia. Henry Burt will report tomorrow on litigation – where we’ve been, where we are now, where we’re going.
The great news that I share is that Episcopal congregations are now worshipping in five of these churches. They have returned to their church homes or are building new congregations in old, returned buildings. These five we call Dayspring congregations. Four of them are continuing congregations that returned to their church property last spring. These are St. Stephen’s, Heathsville; St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge; The Falls Church Episcopal in Falls Church; and Epiphany, Herndon. The fifth congregation, St. Paul’s, Haymarket, is newly formed.

Also under the purview of Dayspring is Truro Church, which we are currently renting to Truro while a Dayspring Truro Team works to develop a vision and plan for Episcopal mission and ministry in downtown Fairfax when the lease ends. Dayspring also oversees two church buildings in Woodbridge and is exploring possibilities there.

I ask the clergy, delegates and anyone else who is here from our Dayspring congregations to stand so that we can recognize and applaud you.

I also ask the Dayspring team members who are working with these congregations to stand so that we can recognize and applaud you.

Each of our five Dayspring congregations is faithfully struggling with unique issues of identity, growth and financial sustainability. Each congregation is working in partnership with a Dayspring team and with others in the Diocese. And each, while perhaps tempted to close fists and hold onto resources tightly to meet their own needs, is giving back.

St. Stephen’s, Heathsville, is giving back in compassionate care for congregations that have been displaced from their church homes in the Diocese of South Carolina. The Rev. Lucia Lloyd and members of the congregation have developed relationships with a number of Continuing Episcopalians in South Carolina, supporting them with e-mails and phone calls, and also by sending liturgical items to them. Among other things, they sent prayer books that parishioners inscribed with messages of encouragement and with prayers. The people of St. Stephen’s also invited all of us to join with them in care and outreach to our brothers and sisters to the south by bringing prayer books, hymnals, vestments, paraments and other items to this Council.

Next weekend, Lucia and the Rev. Kate Chipps, retired priest-in-charge of St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge, another Dayspring church, will go to South Carolina to serve as supply clergy for two congregations and personally to deliver the items that this Diocese has given. Having suffered a time of exile themselves, St. Stephen’s and other Dayspring congregations have a strong heart for those who are now in exile, and they are responding with concrete action.

Our Dayspring congregations both give and receive in ways that have the potential to give new energy to the whole of our Diocese, and beyond.

In addition to these five congregations whose new life in old facilities began this year, we have some 35 mission congregations. These include our mountain missions, our Korean congregations and the bulk of our Latino congregations. Nearly 20 percent of the congregations in the Diocese of Virginia are missions, and the great majority of those receive financial support from the Diocese. That means from all of us. The majority of congregations that receive monetary support would not survive without it. Yet they, like the Dayspring congregations, also give back. Even though they receive from the Diocese, they make pledges to the Diocese. And they give in other ways.

I ask those clergy and delegates from our mission congregations to stand so that we can recognize and celebrate you.

I also ask the members of the Committee on Congregational Missions, the area priests and the liaisons who work with these missions to stand so that we can recognize you and give you thanks.

Varina Church in Varina is one of our congregations that is giving back. Like the majority of the congregations in this Diocese, Varina has a food ministry. (I will say much more about food ministries in the Diocese in the Council sermon this afternoon.) Through the food pantry, the people of Varina established relationships with people in the community. Based on those relationships, they took a next step in ministry when they created the Varina Elf Shop so that children who received from the food pantry could experience the joy of giving. One magical evening in December, the classrooms were transformed into shops where children could select gifts for their parents and siblings, wrap those gifts, meet Santa and hear the Christmas story directly from costumed shepherds at the manger. Children and youth of the congregation dressed as elves and escorted guest children through the evening activities. Hundreds of gifts had been donated, hundreds were selected and wrapped and taken home to give on Christmas day. The Rev. April Greenwood, vicar of Varina, said “When the night ended, all of us knew that we had had a front row seat to watch God in action.”

Our mission churches, which receive from us, also share in the joy of giving and remind us all of how giving changes lives.

Our ethnic missions that worship in languages other than English are a particularly exciting and compelling group among our missions. Many of our Spanish-speaking services are bursting at the seams. Sometimes visitors to Santa Maria, for example, can’t join in the worship because there is no place for them to park or no place for them to stand in the packed church.

The mission field among Spanish-speaking people is huge and is ripe. The mission field among Korean-speaking people is huge and is ripe. There is such need that we could plant a new ethnic congregation each month for a year and only scratch the surface.

Why don’t we? Because we have not yet articulated a compelling vision for growth among populations that speak languages other than English, and we have not yet identified and released the financial resources that it will take to develop and support these ministries.

We as a Diocese were part of developing the five mission priority areas that Bishop Shannon unveiled at Council three years ago. Multicultural and ethnic ministries are one of these priority areas. It is time for us now to figure out together how to put our money and other resources where our mouth is in this area and truly support mission in this ripe field.

I ask all clergy and lay delegates of all congregations that worship in languages other than English to stand so that we may recognize and honor you.

The vital ministries of our Dayspring congregations, our mission congregations and our congregations that worship in languages other than English remind us of what it means to be a diocese. They remind us that we are bound together in mutual responsibility, that giving and receiving are intimately interconnected, that although we worship in different congregations, we are one church family. Dayspring and mission congregations also remind us of why our giving to the Diocese is so important, for they are changing lives with our help and support.

It is a joy beyond anything I ever imagined to be in relationship with these faithful congregations – and with all of the congregations of this imperfect, striving, struggling, loving, faithful Diocese of Virginia.

Thank you.
Report of the Treasurer

The president called on Mr. Mike Kerr, treasurer of the Diocese, to deliver his report. Mr. Kerr addressed Council:

Thank you, Bishop Johnston. At last year’s annual meeting I mentioned a recent need for reading glasses. A member of Annual Council was kind enough to provide me with great wisdom and said simply at break, “Why don’t you make the font bigger?” So I took that advice for this year and I am most appreciative of that excellent guidance. I do apologize in advance, however, to the Stewardship of Creation Committee, as it caused some additional pages.

Bishops, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen of Annual Council: Good morning. To begin – that would be my son’s class project on oil drilling. It looks like this won’t be going very well. A few comments on the organizations that my office serves: Shrine Mont had another good year in spite of the muddling economy. The major waste water treatment project has been completed in compliance with new Department of Environmental Quality standards. This work was accomplished through the financing of the Diocesan Missionary Society. And while Shrine Mont shuts down during the winter months, work does not end. Executive Director Kevin Moomaw and I, along with others, such as Ken Rogers and Bruce Walinger, will continue work on a property tax issue for Shrine Mont, and we hope that will have resolution in the next few weeks.

The Diocesan Missionary Society, or DMS, is the oldest of the diocesan organizations. That continues to strengthen ministries across the Diocese such as Shrine Mont. To educate you further about the work of DMS, you should have found at your tables a few cards that were produced recently. I give thanks for the work of Emily Cherry, in particular, in making this small card happen, and to Joy Buzzard for her continued and extraordinary administrative gifts. DMS remains as vital as ever to our common life.

The Trustees of the Funds manages investment funds for 120 or so of our churches and institutions. 2012 was another good year. We ended with a net return of just about 10 percent and that is with a blended portfolio that is designed to mitigate risks and volatility. So, in addition to paying out more than $2 million to participants who entrust our assets to the trustees, we ended 2012 with over $100 million in assets under management, a significant increase from over a year ago. With several small modifications to the portfolio, including eliminating an underperforming small cap manager and the addition of a global bond manager, we have moved over $101.7 million as of this morning. So it’s a nice return for a few weeks of January.

While adding value to the mission of the Diocese through providing enhanced support to these 120 institutions and churches is key to the mission statement of the Trustees of the Funds, there were two major shifts in doing business for the trustees. The first was a shift after 10 years in investment consultants. We have engaged the firm of Prime, Buchholz & Associates. They are based in Portsmouth, New Hampshire. The transition process is going very well. This change falls on the heels of a fairly drastic modification of the 2011 investment policy statement for the trustees, which essentially holds their own toes to the fire, in terms of their management and proactive review of the major components of the portfolio.

The second and perhaps most important change in 2012 was the launch of a new portfolio option. This is called STAMP, and that stands for Short Term Asset Management Pool. This has been a back-burner goal of mine for a number of years. With all of the church audits that I receive a 100 to 150 in any given year if you look back through the audit report, I have noticed a trend with churches and the cash reserves that they hold. So I continued to monitor this back-burner issue of mine and I continued to research this on behalf of the trustees, and I thank them for their patience in allowing me to do so.
So, with the audit RFP from a year ago out of the way, STAMP moved more toward my front burners. I saw there being three tiers of cash management just about any church. The first, as you can guess, is an operating fund. This is typically a checking account – immediate access as needed, liquidity is instant and return is just about non-existent. The second is a cash reserve. You typically see this in a savings account or perhaps a second checking account. Again, immediate liquidity is needed and this might be as support for the operating fund. The third level is really the strategic level of cash management and that is the essential target of STAMP. What we’ve seen with those who have taken advantage of STAMP is that these funds were generally held in CDs, perhaps laddered. The CDs are liquid. They are locked up for a year or more still returning maybe 1 percent but mostly less from what we’ve seen. Again, earning very little. Through an extensive back-testing process, a three-manager pool was created with the assistance of SunTrust. And using a 15-year back test, and using my worst case scenario, the return net of all fees to participants to run the program was about 1.45 percent. Beginning with a pilot phase in April of last year, STAMP has returned 2.86 percent net of all fees and net of all expenses since inception. Well above my expected norm return of 2.69 percent.

Besides diocesan funds, there have been six churches taking advantage of STAMP in the past three months. We have now moved over $1.4 million as of this morning. So a question for your consideration as you are taking a look at what cash reserves you hold is in relationship to your stewardship of those funds, and what are you doing with regard to that and your church’s strategic cash.

In your packets, you should have found – and that’s the big brown packet – you should have found a request from me regarding 501C(3) status. This is an update that I provide to the presiding bishop’s office each year. Please give this your attention as we have had several near misses in the past two months, primarily with church-affiliated entities such as preschools or endowments each of which may have their own employer identification number or EIN.

In each case, they could not prove for certain, in one means or another, to their jurisdictions or to localities that they were actually to be included in the umbrella exemption. The Episcopal Church USA maintains such an exemption and it is listed in something called Publication 78. This is a Code 1 exemption, so this is an umbrella exemption for the Episcopal Church, but you must opt-in to it. So the exemption flows from the Episcopal Church Center in New York to the various dioceses, and from the various dioceses to the various churches and institutions that that diocese considers to be a valid ministry.

I know that there are a handful of churches that have obtained their own letters from the IRS, called a determination letter, but those are the exceptions to the rule. So what I wish to impress upon you is the need to return the form that I provided to you to provide me the correct identification number, or EIN. I have provided several means to get this back to me. I have included the snail mail address, e-mail address and fax number, or if you want to hand it to me today if you know your EIN; that would be most appreciated.

In the next month or so, you will receive from me what is becoming an annual event - the credit for small employer health insurance premiums. How exciting! The IRS recently released the 2012 version of IRS form 8941 and the related instructions in order to claim this credit. I know there are any number of churches that have done this over the past two to three years. I recommend this as a means to recapture some dollars that are better spent on your ministry.

And as much as I love the Internal Revenue Code, I will leave it up to you to read the memo that is in your packet. If you have any questions, please let me know.

I am canonically required to report to Annual Council on the Church Pension Fund. The financial condition of Church Pension Group and the related fund for pensions remains strong with assets in the neighborhood of $10 billion. Information came out at the tailend of December that there was a 1.7 percent increase for beneficiaries of the fund, and that the earnings limit for 2013 has been raised to $35,500. Perhaps more important for those considering ordination or for those seeking ministry is that there was a dramatic change in how the pension fund will calculate credited service. For those part-time clergy, in particular, effective January 1, 2013, the threshold for earning a full year of credited service has been dropped to $18,200. Your pension benefits, if you do the calculation, will increase exponentially and it gives churches flexibility perhaps for looking for additional staff. So keep that in mind as you are seeking to recruit and retain staffing.

There were other modifications; some of them were minor. But one that was tightened by the pension fund, because of what I will call abuse, was the use of the WAR rules: Work After Retirement. Previously, ongoing extensions could be granted from the fund for those persons earning above that minimum now raised to $35,500. This has been changed to a hard and fast allowance for a two-year limit. In 2012, the fund paid out over $270 million to beneficiaries, and of these, beneficiaries of the Diocese of Virginia received just over $7.65 million.

I’ve been advising Annual Council of developments rooted in General Convention 2006 and 2009 on two key human resources issues - the requirement of lay pensions and the participation in the denominational health plan, each to be fully effective January 1, 2013. General Convention 2012 reaffirmed the actions of these prior conventions. One key modification, however, was that the issue of parity when it regards health insurance provisions has been delayed. Parity as defined by each diocese has had the mandatory implementation date delayed another three years through January 1, 2016. So while I know there were a number of church employers who have made great strides to implement a level playing field, and that is admirable, there are many still who have a ways to go. During 2013 and 2014, I expect the Executive Board will continue the work that they did on parity in prior years and you have another three years to work on compliance. Please consider the social justice element of how the church treats those who serve.

Turning to financial documents for Annual Council, the cycle of audit work for the 2012 audits for diocesan organizations ending on December 31, including the Diocese, DMS and the Trustees of the Funds begins with site work on February 25. As to parish audits, this report was posted as a stand-alone document on the Annual Council website. At the time it was posted we had received 103 audits for the 2011 audit year. We have now received 109 audits, which is down slightly from last year. This is a concern to me and hence the red type on the screens in front of you, as my office has been assisting a church with a case of defalcation. If you don’t know the term, for those of us who come out of the insurance world, that means employee theft. This has been going on for several months now and, while we are moving toward resolution, was there proper oversight? No. Was there an audit? No. Is this a problem? Yes. I’ll be posting the audit forms for the 2012 audit year in February, so I encourage you not only from a fiduciary standpoint, but also from the current situation, as you can imagine the pain and hurt that that has created at the local level.

The supplementary document packet that you received for Annual Council includes the pledge report. This is found on page 10 of the supplementary packet. And whether you go there or not, at the time it went to press on January 22 we had received 157 pledges with 26 outstanding and at the time we were down 0.34 percent from the prior year. As a part of the Budget Committee report tomorrow, additional pledges or changes to pledges will be listed for the knowledge of Annual Council. If you see that your church pledge is incorrect, or that you wish to make an adjustment to that, please do so before the work of the Budget Committee is completed this evening.

The income statement is found on page 16 of that same packet. Again, January 22 was our cut-off date for this information and the unaudited 2012 income statement is shown. That’s a summary of our income and expenses for 2012. While budgeted at $4.3 million, we ended up having pledges come in at roughly $4.35 million, which means a surplus in pledging of about 1 percent. And I thank you for your support of our collective diocesan mission.

Including other income lines, which also came in slightly above target, the total unaudited revenues for 2012 are therefore $4,897,228 million. Expenses follow and the layout mirrors the budget format. Most line items and budget categories were tightly on target and I trust that you can review the documents in front of you.

I will point out just a few small items for your consideration. Last year under strengthening our churches, I pointed out the unhappy fact that the real estate tax for undeveloped property was over budget by roughly $24,000. Part of that is due to properties coming back to the Diocese and us trying to budget carefully for that. Even with shifting tax rates for various localities in 2012, we were able to hit this target within $115. Another sale in 2013 should allow us room going forward in the 2014 budget. On page 9 under communications, I want to acknowledge Emily Cherry for not only envisioning and bringing to life a new quarterly iteration of the Virginia Episcopalian, but she also brought it in under budget.

New IT contracts added some additional savings. There was a lessening of expected legal expenses in 2012. Because of that, we also achieved some savings in the budgeted allocation for the line of credit interest. This last item will also help us in budgeting for the 2013 budget that will conclude this evening. Professional fees are near the bottom of page 10 of the income statement document and you will see an overage of $871,000. Missed it by that much. While this line also includes audit costs, which I will tell you came in under budget, the true impact is the expense of responding to litigation. I could put a positive spin on this and tell you we were over $2.4 million last year, but I like to live in that little place called reality.

The recovery of our Episcopal Church properties, the resettlement of our sisters and brothers into their church homes, as well as being a leader among denominational bodies in Virginia, makes this a reasonable expense considering the alternative. I will remind Annual Council that the property litigation has been funded by that line of credit and will continue to be retired from the sale of non-essential real properties.

The Budget Committee is chaired by the Rev. Dr. Lin Hutton of St. Thomas’s, Orange, and I will note that Lin has done a masterful job this year. Tomorrow you will receive a report from Dr. Hutton and the presentation of the 2013 budget. The budget was adopted by the Executive Board December 19 with about 40 percent of the pledges in and was balanced at $4,894,157 million or roughly $62,000 more than our budget for 2012. Since adoption, there have been several market shifts in pledges. With the pledges known as of this point and using a formula for estimating additional outstanding pledges, of which there are 24 at this point, the Budget Committee has decisions to make in closing a deficit. This is currently estimated at $95,000. Please keep that in mind as you are coming to our open hearings today.

Given the fluctuations to the budget process this year, I am reminded of the legendary economist John Kenneth Galbraith, who once said the only function of economic forecasting is to make astrology look respectable. I hope you will familiarize yourself with the budget documents, whether the ones on the diocesan web, the line item or the narrative documents. The rules of order were included in your initial click to print documents and you should be familiar with the process. While the Budget Committee must bring you a balanced budget tomorrow in order for the budget item to be addressed on the floor of Council, it must have been spoken to in one of the two open hearings, either at Christ Church, Glen Allen, a few weeks ago or in our open hearing this afternoon.
When Dr. Hutton presents the budget you will have a short document on your tables in the morning that covers proposed changes in income and expenses, updated pledges as we know them as of tonight, a list of the budget categories that are eligible to be spoken to on the floor of Council. If you wish to speak to one of these eligible line items with a stated amendment and funding, you must also make a recommendation to offset your amendment, thereby keeping the budget balanced.

In closing, onshore drilling provides a great number of advantages over offshore drilling. Sorry, wrong notes. My wife Kim teaches second grade in Henrico County. She shared an exchange she had with a student just prior to the holiday formerly known as Christmas break. And it went like this: Child: Mrs. Kerr, my back hurts. Mrs. Kerr: Do you know why it might hurt? No? Maybe you slept on it funny? No? Did you happen to fall? Child: Yes, I fell out of a tree. Mrs. Kerr: Well, that might be why your back hurts.

With an acknowledgement to my friend, the Rev. Brian Taylor: A young woman is pregnant, life grows in her womb, the baby is born, becomes a child, then a youth, then a man, then he is killed but he becomes something new beyond the grave. Then a community of faith is birthed and it too evolves over time until we come to our own day and on it goes.

The word epiphany means a sudden, intuitive perception of or insight into the reality or essential meaning of something usually initiated by some simple or commonplace occurrence or experience. From the connection of falling from a tree to a hurt back to living into your call as a child of Christ, what insight is arriving for you this season of Epiphany? How will you evolve as a leader in a community of faith known as the Diocese of Virginia?

On behalf of your diocesan staff, thank you for the honor to serve you, and may God bless you all.

The president thanked the treasurer.

Report of the Assistant Bishop

The president called on the Rt. Rev. Edwin “Ted” Gulick for his report. Bishop Gulick addressed Council:

I believe in God the Father, God the Son, God the Holy Spirit, and the power of Episcopal camps to deepen a child’s conversion to the God who loves us to death in Jesus Christ. I hope you loved the joy on those kids’ faces, noticed the song that enables them to rest in Christ’s love during the night. I hope you noticed the vigor of their worship, the imaginative programs that cast a wide enough net to catch jocks, musicians, artists, explorers, special-needs kids, the brilliant, the average, and the quirky, and hold them all in the confidence that God loves the world and that God loves them. Unfortunately, this is not the message every child receives during the rest of the year.

At Shrine Mont Camps, we sow seeds of faith, and our experience over the last 50 years is of a harvest of a hundred fold! Where would this church be without the ministry of those in this room who have been to Shrine Mont as a camper or served on staff…let’s get a visual of the harvest of the last 50 years. Off the top of my head, I would call to mind two who are not standing with us. One is dear to me and to so many - my fellow counselor, and the best assistant director of St. George’s Camp I ever served under, Russ Palmore; The other person who comes to mind is my very favorite former camper, the Rt. Rev. Holly Hollerith, the bishop of Southern Virginia!

Great things happen on the mountain for our campers; Seeds of faith are sown, and the harvest is abundant. But a summer at Shrine Mont Camps is like a good episode of Downton Abbey: A big part of that story line is what is going on with the staff. The story line is the vocational transformation that is happening to the young adults, from all walks of life, from the best colleges and universities in the country, who come to the mountain to live more deeply into the awesome reality of whose they are in a world that is all too quick to tell them who they are.

It might come as news – good news, I hope – that at the end of staff training week there is retreat time with a bishop to update on core beliefs of the Episcopal Church and how this church receives and cherishes the sacred Scriptures and uses them in a camp context. Did you know that the conclusion of this retreat phase of staff training week involves a commissioning service in which the staff renews their baptismal vows, receives the laying on of the bishop’s hands, gets their staff shirt as a sacred vestment, and receives the body and blood of Christ to strengthen them for the ministry that God is about to entrust to them?

It is beyond dispute that bishops do not have favorite parishes just like parents do not have favorite children; But the truth is I do have a favorite parish and the Rev. Susan Daughtry is its rector. Susan was the priest-in-residence at the Cathedral Shrine last summer, and her parish was every camper, staff member and guest on the mountain. As rector of that parish, she had a young adult ministry to 90 college-age staff, and everyone in her “young adult group” knew themselves to be a minister of Jesus Christ.

Herself a product of the Mountain (when she was a camper, she and her best friend, a girl named Paris Ball, both decided that they wanted to be Happy Pullman when they grew up), Susan, in her very being, knows the transformative potential of a summer serving at Shrine Mont. With her faith, her compassionate open heart, her intelligence and her approachability, young adults were able to talk about vocation, purpose, frustrations, family of origin issues, staff issues, relationship issues, and the core life realities that form the complex season of young adulthood in the third millennium. Since Shrine Mont is such a lab for leadership, how lucky they were to have her. What a profound gift this Diocese gives to young adults who give the Diocese their best gifts and energies and, in return, receive the care and support of such a gifted priest. And the investment pays a dividend. Almost half of our summer staff returned for a combination mission trip and retreat at Falls Church this past December.

It was my joy to continue the conversations begun in the summer and listen with awe as they reflected on these questions:

- Did you have a “for this I was born” moment last summer?
- Who seemed vocationally alive last summer? What did that picture of a person really alive do to you?
- After a summer at Shrine Mont, are you clearer or less clear about the vocational trajectory of your life?
- Did the ministry you were engaged in last summer seem to make more of you?

I wish we could have recorded the answers, but of course that would have violated the profound confidentiality of a privileged conversation.

In short, the young adult church continued the conversation of the previous summer because those conversations are the sacred task of the season of young adulthood.

Last summer, my brother in Christ and our bishop gave me the great privilege of preaching at the 50th anniversary service. It was a great joy, perhaps a bit intoxicating, especially when people clapped. Sobriety was quickly achieved when Webster Gibson said at the end of the service: “When people clap for the preacher, it probably means you failed!” And, of course, Webster is right on.

But as great as the reunion liturgy was, my moment of clarity had occurred about three hours earlier.
I sat on the rectory porch and watched, with tears running down my cheeks, as a crusty, middle-aged Richmond lawyer, now a newly minted Episcopal priest, stood at the Shrine altar and lived the vocation God had called him to when he was a camper and staff member on the Mountain. Granted, it took him over three decades to claim his “for this I was born reality,” but claim it and live it he does to the benefit of God’s glory and the holy folk of God in Montpelier. As I heard Herbert Jones, former counselor say, “holy and gracious father in your infinite love you made us for yourself,” I knew that he knew who he was talking about because Herbert told me the story of finding and being found on that hill!

During that same weekend, I had another moment different from observing Herbert, and it occurred in a snippet of conversation with a counselor at St. Sebastian’s. “Bishop Ted, working at camp has made it clear that I am switching from business to physical education. I want to teach and coach.” In this one sentence, I was in awe of the Spirit’s method. Take a Ph.D. in medieval German, make him a sports camp director, add an open-hearted young African American male, campers that love their very cool counselor, and then you will have a healthy role model for generations of young African American and other high school students who desperately need just the right minister of encouragement at just the right time. It’s not just vocations to ordination that are produced at that Shrine Mont lab! God loves the world and God is always looking for co-operators in the transformation of this loved world.

Because Shrine Mont is such a lab for leadership and in a sense a pathway to power in this Diocese and in this church, it is essential that the community served and the staff community recruited reflect the diversity that sometimes eludes our church. We need to lower the sticker shock of summer fees for folks in our ethnically defined congregations, our mountain missions, and our urban congregations. The only reason to have a campaign for Shrine Mont is if it will advance and broaden the mission of God in Jesus Christ for this generation and for the generations to come.

So what is it worth to you? What does the fact that God has been transforming lives through Shrine Mont Camps mean to you? When you vote on Resolution 1 tomorrow, you will have a very concrete opportunity to answer that question. I beg you – to use the language of St. Paul, I beseech you – to vote “yes” to a pre-campaign feasibility study only if you are invested and will invest in continuing the trajectory of the last 50 years into the future. A vote “yes” by you who are the most invested in the mission of the Diocese (or you would not be at Council) will mean that you anticipate giving of your wealth and your efforts to continue the future. Do not vote to commit others to this work without first of all knowing that you believe in the powerful evidence of God’s transformative work at Shrine Mont this past half-century.

One final story to illustrate the importance of this moment before us: Once upon a time a young girl whose faith had been deepened on Shrine Mont mountain wrote a heartfelt letter to a trusted counselor as she was about to go to college. Part of that counselor’s response contained these sublime words. “Remember your way home. Wherever you are, never forget your place in a circle unbroken around a table, set in a stone shrine on a Virginia mountainside…He is waiting for you still.” The camper was one Paris Ball; the trusted director of St. George’s Camp was Henry Burt. Where would we be without the transformation that God has accomplished on that mountain, at that spiritual home? Tomorrow when you vote on Resolution 1, answer this one question: What is it worth?

Announcements
The president addresses Council:

I’d like to remind you that all are invited to a special diocesan event on Saturday, February 16, at St. George’s in Fredericksburg to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.
I will join Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori and many others from around the Diocese and the Fredericksburg area in a special gathering titled: “From Repentance to Hope: A Service of Remembrance, Celebration and Witness.”

There will be a Litany of Repentance, a Celebration of Hope and a Witness Walk to the slave block two blocks from St. George’s. We will conclude with the unveiling of a new sculpture by a renowned artist from Fredericksburg.

Please join us on Saturday, February 16, at 10 a.m. for this special event.

There’s also another special event that you’ve just heard announcements for on the e-Communiqué and on the website. That is the inauguration of what I’m calling the Episcopal Arts, which is this new series that is designed to nurture the spirits and hearts and souls of the faithful through renowned performances that are truly exceptional. To live up to that high calling, we are inaugurating the Episcopal Arts with what is by common consensus the most famous and perhaps finest fire in the world, known as the Tallis Scholars. They will be in Virginia for two identical sacred concerts: One March 19 at Falls Church, that’s a Tuesday, and then the following day on Wednesday at St. James’s Church in Richmond. Tickets are available on the diocesan website. All seating is general admission. The demand for these tickets by people far and wide, in and out of the Church, is strong and I do encourage you to get your tickets early to see and hear something that will definitely nurture your heart and soul.

The president called on the secretary for announcements.

Second Meditation

The president called on Bishop Goff to deliver the second meditation. Bishop Goff addressed Council:

“You are the body of Christ,” St. Augustine said. “In you and through you, the work of the incarnation must go forward. You are to be taken; you are to be blessed, broken, and given; that you may be the means of grace and the vehicles of the Eternal Love. Behold what you are. Become what you receive.”

In the first meditation, we reflected on setting God’s table by allowing ourselves to be chosen by God, to be taken by Christ, the way Jesus took the bread on the night before he died for us. Now we focus on the next action of the Eucharist: Jesus blessed the bread. The living Christ blesses us, over and over and over again.

We see blessings wherever we look, because God, although transcendent, is yet intimately present. The Gospel reading last Sunday, the story of Jesus changing water into wine, reminded us that God cares about our daily lives. God cares about our bodies, our health, our relationships, our families, our rites and rituals. “Look for God at knee level,” I read recently on a church sign. I imagine the intention was: Look for God on your knees in prayer. I would add: Look for God on your knees in the eyes of a knee-high child, or on your knees planting a garden, or on your knees scrubbing the floor. Look for God right here and right now, in the daily, in the ordinary. That is where God is. That is where God blesses us. We are blessed by God in the ordinary in order to be blessings to others.

But there is more, another way to look at the action of Christ in blessing the bread. Two of the eight Eucharistic prayers in the Book of Common Prayer say Jesus blessed the bread. The other six Eucharistic prayers say that Jesus gave thanks for the bread. To apply these words to Augustine’s teaching is to say that Christ gives thanks for us.

Imagine that! That Christ blesses us is evident whenever we live with our eyes wide open to the wonders around and within us. But Christ gives thanks for us? That can be hard for us to comprehend.
We have heard the message of our sinfulness, our brokenness, our unworthiness and taken it to heart. We have sometimes taken it so fully to heart that we cannot conceive of any other message.

So could Christ possibly give thanks for us? Yes. We know Jesus as the mediator who prays for us to God, who intercedes for us. When we pray for those we love, our prayers include thanksgiving, don’t they? If that is true for us, how much more is it true for the living Christ who loves us dearly. Christ’s prayers for us include thanks for the ways we are faithful, the ways we have grown, the ways we serve the world in his name.

Macrina Wiederhehr, in Seasons of the Heart, offers a surprising prayer about this. She wrote, “Oh God, help me to believe the whole truth about myself, no matter how beautiful it is.”

Jesus blessed the bread. The living Christ blesses us.

Jesus gave thanks for the bread. The living Christ gives thanks for us.

Let us pray:

You bless us, Lord Christ. That we know. That we believe, for we have seen your blessings again and again. And we give thanks for your blessings again and again, every time we gather around the dining table to eat our meals, every time we gather around your altar table to share the bread and wine. But that you give thanks for us, Lord Christ? That is hard to accept for us who were trained to come before you only with knees bent and heads bowed. It is hard for us who have long prayed that we are unworthy to gather up the crumbs under your table. Yet, Lord, you have made us worthy to stand before you. You have called us friends. You have made us partners with you in ministry. Help us to accept the whole truth about ourselves - that we are sinners, and that we are saved; that we are broken, and that we are made whole; that we are imperfect, and that we are worthy, because you have made us so. Help us to accept the whole truth about ourselves, no matter how wonderful it is, so that we may be faithful partners in ministry with you, so that we may share with others the truth we know in you and so that we may always give you thanks. Amen.

And now in praise and thanksgiving we sing hymn 390.

The president announces that Council is in recess until tomorrow morning at 8:30 a.m.

Third Meditation
The president called on Bishop Goff to deliver her meditation. Bishop Goff addressed Council:

“You are the body of Christ,” St. Augustine said. “In you and through you the work of the incarnation must go forward. You are to be taken; you are to be blessed, broken, and given; that you may be the means of grace and the vehicles of the Eternal Love. Behold what you are. Become what you receive.”

Like the bread in the Eucharist, like the physical body of Jesus, we have been taken, we have been blessed, we have been broken. All so that we can be given for the sake of the world. The whole point of the taking, blessing and breaking lies in the giving. As Jesus gave himself for the life of the world, he now gives us for the sake of a world in need. The living Christ gives us so that we may be his body in the world today. And not just a body in the sense of a group or organization of people, like a team, or a corporation or the “body politic.” Christ gives us to be his very own literal, physical, flesh-and-bones body.

A story illustrates this: A child woke in the middle of the night, terrified and screaming from a nightmare. Her mother hurried to the room, turned on the light and sat on the bed to comfort the little one. After the tears subsided, the mother said, “You don’t have to be afraid. You are never alone: God is always with you.” “I know God is with me,” the child said with trembling voice. “But when I’m scared, I need someone here who has some skin on.” We are that someone with skin on for the sake of others.

St. Teresa of Avila, a 16th-century Spanish mystic, put it this way:

Cristo no tiene otro cuerpo que el tuyo;
no tiene manos ni pies en la tierra, excepto los tuyos.
Christ has no body now on earth but yours,
no hands but yours, no feet but yours,

Tuyos son los ojos a través de los cuales
El mira a este mundo con compasion.
Yours are the eyes through which Christ’s compassion is to look out to the earth, tuyas son las manos con las que El bendice
a todo el mundo.
Yours are the hands by which He is to bless us now.

Christ gives us as his flesh-and-bones body in the world. Christ gives us as the gift of love with skin on, to care for the bodies of others in concrete action.

Let us pray.

A prayer from Cameroon

Lord, I do so much want to be like you.
Like you, I want to feed human beings with love and with bread.
I want to bring hope and faith to the world even if the world crushes me. Amen.
(From A Procession of Prayers, by John Carden)

A prayer from a 7-year-old American child:
Thank you Lord for the bread that makes us the same as you, the same as others.
(From A Procession of Prayers, by John Carden)

Litany of the Disciples of Christ the Servant in India.

Servant Christ,
Help us to follow you
In untiring ministry to town and village,
To heal and restore the broken body of humanity,
To cast out the demonic forces
Of greed, resentment, communal hatred
And self-destructive fears.

Help us to follow you on the road to Jerusalem,
To set our faces firmly against friendly suggestions to live
A safe, expedient life;
To embrace boldly the way of self-offering,
The way of life given for other’s gain.

Help us to follow you into the upper room
To share your meal of bread and cup,
To accept our common place in your one body
Broken to create a new humanity.
Help us to follow you out of the dark tomb;
To share fully in your resurrection life,
To be renewed daily in your image of love,
To serve daily as your new body
In ministering to the world.
Servant Christ, help us all to follow you.

The president thanked Bishop Goff.
Keynote Speaker
The president introduced keynote speaker, Dr. Clif Christopher. Dr. Christopher addressed the Council:

Thank you very much, Bishop. I appreciate it. I'm so glad ya'll had me back after yesterday.

I know it's your last day and a lot of you want to leave and frankly I'm surprised you already haven't. Again, it's another one of those ways you're so different than the Methodists. Our last days really do fly by because it's only the bishop, the secretary and a couple folks left so they can do business in very quick order.

I referenced yesterday how I was noticing you Episcopalians were very much like Methodists in some ways and different in other ways. Bishop, I have continued to watch in my time here and I think I'm about ready to transfer. I don't know if you can use an Arkansas accent in Virginia somewhere, but there is an awful lot of things I like.

The neat uniforms. I want one of those. We haven't got anything like that. I just think that's really cool. I really want to get one of those.

But the selling point for me was last night after I came in from dinner - a wonderful dinner courtesy of your bishop, who by the way... it was a rare moment for me. I go out with Methodist bishops all the time and I have to pick up the check. Last night your bishop very graciously picked up my tab. I wish I had ordered something different. But that was impressive and then when we came back here and he invited me to the dance. And I said I thought this was the hotel's band. And he said, “No, this is the Episcopalian band. We bring these folks in. We have a good time.” I saw a bunch of old folks boogying down on the dance floor and just seemed to be having a heck of a good time.

I immediately e-mailed my bishop. I did. I sent him a note: “Look, business is about the same, but when the sun goes down these Episcopalians party.” I said, “We have got to take a look at our scheduling for next year.” I don’t think we’re going to do that but if we do I’m coming. The cash bar is going to be tough for us Methodists. We never drink in public. But I think we’ll work through it one way or another.

Well, they’ve made it really complicated on me. They brought me a different clicker for the morning. That’s very, very dangerous to change technology on me, but I’ll do the best that I possibly can.

In all sincerity, I thank you so much. Your hospitality has been incredible. Stephanie Higgins has been my host since I arrived. I mean she was standing right there at the airport hollering my name when I came out, got me here in her trusty minivan, and has literally guided me by the hand everywhere I’m supposed to go. Stephanie has been an incredible hostess on your behalf. Your bishops have been marvelous. I do thank you so very, very much for the hospitality that you have extended. I do hope that it’s not the last time we have a chance to be together.

Yesterday, several of you said you heard a couple of new things. Some of you said you got kind of choked up. So, I thought today we would talk a little bit about how it is that I see that we need to increase giving in most of our churches. A couple of you in our workshop said, “We have more money than we need and we just don’t know how it happened.” If you are short of funds at your church, I would suggest that you make that known because there are those in here that have more than they need.

I referenced yesterday what had been happening in the downward slope of giving to religion. This is a graph that details that out. I could have stretched it where you could have seen giving was at 60 percent but is now at 32 percent. But you can see it’s a rather steady and consistent downward slope. It should drop in the 20s, we suspect, in the next year or two. But 32 percent is the lowest reported giving to religion as a category of charitable giving in our history. America is saying to us for a multitude of reasons that they are not choosing us with their gifts.

The Barna Group – George Barna, one of the nation’s leading religious researchers – last year determined that tithing, which has very consistently been between 5 percent to 7 percent, woop de do, for church-goers. This is not all persons. This is for those who actually go to church. Last year it fell to the lowest reported level ever at 4 percent. I would like to be able to say to our bishops, “You can count on the Episcopalians tithing at least the 4 percent level.” But, that’s not true. For the Episcopalians, by our count, around 1.5 percent actually tithe. That places you two-tenths, or 1 percent, above Methodists.

But again, it is a sign of how our giving to religion simply continues to slide in a direction that is not healthy and good. It is certainly not good for the kingdom of God. If we are to indeed be the hands and the feet that were discussed in the meditation this morning, we are going to have to have the funds to do it. And it’s drying up in a scary way. This slide in this survey done by Indiana University, the nation’s leading philanthropy researcher, is very scary to me. This is what it says in essence using current dollars. My father’s generation, the builder generation, the WWII generation, when they were between the ages of 35 and 49, it has been tracked that they gave on average $1,615. My generation, the baby-boomer generation, when we were between those exact same ages gave on average $1,371, or 15 percent less than what my parents did. The survey found that the gap – that 15 percent gap of less giving – was because the boomers gave less to religious organizations. A 15 percent drop from my parents to me. How much of a drop as it goes down to my children, who are now moving to the age to be in leadership in their churches? It is not a comforting statistic.

So what can we do? That’s what we’ll spend the rest of our time discussing. What can we do?

Number one: The clergy have to lead. The sheep ain’t going where the shepherd don’t lead. Our clergy must at a minimum tithe and witness to it, and not in coded language, but in language that the person in the pew can clearly understand. They must stand and they must say, “The income received in my household was this… and the amount I am going to give at a minimum to this church is this…” and it should be 10 percent. If you stand and say, “This church has paid me $50,000.” For Episcopalians, that’s a starting place. Then you need to say to your church, “And I will be returning at a minimum $5,000 of that to this church as a tithe.” And they must hear that every single year. And you say, “Why is it their business to hear what I’m making and what I’m giving?” Because you are the leader. That’s why. You are the leader.

Now, I have talked with thousands of pastors. We go in and work with the church. We will always ask for budgets and we will ask for giving records, and one of the first things I always look for when I look at that budget and I see income for the pastor I look to the giving record, and I see how much is being given back. What is the leadership doing?

I talk to the pastors and I say, “How do you feel about tithing?” “We’re tithers in this household. We’re tithers.” And then I look and I say, “It says here you are making $50,000 and yet you’re giving to the church last year was $2,830.” I have tried every which way I can, but even in Arkansas that ain’t 10 percent. How did you arrive …? “Well…” and they begin the subtraction process. “Well,” when I removed the social security and when I took out retirement funds and when I looked at the number of hours I was actually working versus what they really were paying me for, and I went on and I calculated the time by minimum wage and I arrived at a real salary of $28,500, and therefore this is my tithe.” Really? Let me know how that goes over on Sunday. See if you can sell that later on. Sad. It was sad. That will be a church that will have difficult stewardship because they will not be challenged from their pulpit. They will not hear leadership from that pulpit. It will be something that frankly will be glossed over until maybe the end of the year when there’s a begging, pleading, hollering, screaming, kicking: “Please get enough money in to balance the budget.”
We did a survey of 1,000 ministers in Arkansas and Tennessee at the request of the bishops there to see how they felt about levels of stewardship. One of the questions was, “Do you believe that the tithe is the biblical standard of giving?” Ninety-eight percent of all the clergy responded “yes,” they did. And then we had a question: “What percent of your income do you give?” And we define income. One of the bishops wrote it “Here’s what we want you to calculate. What percent of that do you give?” It came out that of those who said 98 percent is the biblical standard, 72 percent of them actually said they tithe; 28 percent did not. I was sharing it with bishops and one of them said, “Are you trying to tell me that 72 percent of my clergy are tithers?” And I said, “No, sir. I’m telling you that 72 percent of them know what the right answer is.”

It has been our experience in the thousands we’ve worked with over 20 years that somewhere in the neighborhood of 40 percent of the clergy we actually work with would tithe as we would define the tithe. About 60 percent do not. If we are going to fix our churches’ giving and bring it to a level where we actually have the income to change the world, then it’s got to start with those of us who call ourselves clergy. It must begin with us. And for some of you, that means you are going to have to get your household finances in order. You are going to have to get out of that hold you are in. You are going to have to deal with yourself. I respect that and I understand it. But you are called to lead your church. Let it begin with us.

Now, some of you laity are sitting out there saying, “Give it to them some more. Let them have it.” Your laughter gives you away. Our record of tithing is so much better than yours, so I don’t think you really want to go there. But we are called to a different standard. If you want to improve the stewardship in your church you must begin with your own life. It goes from there.

Secondly, we have got to develop a sense of high expectations in our churches of all our people. High expectations. When we look at the denominational giving as compared to disposable income available to be given, the highest givers in America are the Mormons. The second level is the Assembly of God. The third level is the Pentecostals. And way down the line at 1 percent are Episcopalians and Methodists and ELCA Lutherans.

Why is it that Assemblies of God and Mormons give four to five times what we do? What’s the reason for that? Now Mormons and Assemblies would absolutely cringe at the thought that they have anything in common, but I want to suggest to you that this is what I’ve seen that gives me some clue.

Both of those groups have very high expectations that are expressed on the front end. Prior to persons uniting with the church, they are told, “These are our expectations.” This is why in both those places they will have more persons in worship than they have on their roll. You ask an Assembly pastor, “How many did you have in church on Sunday?” “About 500.” “How many members have you got?” “350.”

Now I know that’s probably the way it is in most of your churches. What’s going on? “These are persons who are a part of our church family but they are not yet ready to commit to discipleship. We share with them clearly our expectation that those who belong here, who have joined here, who have married into the body of Christ, are expected to tithe. They are expected to be in worship every Sunday they’re physically healthy and able. They are expected to serve outside the walls of this church somewhere every year – persons who are not a part of our church. We lay those expectations out and we share with them when you believe you are ready, when you have grown in the faith to the level that you are ready to make a higher commitment of known expectations, then we will look to train you for membership. But until then, just come and be a part of our studies and a part of our worship. You need pastoral care, you call us. But we don’t think you are ready. There is a very high level of expectancy on the front end.”

Too often in our churches what it seems to me we have done is that we have explained the tenets of the faith and made sure that they can quote certain things. We’ve walked them through liturgies. We have explained the history and all of those sorts of things. But what we have not done is we have not laid out a clear understanding of the expectations of what it is to be a disciple of Jesus and rise to the level where you are actually prepared to marry him. Therefore we have persons who join for a variety of reasons, but to truly be a disciple of Jesus Christ is frequently not one of them. Therefore, we have gotten back from those persons exactly what they have understood on the front end was expected and we wonder why.

I will share with churches and I do around the country that you have got to teach them on the front end the rigors of discipleship. And lay out to them that you expect their giving, you expect their attendance, you expect their service, not just because you do, but because Jesus does. And if they’re not ready, then they’re not ready.

I used to give a book to all young couples who came and wanted to be married. I loved this little book. I hand it to them the first time the couple would come in for premarital counseling. It was called, “Marriage Is for Grown-ups.” And I just love the premise of it. If you hadn’t grown up where you are ready to leave Momma, ready to truly commit to someone else, then you aren’t ready for this. Just keep on dating. Marriage is a whole other level of commitment and it requires a whole different level of expectation. We have not shared that with our people because we wanted to get members as if the bible said, “Go forth and make members.” It wants disciples.

Back in 1990-91, I was blessed with a free ticket to Saudi Arabia and Iraq courtesy of the United States Army. I was a part of the first armored division in the Gulf War. We led the invasion in the ground offensive and crossed the border. Many of you probably remember seeing on television what occurred as we crossed that border and began to roll into Iraq. The front line Iraqi troops did what? What do you remember seeing on television? Threw their hands up and surrendered. It was an amazing sight for all of us to see. I can remember as we rolled up on one of our Scout helicopters being flown by a single individual who had radioed in, “Come quickly. I’m holding 150 Iraqis with my 45.” He was just standing there in the desert and had 150 of them. He didn’t have but 13 bullets. But they were like that. They did not want to fight. They wore the uniform. They were members of the Iraqi army. They had the ID card. But they were not interested in the fight.

My fear is that what we have done in our churches is that we have recruited the Iraqi army. They have wanted the ID card. They have wanted the uniform. They wanted to call themselves by that name. But when it came time to take on a world that’s not on our side, when it came time to march for a heavenly cause, when it came time to rise up against a world that is not always a friend too many in our churches said, “No, no, no, no. I’m just here for the fellowship dinners.”

Let us make it clear on the front end what it means to marry into the body of Christ. If they are not grown up and ready to do that, let us continue to work with them until they are. You will have fewer members but hopefully you will have far more disciples.

We’ve got to learn to tell life-changing stories in our churches over and over and over again. I stood and listened to a man the other day explain why it was that he was giving away $1.5 million to a Boys and Girls Club. The introduction of this man to the group he was speaking to mentioned that he was very active in his church, amongst other things. I called him for an appointment. I went to see him in his office. He was a young, 42-year-old lawyer. We sat and visited, and frankly he preached me a sermon. He sat there and just said everything you want to say in a sermon.

“I’m giving this money away because it’s not mine. It belongs to God. I’m worth $15 million and God does not want me showing up at his gate with $15 million. He will look at me and say, How could you have taken that which I gave you and not used it more wisely? I must give all of this away. It’s my God’s blessing. It’s all been a blessing.
“You think I earned $54 million. Give me a break. I’m a lawyer. In college, I washed dishes. I earned that money. I’m called to do that.”

I said, “I hear you are active in your church.” He said, “I am.” I said, “Do you give to your church?” “Better than most.” I said, “Would you ever consider making a gift like you made to the Boys and Girls Club to the church?” And he looked at me and said, “Lord, no. They wouldn’t know what to do with it.” And I said, “So you’re convinced that the Boys and Girls Club is doing more for young people than the church?” And he said, “Oh, yes.”

He began to tell me the story of a young man named Phillip. That he had sat and visited with Phillip who used to be in a gang. In fact, he had led a gang. He had destroyed families. He had destroyed kids. He was pushing drugs. He was committing crimes. He was into all kinds of mayhem and the Boys and Girls Club got a hold of him and began to turn his life around.

Now Phillip found himself in college preparing for a better life. He said, “I too am going into law. I’m moving my practice right into my old community and I’m going to help turn around what I messed up.”

“And while I listened to Phillip,” he said, “I was convinced that this is what the world needs. More Phillips. We need to turn around more lives. So when I talked to the director of the Boys and Girls Club and I said, What do you need to create more Phillips? And he said, ‘I need $1.5 million.’ And I thought, I’ve got $1.5 million, but I don’t know how to change lives like the Boys Club does.”

That’s where his money went. Because of the story he had come and heard and understood from one person.

We have an opportunity every Sunday morning – every seven days - to put a life-changing story in front of our people. Not by saying, “I heard of someone once,” but by putting the someone in front to share what has gone on in their life. That’s what our donors want to know and when they come to understand that we too are changing those lives then they will give to us.

You’ve got to ask the question in your churches as to whether the financial leaders within your church understand Wall Street or understand the Emmaus Road. We have got too many people that we have placed in charge of the dollars of our churches who don’t know squat about our business. All they know is how to balance a budget, and when the budget gets balanced, they declare victory, whether a disciple was made or not, because that’s what they know. It’s Wall Street. They don’t know Jesus.

I get invited all the time to go into churches and do what we call a Horizons Stewardship Discovery. We look at everything related to stewardship in that local church – annual giving, planned giving, capital giving, the whole thing – and turn over every rock. We write a report at the end of it, “Here’s what we’ve seen and here’s the direction you need to change – holistically to change the whole culture of stewardship in your church.”

One of the things I always look at is who is on that committee of finance. I want to know their name, their age and their occupation. All that is filled out. I already have a donor list so as soon I have a name I’m checking the donor list to see where those who have been asked to lead on giving are actually giving themselves. It amazes me what I consistently see in too many of our churches.

What we have on those committees are old men in financial occupations. And it’s strange. We want to make our churches younger but we put old people in charge of the money. We think men should be in the money positions too many times when women in our society are three times more generous than men are.
But then they mostly want to be on the kitchen committee, I'm sure. I did not mean that. I did not mean that.

And then I will see that they're the president of the bank, they're a stockbroker, they're in the insurance business, they're CPA's, they know money. I don't care. I want to know if they know Jesus because we ain't in the money business. We are in the Jesus business. Do they understand our business? I'll tell you clearly I had rather have as the chair of my finance team the janitor who sweeps out the bank if he knows Jesus, instead of the president of the bank if he does not.

The sad thing occurs when we do these studies and we bring these reports and we call. We call for high standards of giving within all lay leadership and certainly clergy and staff. But I already know, of the 12 persons on the finance team, there are only three of them in the top level of giving in the church, and I know that the report is going nowhere. It will be tabled and shelved because they, the leadership, are not prepared to go to where we call them to go. Who is leading your flock? And where is their heart?

Our clergy must know who their donors are. And any rule otherwise is foolish. I would say stupid, but I did that too much yesterday. It's this simple: Do our leaders lead better if they know or if they guess? What kind of leadership do you want? Someone who makes decisions from knowing or someone who makes decisions by guessing? How do we examine whether someone truly knows the Emmaus Road or just Wall Street? One of the indicators is what they give and how they give out of their capability to give. And if we are blind to that, we have denied ourselves a spiritual diagnostic tool that can help us lead our churches. And to me that makes no sense.

I work with pastor after pastor and when I say, "Do you know the leading donors to your church?" "Well, I've got a pretty good idea." "Do you know?" "Well, not exactly. But I think I have about figured it out."

Now, would you like your doctor to treat you that way? You know when you come in and you're saying, "Doctor, I need you to do an exam." And he kind of looks over, "You got high blood pressure, cholesterol is not good and I think you have a little gout and your right knee is probably not doing really great." Bishop is sitting there saying, "Well Doc, don't you need to use the blood pressure cuff? Use the tools to really see how my blood pressure is?" "Nah, I've been a doctor for a long time. I can pretty much guess what's going on with you."

Are you leaving the office like, "I got a great diagnosis and my physical health is in good hands because my doctor knows what's going on and is treating me properly?" Heck, no. And, yet that is what we have asked of our spiritual doctors time and time again. Just kind of guess as to where we are. I know that giving would give you a real clue as to whether we love Jesus or money the most. But we don't want you to use that tool. We don't want you to have that knowledge as you deal with our spiritual health.

That is not smart. It's not healthy to the kingdom. It really does us no good. No good. If you, in those churches that do not allow clergy to see the giving records, if you can't trust your spiritual doctors enough to let them have all the information they might possibly need, then you fire them and you hire one you trust. Because by your denying them access to that diagnostic tool, you are causing them to commit clergy malpractice. That tool will give them insight into the spiritual welfare and you shut the door to their having it. It makes no sense.

Lastly, my friends, we have got – and I talked to the folks that came to the workshop yesterday a little about this – to understand that our people have three pockets to give from and we generally seek gifts from only one of those pockets: the annual pocket, the capital pocket and the planned pocket.
Every non-profit in America knows that people have three pockets and so every single one of them is actively seeking a gift from those pockets every year.

Now, we do a good job with the annual pocket. That’s our earned income. That’s what we put in this wallet. That’s what the plate is passed for and we are told, “Would you put some of that into that plate?” That’s the annual pocket. But the capital pocket and the planned pocket we do a terrible job with.

And you think, “Well, we did a capital campaign 10 years ago and we asked people to give and they did and we did really well so we did fine.” What has happened to those capital gifts the last seven years? Where have they gone? “Well, what do you want us to do? Build a building every three years?” I wish you’d need to. No. But I wish, I hope, I pray that you will have a dream every single day that there is not a single church leader in here that by the time you go home today, you will not have an answer to what would you do if I brought you $1 million right now. What is the dream that you would put before people – that you can share? $1 million.

I have this preacher I was talking to the other day. Baptists even listen to me. It’s amazing. I asked them, “Right now, I’m bringing you a check for a million dollars. You tell me what you are going to do with it right now?” And they kind of sat there. After a little while, this old Baptist preacher kind of in the back raised his hand. I said, “Yes, sir. What would you do with it?” He said, “Well, I’d at least tell you we are going to get a certificate of deposit.” Wheeee! Boy! What a dream for the kingdom! We don’t have to have approvals of everything. We don’t have to have marched through the political process that we go through in our churches. We don’t have to have all that done and have the vestry lined up and then we sit around and talk about something. It’s okay to have a dream and a vision. It really is. That when someone walks in, you can say, “My dream has been. A million dollars will make that happen.”

You will be amazed at how fast a vestry will vote to do something that you already have paid for. But it starts with a dream.

That planned pocket – the worst pocket in the world for the church. We are the No.1 charity in America. We get 32 cents of every dollar. But when it comes to estate gifts and planned gifts, we only get eight cents. We rank fifth. People do not think of us first when it comes to planned giving and yet they like us the most. Why don’t they think of us? Because we’re not asking them. How many of the laity in this room, just lay people, have been solicited within the last six months some way, some how in person or with a letter or phone call or brochure from your college, hospital, Red Cross, from Lord knows who, for you to remember them in your will, for you to do a gift annuity, some kind of planned giving? Raise your hand if you have been solicited. How many have you gotten more than one? Thank you. How many of you in the last six months have been likewise so solicited from your church? There you go. Thank you.

That gives us about 10 to one. It was about 10 to one. They don’t think of us because we do not talk about it and we do not ask. It is as if we believe that life does not continue after death. The last I checked, you did.

Folks, as you have probably been able to tell, I could talk for hours on end. But my time is up. Before I go, I do want to say a very special thank-you to those of you who do wear those collars, for those who have committed your life to being clergy leaders within our churches. I pounded on you a little bit today and yesterday but I’m one of you so I can do it. I don’t have that little collar thing going on.

I want to thank you for your service, for what you do each and every day. If we are able to win this world for Jesus, it’s going to be because of what you do. You are the front-line troops in this battle to change this world. You’re the ones who are on the front line. You’re getting shot at. You’re taking the blows. You’re getting up each and every day and you’re going back into the battle and you’re carrying that cross. You’re carrying it for me and for some of the rest of us who no longer have the courage to be engaged in ministry as you are. All I am today is some kind of rear-guard soldier. All I’ve done the last couple of days is I’ve sort of mailed up to you a few beams and bullets for the battle. But I’m safely in the rear.

But not you. Not you. Tomorrow morning you will rise again and you will stand before your people and you will bring a message on behalf of the Lord God Almighty and you will do it with boldness and courage, and I give thanks for all that you do.

Thank you so much and God bless.

The president thanked Dr. Christopher.

Report of the Committee on Related Organizations
The president called on the Rev. Dr. Anne Ritchie, chair, for the Report of the Committee on Related Organizations. Dr. Ritchie addressed Council:

Our Bishops, members of Council and friends, our hard-working committee had the privilege of revealing and now presenting to Council slates of nominees to be approved for later election by their respective boards.

This year there are three nominees to serve on the Diocesan Missionary Society: Karen Grane, James Schnell and the Rev. Dr. Peter Worthington.

For the Board of Virginia Diocesan Homes, we reviewed and approved the nominations of: John Board, the Rev. Jeffrey Fishwick, Anna Lou Flynn, Dorothy Gibson, Carl Kemp, Ann Mingles, Carl Oakley Jr., Ann Reid and Beverly Tucker White. We were impressed by the experience and keen interest expressed by these nominees. Among them are lawyers, Realtors, RNs and architects. All of them are extremely motivated and ready to serve this Diocese and our mission.

Although it requires no action, last year we added the Anna Julia Cooper Episcopal School to our group of related organizations. This middle school serves the heart of Richmond, focusing particularly on children at high risk. This school is expanding and flourishing. The mission of the Anna Julia Cooper School is to prepare children who excel academically, persevere in the face of challenges, care for themselves and each other, and become leaders in their homes and communities.
May it continue to be so for them and for us.

Our Committee on Related Organizations formerly places the nominees before Council for later election by their respective boards.

The president called for a vote.

The motion to approve the nominees was approved unanimously on a voice vote.

The president thanked the Rev. Dr. Ritchie.

Report of the Secretary
The president called on Henry D.W. Burt, Esq., secretary of Council, for his report. Mr. Burt addressed Council:
Proceedings

Bishop Johnston, Bishop Goff, Bishop Gulick, Bishop Jones, and members of Council. I left all the high notes on the dance floor last night so my voice is lower this morning.

At the request of the Bishop, I report on the litigation to recover Episcopal properties for the mission of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia. And as Dina Washington might say, “What a difference a year makes.”

Since last Council, where we had just been informed of the Circuit Court of Fairfax County’s decision overwhelmingly in favor of the Diocese of Virginia and the Episcopal Church, much has happened.

At that Council, Bishop Johnston announced the Dayspring initiative. You have heard about that work in Bishop Goff’s report. In the days following that Council, the seven CANA congregations and we litigated and negotiated the terms of the final order, which was entered by the Circuit Court on March 1. The entry of the final order gave force and effect to the court’s opinion on January 10. Under the terms of that order, the CANA congregations were required to convey all real and personal property to the Bishop by April 30 of last year.

The CANA congregations had the right to appeal the court’s ruling and file notice of their intent to do so. But the nature of such an overwhelming event, and an overwhelming opinion, is that it can change the dynamics in a dispute, even one seemingly as intractable as this one has been. So, between March 1 and May 4 the Diocese of Virginia negotiated settlements with the CANA congregations of Truro; St. Paul’s, Haymarket; St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge; St. Stephen’s, Heathsville; Epiphany, Herndon; Apostles, Fairfax. That, my friends, was an interesting two months.

The terms of each settlement were different, which is not unusual given the differing nature of each of the congregations and the circumstances they confronted. Except for Apostles, which was in extreme if not dire circumstances financially, the congregations paid well north of 90 percent of the funds they owed the Diocese of Virginia under the ruling. Five of the six settlements required the congregations to vacate church buildings, which they did in good faith and with a spirit of cooperation and civility. Where there were day schools, they remained in their locations either under the terms of a lease, or better, by becoming a day school of the Episcopal congregation coming into place.

Truro’s settlement was different. It allowed them to remain in place rent-free for 18 months with their day school intact. The Bishop extended that lease recently until 2015, which allows Truro and that congregation more time to locate new property in exchange for the upkeep of that very large church. Some have asked, “Why not charge them commercial rate rent?” The answer to that is very simple. We would not have reached a settlement and we would still be litigating with them had we done so.

Remember the Bishop suddenly became the owner of several open fields, an office building, five residential houses, a run-down shopping center and a horse farm. There is precedent for the horse farm. So, we would also have a large, empty church building to maintain rather than giving the Bishop and this Diocese time to discern what is next for the Truro Church site and to muster the resources to make that a reality. The solution therefore worked for everyone.

At the request of the Bishop, the Executive Board and the Standing Committee agreed and consented to selling the Church of the Apostles building. That building shares a fence line in Fairfax City with a tank farm that has a history of leaking oil. It was originally designed as a warehouse and has all the charm of one as well. Mike Kerr and I were empowered to engage in negotiations on behalf of the Bishop and we received significant interest in that property. The offers in hand sometimes as much as doubled the initial estimate we received from our broker on the value of the property. By sheer happenstance, or providence, our broker is Bishop Robert Moody’s son-in-law and is sending his son to Shrine Mont Camp for the first time this summer. I strongly suspect he will be on Bishop Gulick’s call list.
While these negotiations were unfolding...You needed that much time? Have you not been paying attention?...St. Stephen's, Heathsville, returned to their beloved church home on Palm Sunday where Bishop Jones presided. I would note that in the 2 1/2 months since I had last seen him at his retirement at last Council he had apparently discovered the fountain of youth, which we understand is located somewhere near the water hazard on the thirteenth hole of the Indian Creek Golf Club in Kilmarnock, Virginia.

At St. Paul’s, Haymarket, the Rev. Jim Hammond, a retired priest of this Diocese, with the support of Region VII and XIII, and others around the Diocese, undertook to begin services the Sunday after the CANA congregation vacated and they now enjoy the leadership of the Rev. Sean Rousseau as a replanted Episcopal congregation.

Epiphany, Herndon, returned home the same day as St. Paul’s to begin anew in a joyous service led by the Rev. Jennifer McKenzie.

Although we attempted to find common ground with the Falls Church CANA, they demanded several million dollars more than we were willing to pay for them to forgo their appeal. In our last exchange, we were a part by a factor of 10 or more. As a result, the Falls Church CANA continues to litigate. Although in April they sought a stay seeking to remain in place during the courts of all appeals, which would have had the effect of keeping our faithful friends of The Falls Church Episcopal exiled from their church home only longer, and able to use the building only at the sole discretion of the CANA rector. The court denied that motion.

In addition, the CANA congregation sought to foist an internet service contract of $130,000 obligation on to the Diocese of Virginia, and in December the court held against them. That obligation remains with them. The Falls Church CANA has appealed to the Supreme Court of Virginia, which granted them a writ to hear the case last fall. The briefing on the merits is nearly complete and the Diocese and the Episcopal Church filed the responsive briefs on Tuesday earlier this week.

We are fortunate and incredibly grateful that a substantial number of denominations, including the Methodists, have filed a friend of the court brief in favor of our position. Professor A. E. Dick Howard, a preeminent constitutional scholar at the University of Virginia Law School and an author of the Virginia Constitution, filed an amicus brief supporting our position that we have a trust interest in the property, in addition to the contractual and proprietary interests already found to be ours. I would recognize again our chief judge of the elections and my new boss, Bradfute W. Davenport, and his team for their incredible work.

Despite this ongoing litigation, we agreed to lease the rectory of The Falls Church to the CANA rector for a year at roughly market rent. In addition, The Falls Church Day School has returned to the stewardship of The Falls Church Episcopal, thus keeping alive a program dating back to the 1950s that supports 200 children and their families. The Falls Church returned home on Easter Sunday in the historic church and returned home permanently in mid-May.

We learned earlier this week as well that the Supreme Court of Virginia will hear this case during the week of February 25 and we expect a decision sometime during the week of April 15 this year. While no one can predict the results, we do remain confident, though that this does not necessarily mean the end of the litigation. Even if we prevail in the Supreme Court of Virginia, the Falls Church CANA has the option to appeal to the United States Supreme Court. There is a chance, although simply calculated on the averages a very small chance, that the Supreme Court would hear the case. So we do not know precisely when the litigation with Falls Church will end, but it is very clear that we are much closer to the end than to the beginning. And as we know, it has been costly and painful but it has been the right thing to do.
On a personal note, I want to thank you for the many kind words said to me on the days following my resignation and here at this Council. One of the gifts is the tie I wear. Charlie Chabot made it himself. My wife wished I had that skill. My wife really would like me to spend less money on bow-ties.

Of course, I am not leaving this Diocese. I am simply leaving the staff. It is time for a new chapter for me, and I am convinced for the Diocese of Virginia. I look forward to serving the church in other ways once, as my mother would say, I take a wee break. I direct this comment to my friends here at table five. If nominated, I will not stand; if elected, I will not serve as a vestry member of St. Paul’s, Richmond, in the foreseeable future.

Beginning 30 years ago in our diocesan camps at Shrine Mont, I’ve had the opportunity to serve and support Virginia’s bishops: Bishops Hall, Lee, Atkinson, Matthews, Jones, Gray, Johnston, Gulick and Goff. In every role on the diocesan staff, from first-year camp counselor to bishop’s clerk (not driver), to deployment officer, to director of St. George’s camp, and to secretary and chief of staff, it has been a wonderful, consuming and at times heartbreaking challenge. I’ve had the privilege of walking this path with immensely talented colleagues and friends. I thank them and I thank my family particularly Mitzi, Bacherel and Radcliffe. There they are.

As it says in Morning Prayer, which I believe is a perfectly appropriate and not often used enough service on Sunday mornings, God promised us through his well-beloved Son that where two or three of us are gathered together He will be in the midst of us. I have seen that promise fulfilled over and over again. I have been given many gifts, including an astonishing canon of stories, many of which shall never be told. It has been more than one could hope for. For that, I cannot thank you enough.

Thank you, Bishop.

Council gave a standing ovation to Mr. Burt.

Report on the Committee on Constitution and Canons

The president called on Mr. J.P. Causey of St. John’s, West Point, and chair for the report of the Committee on Constitution and Canons. Mr. Causey addressed Council:

Bishop Johnston, bishops, members of Council: The Committee on Constitution and Canons had limited work to do, but they worked diligently and I would like to recognize them and thank them for their work. If they would stand: the Rev. Alexander MacPhail, the Rev. Vinnie Lainson, Mr. David Penrod, the Rev. Bo Millner, Mr. Brian Carr, the Hon. Jane Delbridge, Mr. Alex Slaughter, Rich Meyer and the Rev. Sven VanBaars. Thank you for your help.

The one matter before the committee is C-1, which was in the supplementary batch of materials that you should have printed off before you came here. It is a proposed amendment to Article III, Section 1(e) of the Constitution. On behalf of the committee, I move adoption of C-1 with a recommendation of approval from the committee and ask leave to speak for it.

In order to amend the Constitution, the same proposed amendment needs to be adopted in identical form at two consecutive councils. C-1 was adopted as C-4 at Council last year so it is before Council this year on second reading. If it is adopted it will become effective at the end of Council. If it is amended, it will start over again as a first reading.

The effect of C-1 is to increase the number of collegiate delegates from two to five lay persons. That is the only effect. What you are voting on here does not have any effect on the number of youth delegates we have, which will remain as 15.
The president invited questions and clarifications. There being none, the president called the question without objection. Council voted to adopt C-1.

The committee was discharged.

Presentation of Canon John W. Davis Award

The president called on the Rev. Christopher Agnew to make a presentation on behalf of the National Association of Preservationists and Archivists to Julia Randle. Mr. Agnew addressed Council:

I rise as president of the National Episcopal Historians and Archivists. The highest award of that group is called the Canon John W. Davis Award. It is granted this year to Julia Randle of the Diocese of Virginia in recognition of distinguished service in the ministries of ecclesiastical history and archives in the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia, the Virginia Theological Seminary and the church at large.

Report of the Executive Board
The president called on Dr. Craig Anderson of Holy Comforter, Richmond, and vice president of the Executive Board, for the report of the Executive Board. Dr. Anderson addressed Council:

Good Morning. Bishops Johnston, Goff, Gulick. And Bishop Jones, good to see you again. Delegates to Council and guests: I am Craig Anderson, a member of Holy Comforter, Richmond, in Region X. It has been my privilege to serve the past few years as a member of the Executive Board and as vice president for the past year.

Executive Board, as you may know, is comprised of one elected member from 15 regional councils and the bishops of the Diocese. Each elected member serves a three-year term. Each region alternately elects a member from the laity and from the clergy. One-third of the board will end their service at the close of this Council. The ECW president has, by custom, a seat and voice at the meetings of the board. Bishop Johnston serves as president of the board and a lay member serves as vice president.

At this time on behalf of the board, I would like to recognize the graduating members of the current Executive Board, the class of 2013, and thank them for their service to the Diocese. Please stand:
Dr. Barbara Allison Bryan
Dr. George Spagna, Jr.
The Rev. Lin Hutton

It has been a great honor to serve with you, to work with you, to pray with you and, George, to car-pool with you. In addition to your membership on the Executive Board, you have all served the Diocese in numerous other capacities. Your love for the church and the Diocese has been a source of great inspiration for me and I trust for untold others. Thank you.

If you will, if the continuing members of the Executive Board and the class of 2016 if you will please stand and be recognized as well. I’m not going to call you up by name just for the sake of time:
Current members of the Executive Board. Thank you.

The Executive Board is the governing body of the Diocese between sessions of Council and the canonical charge. With the canonical charge we recommend diocesan programs and the proposed funding of such programs. To this end, the board has two standing working groups: Working Group on Program and a Working Group on Budget. Dr. Barbara Allison Bryant led the program group this year, while the Rev. Lin Hutton led the budget group. The board thanks Barbara and Lynn for their able leadership and for their faithful service to the board and the Diocese.

On behalf of the board, I would like to recognize the extraordinary diocesan staff. Executive Board could not do its work without your able and patient support. In so many ways, you make the work of the board possible. More so your hard work, good humor and love of church are the connective tissue that keeps this Diocese alive and thriving from Council to Council and most certainly during Council. The few doing the work of the many. The board thanks you for your assistance and for your extraordinary professionalism.
The board met six times since last Council. Two of those meetings, those in April and November, were held jointly with the regional presidents. The board started its annual pilgrimage at Little Fork Church, Rixeyville. Subsequent meetings were held at St. John’s, Tappahannock; The Falls Church, Falls Church; St. Peter’s, Arlington; Trinity, Washington, and finally we concluded our journey together at Mayo House, Richmond. The board would like to thank all the host parishes and the staff at Mayo House for their wonderful hospitality.

These are a few general highlights of the year: In June, the significant portion of the litigation was resolved with much of the property and churches returned to the Diocese with continuing congregations returning home. With the new Dayspring initiative being rolled out, we met as a board at The Falls Church Episcopal, a very meaningful, symbolically important, long-anticipated experience. The April election and July consecration of our colleague, Susan Goff, as our new bishop suffragan was a true highlight and a cause for great celebration.

Finally, I want to note the board played an essential role in the submitted resolutions before this year’s Council, one of which was very much a grassroots effort from and by the board.

With regard to working groups, the Working Group on Budget addressed a range of issues throughout the year, including revisions on clergy housing benefits, the refinancing of existing debt related to reclaimed properties, the sale of non-strategic properties to help defray diocesan debt and recommendations for the Bishop’s minority scholarships. One of the major projects the budget group worked on this past year was the development of guidelines for medical parity between clergy and full-time lay employees as directed by General Convention. In addition, the budget group developed a recommended model for medical parity for parishes and the diocesan staff following an online survey of church employees throughout the Diocese.

Finally, the work of the budget group culminates with the presentation of the budget at Council. Members of the Budget Working Group are by custom also appointed to the Budget Committee of Council. The Executive Board throughout the coming year will monitor the 2013 budget adopted by this 218th Council.

The Working Group on Program, among other responsibilities, reviews and recommends appointments to various committees of the Diocese. The program group has continued to work closely with Paris Ball and Emily Cherry this year, as well as other members of the diocesan staff to evaluate the reorganization of the commission/committee structure of the Diocese. The program group also reviews recommendations for Mustard Seed Grants and Human Need Grants made by the Commissions on Human Need, Congregational Development, and Youth and World Mission. For the past year, the program group has worked hard to clarify and tighten and to improve the application process for Mustard Seed Grants and Human Need Grants.

One of the most joyful duties of the Executive Board is to hear the petition for church status submitted by churches that believe they are ready to be granted church status. In September, it was our great pleasure to meet with a jubilant delegation from St. Peter’s-in-the-Woods, Fairfax Station, led by the Rev. Dede Duncan-Probe. At the conclusion of the delegation’s presentation, Executive Board was pleased to unanimously endorse St. Peter’s-in-the-Woods petition for church status.

On a personal level, my involvement with the board has been an enlightening education for me as a lay person. Over the past three years, I have learned a great deal about the mechanizations of the Diocese. It has also allowed me to be involved in several key issues that I care a great deal about. Additionally, I have thoroughly enjoyed visiting and learning about the many and varied parishes of the Diocese, an important witness to the diverse manifestations of the incarnate Christ among us.
I believe we are all called to be engaged on a parish level and a diocesan level and beyond. To that end, the members of the Executive Board make a significant commitment to assume the responsibility for the business of the Diocese between Councils. Accordingly, they are called to arrange for days off to work around professional obligations, and to regularly test their GPS and map reading skills as they travel about God’s creation. This in many ways is no small sacrifice by the members of the board. Nonetheless, they make it willingly.

The board has brought me in contact with an untold number of remarkable people, both clergy and laity, people of great commitment and great faith. In turn, as I trust is true for the other members of the board, I will take away a deep appreciation for the work of the Diocese, a great fondness and respect for the other members of the board, for our diocesan staff and for our bishops.

In closing, on behalf of the board, I want to thank Bishop Johnston, Bishop Goff and Bishop Gulick for your outstanding leadership. We are blessed to have you individually and more so as a team. Your deep faith, inclusive collegiality, great warmth, exceptional wisdom and notable humility are a great blessing to our Diocese. Thank you.

Announcements

The president thanked the Rev. Phoebe Roaf for her leadership, and announced that with her support the C-3 Task Force would not report at Council this year but would report at the next Annual Council.

The president called on Mr. Henry Burt for more announcements.

Mr. Burt noted that the C-3 questionnaires, once filled out, were to be collected at the back of the room or dropped off at the coat room. Mr. Burt reminded churches who brought a banner to collect it and take it home, as well as to fill out the Shrine Mont information sheets available on the tables. The incentive for filling out the sheets was a raffle for $500 credit to camp for first prize and two free nights to Shrine Mont for second prize.

Mr. Burt also noted that Sunday, March 10, and Monday, March 11, John Dominic Crossan was doing a seminar on the last week of Jesus. Mr. Burt also announced that children were invited to participate in a group dance at the Repentance and Reconciliation event on February 16 at St. George's, Fredericksburg.

Morning Break

The president announced a 20-minute break, with Council reconvening at 10:30 a.m.

Report of the Episcopal Church Women

The president called on Ms. Pat Hardy, president of the ECW. Ms. Hardy addressed Council:

Henry told me to make this sweet and short so I reduced it from 88 pages to 44. Just kidding. Bishop Shannon, Bishop Goff, Bishop Gulick, special guests, clergy and delegates.

My first year as ECW president has been a joyous continuum of my journey with Christ. I thank you for that honor. As you can see in my written report and looking around the room, our Episcopal Church Women’s priorities are not the kitchen committee. Due to the time restraints, I hereby am waving my verbal report. The real reason is because I wore my suit yesterday and I didn’t have another one, and Henry Burt was the only one that offered to loan me one. Anyway, however, there are two presentations that I would like to make.

In 2008, the ECW altar guild received donations from every region in the Diocese to provide a sacristy in a box to the four continuing congregations. Altar Guild Chair Sharon Nachman had a surplus of funds so I’m asking Sharon to come forward and present the checks – Sharon is somewhere – to present the checks representing the balance of that fund to the Dayspring congregations. If a representative from each church will come forward to accept the gift. The churches are Church of the Epiphany, Oak Hill, Herndon; The Falls Church, Falls Church; St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge; St. Stephen’s, Heathville.

I cannot close without mentioning Henry Burt. Henry has served the Diocese for quite some years in different capacities, full of energy and a great sense of humor. He has done an awesome job and seen us through many changes, new bishops, legal issues, getting to know and put up with a new ECW president. The ECW has been blessed and has had his support and we will sorely miss him.

If I look tired today, it’s because my friend Burt has kept me up every night for the last week. He is so upset about Henry leaving. Henry and little Burt became best buddies at General Convention. They bonded immediately and got along fine except for the ride home, when Henry threatened to throw him off a West Virginia mountainside, but Burt forgave him.

He’s a perfect Episcopalian because he listens well, never speaks out of turn and never complains about new liturgies. Henry, little Burt wants you to adopt him. So he came bearing a gift. Don’t turn it down before you see it. Awesome!

In closing, I would like to say that the ECW has been extremely blessed by the support of all of our bishops and the diocesan staff and the clergy throughout the Diocese. I wish to give you a huge thank-you from all the women of the church.

The president thanked Ms. Hardy.

Report of the Committee on Church Status

The president called on the Rev. Herbert Jones, vicar of Church of Our Saviour, Montpelier, and chair for the report of the Committee on Church Status. Mr. Jones addressed Council:

Bishop Johnston, Bishops Gulick and Goff, Mr. Secretary, little Burt, members of Council.

The Committee on Church Status has met. They have reviewed the petition of St. Peter’s-in-the-Woods for full parish status and have held an open meeting on the matter. The committee unanimously, enthusiastically and joyfully endorses the petition and asks Council to do the same.

The president called for a vote. All voted in favor.

Council gave a standing ovation as St. Peter’s-in-the-Woods members processed into the Council Chapel. All sang “O Zion, haste.”

The Rev. Dee Duncan-Probe addressed Council:

It’s not often that I’m speechless. But when you’re called to talk…I want you to know that it is just an honor and a privilege to be standing in front of you with this group of people. There are people in this group who have been coming for a short time and there are people, like the man to my left, who have been coming since 24 years ago. I’m very honored. I would like our outgoing senior warden to say a few words.

Mr. Bob Hobart addressed Council:

I would just like to announce that the vestry of St. Peter’s-in-the-Woods have elected the Rev. Dee Duncan-Probe as our rector.

Council gave applause.
The Rev. Duncan-Probe addressed Council:
I think if you all want to sit and that way if you want to see the folks in the front, because I want to make sure you see everyone. I wanted you to see the people of St. Peter’s-in-the-Woods. Much has been said about them, but I want to say this is the most faithful, brave, honest, caring group of people who are absolutely dedicated to living out the Gospel of Jesus Christ, in fact it’s our mission statement, and are very much strong supporters and look forward to being a part of the Diocese as adult members. They are ready and willing and excited about taking part. It is my privilege to accept their call as rector and to say with great joy, I look forward to many years of continued service and mutual joy of ministry. It’s just remarkable. Thank you very much.

I would like to point out a few people. I’d like for you to see the staff. Kristy Kowalski. Kristy actually is the one who makes the congregation work. She’s the parish administrator. The Rev. Kathy Guin, of course. One of the great blessings in my ministry has been the opportunity to work with Kathy and to partner with her in ministry. She has extraordinary gifts and compassion and she has been an integral part of everything that’s happened at St. Peter’s-in-the-Woods and it’s just been a joy to have you on the staff. Thank you.

Stephen Sollars. Steven is our new organist and music director. Since he joined our staff three or four months ago, our choir has tripled and he has a great gift for ministry and I’m glad to have you on our staff. Thank you.

Thank you for all the support that you have offered this congregation and me over the years. It is a joy to be a part of this Diocese, and I look forward to the way in which God continues to guide and lead us in the years to come. Thank you very much.

Report of the Committee on Resolutions
The president called on the Rev. Jenks Hobson of Trinity, Washington, and chair for the report of the Committee on Resolutions. Mr. Hobson addressed Council:

Bishop, sir, if I might first do a bit of personal business. Henry, what does the “W” stand for?

Mr. Burt instructed Mr. Hobson to show him the money. Mr. Hobson put the money in the box. Mr. Burt informed him that the D.W. stands for Dwight Williams. Mr. Hobson continued:

As a lifelong inherent of the United Thank Offering, it is so nice to have fun raising money.

We begin the report of the Committee on Resolutions for the 218th Council. I would like to make a comment to begin with. We end up in discussions of what resolutions are about often. That’s the culture of this Diocese, as I have experienced it across my however many years here. I think this is my 38th council, not always on the Resolutions Committee. The important part to me is our conversation, our discussion. Our resolutions: We modify them, we work with them. Some people are offended when their resolutions are modified. When we submit resolutions, they then belong to you all. The Resolutions Committee is a means for hearing what you have to say about that and trying to feed it back to you so that we can continue the discussion.

We have six resolutions today. I would like to place before you first R-1: 50 Years at Shrine Mont, the study for feasibility for a capital funds drive. These are original materials as submitted back before the... first part of Council. The Committee on Resolutions recommends adoption of R-1 as received.

The president placed R-1 before Council for consideration, as it needed no second coming from a committee. There being no discussion, the president called the question. Council voted to approve the resolution. Mr. Hobson addressed Council:

I place before you R-2 as revised by the Resolutions Committee and received in your supplemental materials. The committee recommends adoption as revised.

The president asked for discussion. The president recognized the Rev. Tuck Bowerfind of St. Luke’s, Wellington, who addressed Council:

I stand in support of the resolution and I want to take an opportunity through this resolution to recognize the whole Mission Latina, especially Natividad Menjinar -- to recognize the great importance of this mission to our Diocese, not just Natividad’s, but the need we have to reach out and build disciples, not just members among new constituencies within the bounds of this Diocese, and the important work that while it’s been laid aside for a while, through our regions and other places, especially through Dayspring, we are attempting to revive and recommit and re-invest in this mission, which I hope is part of the way forward for some of the other issues we have been discussing in this Council. I will support this resolution.

The president called for further discussion. There being no further discussion, the president called the question. Council voted to approve the resolution. Mr. Hobson addressed Council:

This brings us to R-3, response to gun violence. You have received the revised version in your supplemental materials, revised after the hearing at Glen Allen. The committee recommends approval of R-3 as revised.

The president asked for discussion and recognized the Rev. Paul Rowles of St. Peter’s, New Kent. Mr. Rowles addressed Council:

In the first resolve, I believe it is, you’re asking for...that we have a ban on the private ownership of military-style, semi-automatic weapons. I understand the reference to the sale of but the...are you encouraging then that law-enforcement authorities come to my house and remove them? Because that’s the only way you are going to ban my ownership of them.

Mr. Hobson explained that the resolution could be modified or amended, but debate was currently on the text as presented before Council.

The president asked if there was an amendment. Mr. Rowles moved that that they strike the ban as there has to be a different way to word that. He understands what is wanted but feels it is encouraging authorities to come into people’s houses and search them for weapons.

Mr. Hobson explained that no language was included regarding a search for weapons.

Mr. Rowles proposed a substitute: “a moratorium on the sale of,” instead of “the ban of private ownership of.”

Mr. Hobson said that would be an appropriate amendment

The president reminded Mr. Rowles that amendments must be submitted in writing.
Mr. Ron Field, of All Saints-Sharon Chapel, Alexandria, addressed Council:
May I suggest that if there is going to be, and I would be happy to work with the gentleman to draft an amendment to this, but a moratorium will hardly get it done. That is just a temporary action. If you want to keep those kinds of weapons out of the hands of private individuals, you have to ban the sale. Ban the sale, and if the gentleman would agree, I’d be happy to work with him and draft an amendment to his.

The president encouraged the two men to work together to draft something that would be agreeable.

The president invited further discussion. The president recognized the Rev. Tom Holliday, retired priest. Mr. Holliday addressed Council:
I’m probably one of the most anti-gun people there is, but the conversation isn’t going to move forward if those who are anti-gun don’t show some respect for those who own guns in a responsible way. It seems to me that you could simply substitute the words “future sale of” instead of “ban ownership of” and it would be easy to write that in. I make that a motion. To ban future sale of military-style, semi-automatic assault weapons.

The president asked for a second. The amendment was seconded. The president recognized Mr. Martin Lewis of Aquia, Stafford. Mr. Lewis addressed Council:
I think we need to then ensure that the fourth resolve match in similar language, because it has a similar clause in it. I’m not saying what the wording should be. Perhaps it should mimic identically but I’m not sure. The same language is there banning sale, use and private ownership. I make a motion that the fourth resolve have the same modification that includes the ban on future sale but not the private ownership.

The president stated that that the motion was out of order as a current amendment was being considered. The president recognized the Rev. Jim Cirillo of Grace, Casanova. Mr. Cirillo addressed Council:
Simple grammatical. There are two of’s on the future sale “of of military”…Thank you.

The president recognized the Rev. Tuck Bowerfind of St. Luke’s, Wellington, who addressed Council:
I don’t have this in writing, but it seems to me that an effective thing to do would be for the Diocese fund to divest itself of Smith and Wesson shares or whatever, and that we might effectively spend some of our time on what we could actually do ourselves as a diocese on this.

The president reminded Council that they are working on the current amendment and need to stay germane to the topic under consideration.

The president called the question on the amendment. The president called a vote on closing debate on the amendment. Council voted to close debate. The president called a vote on the amendment as projected and submitted. In the opinion of the chair, the amendment passed.

The president asked for discussion on the amended resolution R-3. The president recognized Mr. Martin Lewis of Aquia, Stafford, who addressed Council:
I resubmit that we modify the fourth resolve to match the third resolve, exclude the clause about private ownership of the military-style, semi-automatic assault weapons and re-insert ban on future sale thereof.

The president asked for clarification.

Mr. Lewis stated that his motion was to strike the clause, “use and private ownership of,” and re-insert with “the future sale of.”
The president asked for discussion on the amendment. The president called the question.

The president recognized Ms. Linda Trochim of St. John’s, Arlington, who addressed Council: I’m hearing both sides’ understanding that we want to ban the future sale, understanding that we don’t want people coming into other people’s homes and taking away their guns. I don’t understand why we are eliminating “use.” I think it should ban the sale and use of these weapons, even if you want to have it in your gun closet at home.

The president recognized Mr. Greg King of St. Paul’s, Falls Church, who addressed Council: The previously amended resolve is focused on basically our views on what the government can and should be doing, whereas this one is about the policy of the church. And if the goal of the church is that private individuals should not own these weapons, then that should be the goal and it shouldn’t be limited by what the government can and can’t do.

The president recognized Mr. John Schwartz, president of Region V and member of St. Anne’s, Reston, who addressed Council: I actually would just like to agree with what was said. I supported the first amendment. I would be against this. I don’t see a reason why the church should not take a stand on the use or ownership.

The president recognized Ms. Mary Vidaver of Meade Memorial, White Post, who addressed Council: I think it is appropriate under the rules of debate to make an amendment to the amendment. So, in response to what the lady here said, I would like to amend the amendment on the table to re-instate the word “use” and delete the word “future.”

The proposed amendment was seconded.

The president recognized Mr. Jean Reynolds of St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge, who addressed Council: I would like to see whatever we do with these amendment that we make a strong statement to the public, a clear statement on our position with regard to gun control. My family, other members of my family, are members of the NRA. I am not. I have been a very strong supporter of gun control for 30 years. I think this is an opportunity for the Diocese of Virginia to make a strong stand for the kinds of abuse that these military-style weapons create.

Nobody wants to go into anybody’s home and take their gun, pry their guns from their cold, dead hands or anything like that. They simply want to make an intelligent response to the horrific crimes being committed around the country. I would ask that we wouldn’t be labored trying to create modifications to what I consider to be pretty strong statements from the Episcopal Church regarding these horrific crimes. I’m not here to modify what’s been said but I would just like in the overall sense of things to come out with a really strong statement.

The president reminded Council that there is a two-minute limit for speaking from the microphones.

The president recognized Ms. June Huber of Grace, Alexandria, who addressed Council: On the initial comment, that if we were to say that the ownership of guns should be banned that it would give police the right to go into people’s homes and seize them, that is incorrect. It could in fact give them the right to seize an illegal item if they are in the home with the right warrant for another purpose. But there are a number of weapons, there are mind-altering substances and other things that it is illegal to privately possess, but that doesn’t mean that the police have the right to come in and seize them.

The president recognized Dr. Barbara Allison-Bryan of Abingdon Church, White Marsh, who addressed Council: I am speaking against the amendment to the amendment and the amendment. If we delete private ownership of military-style, automatic weapons, we are saying that our military and our police cannot own these weapons. We need to keep private ownership in the fourth resolve.

The president called for further discussion. There being none, he called the question. Council voted against the amendment to the amendment.

The president called for further discussion on the original amendment.

The president recognized the Rev. Jay Morris of Aquia, Stafford, who addressed Council:

As much as Council might wish to respond appropriately to recent tragedies and to all the issues involved, we might wish to proceed carefully rather than hastily about any mention of future sales of these weapons.

If we attempt to ban future sales, then we might actually be prohibiting future government attempts for buy-backs of weapons that are currently being held. If we attempt to ban the sale from private owners who have these weapons now, we might actually be blocking efforts that such owners might want to use to sell their weapons to government or to other agencies that might retrieve them for safekeeping.

I commend that Council might wish to respond, but we might wish to respond more carefully than hastily in knee-jerk fashion that might undo the ultimate efforts.

The president recognized the Rev. Tom Holliday, retired priest, who addressed Council:

I think a point was made very validly earlier that probably needs more thought. First of all, whatever we pass here isn’t going to ban anything. It’s simply going to establish – this particular resolve – is simply about the policy of the Episcopal Church. What we are saying is our policy. It has nothing to do with the federal government or what they will do.

So, I think we should pay more attention to the question that was raised earlier. This is a very different resolve than the previous resolve, because this has to do with the policy of the Episcopal Church. The previous resolve had to do with our recommendation, what our stance was about, what the law should be.

I think we should note that there is a difference between what our stand about what the law should be, because if we want to work within the context of our whole society, we need to have some respect for those who disagree with us.

With regard to the policies of the Episcopal Church, we can have a stand that says people shouldn’t own assault weapons and it doesn’t prevent anyone from owning assault weapons. It just says that’s the policy the Episcopal Church encourages.

The president recognized Mr. Jean Reynolds of St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge, who addressed Council:

As far as people who own military-style assault weapons and they might want to sell them…My concern is that is what happens at gun shows. People unload a weapon. It would be better if it were disassembled and buried. But they do sell them. Those guns sales…there are no background checks or anything. That’s a concern of mine.

I second what this other person said that I want to have a very strong statement from this Council, that we send this to the presiding bishop. I am concerned about the fear of people coming and taking away our guns. I understand about hunting, but I do not understand why there is a need to hold a weapon privately, a weapon with that many shots.

The president called the question on ending the debate. Council voted to end the debate.
The president called the question on the amendment. Council voted against the amendment and returned it back to its original form with one amendment. The president called the question on the resolution, R-3, as amended. Council voted to close debate on the resolution. The president called the question on R-3. Voice vote was too close to call. Voting cards were used. Council adopted resolution R-3 as amended.

Mr. Hobson addressed Council:
That brings us to R-4, action to reduce gun violence, which was submitted and discussed at Glen Allen and revised by the Resolutions Committee. It is presented in your supplementary materials as revised. It was discussed again yesterday. It was revised again by the Resolutions Committee last night and is on your table this morning. The committee recommends adoption of R-4 revised as it is in front of you on the screen.

The president asked for discussion and recognized the Rev. Michael Cadaret of Grace and Holy Trinity, Richmond, who addressed Council:
I rise to speak against this resolution and frankly my remarks would apply to R-3 as well. First, I have to say that I have great respect and affection for the crafters of the original resolution. We have a long heritage as an activist church and proudly so. However, with this resolution and R-3, we are pursuing an activism against hardware rather than seeking activism to change human hearts.

I suggest that as the Church we are called to use our passion and creativity to contend with how sin afflicts souls. I suggest that we are called to confront fear, prejudice and enmity with Christ’s love. I suggest that we are called to address poverty, alienation and loneliness with generosity, hospitality and kindness. I suggest that in the face of horrifying violence we are called to this activism, rather than activism aimed at tools that are legally owned and safely and responsibly handled by millions of Americans and thousands of our parishioners in this Diocese. Thank you.

The president recognized the Rev. Stuart Schadt of Trinity, Manassas, who addressed Council:
I speak for the resolution but I want to amend it. I move for the striking of the second resolve -the whole paragraph that includes the oath. Number two is in the middle and includes the oath.

The motion was seconded. The president invited debate. Mr. Schadt addressed Council:
I think we ask people to take a baptismal covenant or baptismal oath. We don’t ask them to take oaths on every other position that the Church might hold of value. To me it implies that someone who won’t take the oath is not loyal to the body and I’m troubled by that.

The president recognized Ms. Linda Trochim of St. John’s, Arlington, who addressed Council:
It only says “encourages.” It doesn’t say that you have to take this oath to be an Episcopalian.

The president recognized the Rev. Lauren Stanley, missionary, who addressed Council:
Our speaker earlier today told us that we have to be bold and that we have to lead. It’s time for us to do this. This is not a requirement. This is an encouragement. If we don’t stand up against the violence, against the awful news that another 750 people have been killed in this country by handguns and assault weapons since December 14. Seven hundred and fifty people have died in gun violence. It’s time for us to be bold. We’re supposed to be the leaders. I urge that we do not go with this amendment, that we vote against this amendment and that we lead our people.

The president recognized Mr. John Schwartz of St. Anne’s, Reston, who addressed Council:
I would oppose the amendment. I’m one of the original drafters of R-4. One of the purposes of it was to provide us with a three-pronged call to action to respond to the gun violence here and I feel that all three sections on different levels call for a different kind of action in the public’s fear.
The first one calls for action from our legislators but then the second one calls for a level of personal commitment to action and to achieve action in the world. The third one asks for us to take action within our respective church communities. That calls for communal action.

I would point out this is a pledge. It is not an oath. It is a pledge that was created by the Episcopal Public Policy Network. It is on their website. We have copies out on the table that you can sign and it’s to get people involved. The people who sign will be contacted to pursue further actions in contacting their congress people. All that is said is that they are encouraged to sign the pledge. It is not intended to replace or in any way supplement the baptismal oath or anything like that. It is simply a way for us to personally commit to getting involved in this issue.

The president recognized Mr. Greg Reynolds of St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge, who addressed Council: I oppose these amendments because I believe they water down these resolutions and I believe I got from the table the fellow was referring to 6,000 youth…teenagers on down get killed with guns every year. I want to stop that.

The question was called to close debate. Council voted to close debate.

Council voted to not pass the amendment.

The president recognized the Rev. Jim Papile of St. Anne’s, Reston, who addressed Council: I want to speak to this resolution in a positive way. I’m very much for it, being one of those responsible for putting it before Council. One of the things that I want to make clear is there is nothing in this resolution...nothing that talks about those who legally and responsibly own guns, either members of our Council, members of our Diocese. This is about those who irresponsibly and illegally obtain and use firearms. To confuse those two is common. It happens nationally. It is a problem. We are not confusing, I say again, those who responsibly own and use guns for hunting or for sport in a responsible and in a careful way. We are talking about guns that are used to kill other people.

The president recognized the Rev. Tom Holliday, retired priest, who addressed Council: My concern is that we pass a resolution that will strengthen our gun laws preventing people from getting guns that kill people. I don’t really care about what this Council passes nearly as much as I care about what is heard in our nation and giving an argument to people who are opposed to strengthening gun laws.

So, we need to make this resolution conform to the amendment that we just passed because, in fact, when you say a clear ban on all private ownership, that does ban private ownership. If it were passed, it would ban private ownership and that argument is one that the NRA would use to say, “They want to come in our home, search our homes and take away our guns.” That will never happen.

So, if we want to get something stronger passed, it is counterproductive to pass a resolution that says “ban private ownership.” So we’ve already passed an amendment to correct that in number three, so I’m suggesting we simply substitute the words in one under the first resolve to say, “A clear ban on all future sale of military-style, semi-automatic weapons.” I offer that as an amendment.

The motion was seconded. The president asked for discussion. There being none, the question was called to end debate on the amendment. Council voted to end debate on the amendment as it stands. The president called for a vote on the amendment as it stands. Voice vote was closed and cards were used. Council voted in favor of amendment.

The president called for discussion, and recognized Mr. Joe Junod of Christ Church, Spotsylvania, who addressed Council:
On the oath, a little wordsmithing amendment to strike “in 2013.” Put a period after “things.” As it’s written, it’s suggesting that at the end of this year I don’t need to worry about it.

The motion was seconded. The president asked for discussion. The question was called to end debate on the amendment. Discussion on the amendment as proposed was ended.

Council voted on the amendment to strike “in 2013.” Council voted in favor.

The president recognized the Rev. Sue Eaves of St. Thomas’, Richmond, who addressed Council: It would be wonderful, in my opinion, if we passed a resolve like this and the entire country was so impressed that they responded to it. What we are really doing here is to focus on what it means to be a person who has been baptized and signed up for the baptismal covenant and we are trying to answer the question, “What does that mean as a Christian when I am confronted with the degree of violence that our society promotes?”

The second thing we are asking is, “How do I as an individual relate to a societal problem?” As a Christian, I hope I am concerned about the common good and not just about my ownership or rights. There are times for common good we need perhaps to be willing to relinquish some of those things that are technically our rights but which, for one reason or another, are causing us to have terrible destruction within our society.

Personally I can say that, as I’ve watched the violence increase over the last 30 years or so that I’ve been here, I am astonished that as Christians we find it very, very hard to say that guns kill people because this isn’t just about machinery. It’s about the fact that people use these tools to destroy, and I believe that Jesus cares about that. And I think we should too.

The president recognized the Rev. Leslie Hague of St. Michael’s, Arlington, who addressed Council: In the first resolve, it includes the loss of 28 of God’s children in Newtown, but in the second clause in the Episcopal Public Policy Pledge it says 26 people who lost their lives because of the violence at Sandy Hook Elementary School. I would feel it appropriate to recognize in the pledge that 28 people lost their lives to violence, even the perpetrator.

The amendment was seconded. The president called for discussion on the amendment. The question was called and seconded. Council voted to end debate on the amendment. Council voted on the proposed amendment. The amendment was passed.

The president recognized the Rev. Abbott Bailey of St. Andrew’s, Richmond, who addressed Council: I would like to speak on number three under the resolve – mental health care reform. I just want to say that I’m highly supportive of health care reform in this country, including increased funding and care for our most vulnerable citizens. What concerns me is the implied and actually rather explicit linkage between mental health care and gun violence. I would like to propose an amendment to strike number three related to mental health care reform.

The amendment was seconded. The president called for discussion to strike number three from the resolution.

The president recognized the Rev. Richard Fichter of Christ Church, Gordonsville, who addressed Council: The last bit about the 26 and the 28 went way too fast. It was 28 of God’s children in Newtown, Connecticut, which was correct. But it was actually 27 if you include the shooter at the elementary school. The mother was not at the school.
Proceedings

The president recognized the Rev. Jim Richardson, rector of St. Paul’s, Charlottesville, who addressed Council:
I’m speaking to the amendment that is currently on the floor. As one of those who helped draft this resolution, what we were trying to do in a succinct way was to encapsulate the four points that the dean of the National Cathedral made in a very eloquent sermon about this whole area. We are not trying to write laws. We are advocating laws. These are resolutions. They are not meant as legislators crafting them.

Part of the importance of that sermon and what he laid out was that it is not just about gun control. It is also about mental health care and it’s also about our culture’s glorification of violence. We all felt very strongly that all of this is where the Church needs to be leading. So I would recommend a “no” vote on striking number three.

The president called the question and it was seconded. Council voted against ending debate.

The president recognized Ms. Marta Engdahl of St. Luke’s, Simeon, who addressed Council:
I’d like to commend the Resolutions Committee for including the language in number three. People who work in mental health know that mental health issues are often the underlying problem and, if we care for all of God’s children, with better care and treatment we can look forward to preventing more violence.

The president recognized the Rev. Grace Cangialosi of Grace Church, Stanardsville, who addressed Council:
I would like to speak to number three. I certainly agree with everything in it. My concern is I don’t want to see this subsumed. I think there should be a whole separate resolution for mental health. It does not have just to do with gun violence. That being said, I do think it should be included here. I would speak against the amendment, but I do think we need to address that as a separate but equally important category.

The president recognized the Rev. John Schwartz of St. Anne’s, Reston, who addressed Council:
I would like to speak against the amendment. These four points were based on a speech that Dean Hall of the National Cathedral put out. These points themselves summarize four points that the interfaith community and many leaders of the interfaith community have agreed are an approach to this issue and it included all of these.

It is by the fact that one and two deal with weapons is clear that’s the main priority, but it was also felt that dealing with mental health issues should be a concern and part of a holistic picture, as well as a critical look at our culture’s glorification of violence. I think working together with the entire interfaith community on unified vision of what needs to be done is important. I think it is a mistake to start taking things out, which kind of isolates us.

The question was called and seconded. The president called a vote on ending debate. Council voted to end debate.

Council voted against the amendment. The president called for a vote on the original resolution. Without objection, the president called for a vote on R-4 as amended. This vote was to close debate on the resolution. Council voted for debate to end. Council voted in favor of R-4 as amended.

Mr. Hobson addressed Council: Next we have before us R-5 revised, a resolution for peace in South Sudan placed on your table this morning and in front of you on the screen. One of the concerns that came in the hearings is that it was too generic and needed some meat – something to happen. If you look at the last resolve that has been added with consultation with the Bishop. The Resolutions Committee recommends adoption of R-5 as revised.

The president called for discussion and recognized Mr. Russ Randle of Christ Church, Alexandria, who addressed Council:
We are in the “fear not” business in a dangerous world. To succeed we’ve got to be like Peter after the resurrection showing Jesus’ transforming power. Too often human nature tempts us to be like Peter before the resurrection. The Episcopal Church of Sudan has modeled what the fear-not business looks like when we act like Peter after the resurrection and we could get a lot better with the fear-not business in partnership with them. They tell us we have things to teach them, but they understand on a daily basis the transforming power of the Gospel in a very hard place.

That’s why this partnership matters greatly to our success and the fearless proclamation of Jesus’ resurrection and healing power. R-5 addresses this long partnership, commending the excellent work the ECS has done in mediating among warring factions in South Sudan, and working to relieve refugees from fighting just north of the border in Sudan and helping bring the Gospel, literacy, development and basic health care to the people of both countries. Our encouragement is important to our friends, telling them they are not alone and that we are standing with them.

As a result of the discussions that Jenks mentioned, additional language was added. It asks you to convene the consultation this fall in coordination with ECS and the American Friends of the Episcopal Church of Sudan, whose president is our own Bishop David Jones. We are seeking to equip our parishes better for partnership with dioceses in Sudan. There are more than a half-dozen parishes here who have sent Sudan missions. Many more have helped in advocacy, prayer, relief, and refugee resettlement.

This consultation is intended to bring those parishes together with others interested in entering this mission field to join with Bishop Joseph Garang to explain how to become engaged with this mission. Let’s get serious about the fear-not business. Our ECS friends value us highly.

The president recognized the Rev. Craig Philips of St. Peter’s, Arlington, who addressed Council:
I have a question about a point of order. We have people calling the question from the floor seated at tables who are not at the microphones. It seems to me that it’s appropriate that people wait until there is a time to call the question from a microphone. Otherwise we can get up at any time from any table and call the question in the middle of debate.

The president noted the question of point of order.

The president recognized a member of Emmanuel, Delaplane, who addressed Council:
I do support this amendment but I feel as a matter of conscience that not only are our Christian brothers and sisters in Sudan threatened but also communities in the Middle East, which can actually trace their heritage back to the times of the Apostles are in a time of danger. I don’t ask for a change in this resolution. I think we should continue to focus on the Sudan. But I would ask the members of this Council to remember them as well. Thank you.

The president called the question without objection. Council voted to pass R-5 as revised.

Mr. Hobson addressed Council:
This bring us to R-6, Committee on Congregational Schools. After discussion in the hearing and on the Committee and with some other folks, it was clear to the Resolutions Committee that there is an issue here that needs to be addressed and looked at. The specificity of this resolution may not be the only answer. We recommend it be referred to the Executive Board for study and implementation.

The president asked for discussion.
The president recognized Mr. Greg King of St. Paul’s, Bailey’s Crossroads, who addressed Council:
I was the author of this amendment originally. I’m questioning procedurally what it means to refer this to the Executive Committee, since they aren’t a committee of Council. So does that kind of say that the Council is telling the Executive Committee they want them to consider this?

The president asked the secretary to address the question.

The secretary addressed Council:
The Executive Board is the council between councils. By this action, what is happening is the Annual Council is saying, “Executive Board members, who are elected from the 15 regions, please consider this and other issues that may be before you during your program year,” as they go through their six meetings this year, and then they will report back and this will come back next year for consideration with some kind of recommendation from the Executive Board. The bottom line is it allows the Executive Board to think seriously about it, rather than us all realizing it’s almost noon and we passed something without fully thinking it through. That would be an editorial comment.

The president called the question without objection. Council voted to refer R-6 to the Executive Board.

Mr. Hobson addressed Council: Moving on to the courtesy resolutions. I would like to read one line from each one as a point of honoring. CR-1 is in honor of the Rev. Dr. Prentice Kinser, who entered the church triumphant one year ago today. In the honor of the Rev. Ann B. Davis, retiring after 25 years of devoted ordained service to our Lord and his Church. To Madell Day, a small physical presence and an awesome presence in ministry and personality for many of us. To the Rev. Daniel O. Worthington for serving more than 27 years as rector of Ware Church, Gloucester. One of those short-timers I think. If you don’t know, I’ve been there 39 years.

CR-5, Ambassador Princeton Lyman, for wisdom, courage, vision and acute insight in an effective role in the faith community and promoting an end to apartheid in South Africa and peace and reconciliation in Sudan. In honor of Mr. William Brockenbrough Taylor, one of the 25 people who established St. James’, Mt. Vernon, as a mission in 1958. Mr. Charles Thomas Woods, a member of the Church of the Creator, Mechanicsville, with rich and diverse ministries among that church and the entire Diocese. He died December 26.

CR-8, the Rev. Ronald Okrasinski will retire as rector of St. Mary’s, Colonial Beach, at the end of March.

CR-9, our greetings to the Most Rev. Daniel Sarfo, who was installed as archbishop of the newly formed Province of Ghana on December 16.

CR-10, a resolution to send greetings to the Rt. Rev. Justin Welby, Bishop of Durham, and about to be Archbishop of Canterbury.

And finally CR-11, honoring Henry Dwight William Burt, a valued colleague in ministry of this Diocese who keeps coming back again and again and again and again and I trust will someday again.

The Resolutions Committee places before you these 11 courtesy resolutions. We move forward for adoption.

The Council voted to pass the courtesy resolutions.

Mr. Hobson addressed Council:
That completes the report of the Committee of Resolutions of the 218th Council and we ask to be discharged from our duties.
The president dismissed the Committee on Resolutions.

The president recognized Mr. Russ Randle, who addressed Council:
I move that we add a courtesy resolution thanking Dr. Clif Christopher for his work among us, the text to be drafted by yourself.

The president addressed Council:
That is out of order but the right spirit and I assure you we will take care of that. Thank you.

Report of the Committee on Budget
The president called on the Rev. Lin Hutton, St. Thomas’s, Orange, and chair of the Committee on Budget. Ms. Hutton addressed Council:

Ah, what you have been waiting for. The money. Good morning, or maybe it’s good afternoon. I am Lin Hutton, the rector of St. Thomas’s, Orange, Virginia, which is Region XV. I speak to you this morning as the chair of the Budget Committee of Annual Council.

As chair of the Budget Committee, I am tasked with the presentation of the proposed 2013 operating budget of the Diocese of Virginia as adopted by the Executive Board in December and modified over the past month as we approach this afternoon. The adjustments were based not only on what the budget committee heard through the two open hearings but also in the reality of the expectations of the funding for 2013, as some pledges are still outstanding.

The budget of the Diocese is our statement of how we show our commitment to discipleship here in the Diocese of Virginia. So briefly the core budget process is this: The budget for 2013 was first proposed and adopted at the December meeting of the Executive Board. Although the working group on budget of the Executive Board meets throughout the year, taking action on many financial matters, the budget elements are driven by specific triggers like the diocesan audit, compensation guidelines, and the renewal processes for insurance products.

The Diocese has expressed its desire to continue to adhere to the Virginia Plan of proportionate giving. Adherence to the Virginia Plan, including the timely fulfillment of stated pledges, is central to this budget planning process. The draft budget document with line item and narrative comments was posted on the diocesan website several months in advance of Annual Council. From the point of adoption by the Executive Board, oversight is turned over to the Budget Committee of Annual Council.

I would like briefly for all members, committee members, of the Budget Committee, if you are present here, to stand. It’s a lot of work that they have to put in for everybody else so thank you very much.

Now, at the December Executive Board meeting, the budget document was adopted with a balanced income expenditure of $4,894,157. This was based on the receipt of roughly 40 percent of all pledges, as well as other known income lines and projections of outstanding pledges. At that time, pledges received were up about 1 percent from 2012. The Budget Committee met again in Richmond about two weeks ago for open hearings and then again yesterday at noon and then we held another second open hearing yesterday afternoon. The committee then reconvened to discuss the final details on all available resources and requests for financial support. We made final adjustments last night and now present to you the 2013 budget.

Per the rules of order for Annual Council, only those items spoken to in one of the two open hearings may be brought to the floor of the Council for discussion. Also, if there is a proposal to adjust the budget by a specific dollar amount, the person proposing the change must also say where the offsetting balancing adjustment will come from and that adjustment must come from the same budget category.
While I expect you are familiar with the 2013 budget document as part of your duties as delegates and alternates to Annual Council, I hope that you also availed yourself of the explanatory narrative version of the 2013 annual budget.

At this time, I ask you to please turn to the line item budget document that was included in your Council materials. If you do not have the budget document, please look on your neighbor’s. The income side of the budget is primarily based on parish pledges. As I noted previously, the initial budget was adopted with only, at that time, 73 pledges from our 183 churches. This is clearly a variable when proposing a budget in December, while many of our churches are in fact still conducting their canvases.

The committee then looked to the core principles and priorities, if you will, of the Diocese for guidance. In order to make these priorities move, there must be a strong foundation supporting the Bishop’s stated vision. Now, the sad reality is that this is an extremely lean budget in some cases skeletal. There is no fat and many programs have been reduced to basic subsistence. Every line in the budget that’s currently supported by the budget simply cannot be the priority.

2013 is the third consecutive year of reduced income for the Budget Committee to work with. With the pledge information that Mike Kerr mentioned yesterday, this means that we had a negative differential of $98,000 that we had to cut or bridge in the budget we had originally worked with.

On your tables today, you should have gotten a one-page sheet, front and back, which showed proposed changes to the income and the expenses that were based on some of the changes that we received. Now on that page, you have one page that some of you may be able to see updates to the 2013 budget. It has little boxes on that. We did receive another pledge that just came in today of $9,500 from St. Peter’s, Purcellville, and they pledged $9,000 last year. So thank you very much. They increased their pledge. It does not in fact impact our pledge number because, as I mentioned, we already projected out the outstanding pledges and the expectation that they would still come in, so hopefully you will understand that.

You will also see line items that were spoken to at the open hearings. Those little things like 1B. Those are the things we can address on the floor of Council because they have been previously addressed at the open hearing. I also remind you again that any proposed change from one of those eligible line items must include an offsetting amount from the same budget category.

We now have a proposed balanced budget for 2013 of $4,848,782 in income and expenses. Bishop Shannon, on behalf of the Budget Committee and Executive Board, I present for acceptance the 2013 diocesan budget as a motion from the Budget Committee.

The president asked for discussion.

The president recognized the Rev. Jennings Hobson, chair of the CCM Budget Committee, of Trinity, Washington, who addressed Council:
I do not propose a change, but I must note the fact that of your $45,000 delta you had to work with, 15 percent, a third of that, came from us. A bunch of it came from us. I forgot my numbers. We are one-sixth of the diocesan budget in our support for our missions. Just a note of concern.

The president recognized the Rev. Webster Gibson of Christ Church, Winchester, who addressed Council:
I am serving on the CCM Budget Committee. While not making a recommendation for any changes in the budget, I do encourage regions to consider for yourselves what it is to take on the responsibility of supporting the missions and expansion of the church in our own regions because regions often have…regions I’ve served around the Diocese have at least wondered what we are doing. This is one of those things that’s very specific and, if you can help with monies for that, it does help the congregation’s mission work.

The president recognized Mr. Adam Lees, U Va Canterbury delegate, who addressed Council: This is not any kind of recommendation to change the budget, but just building off of what we’ve heard from our keynote speaker, what we’ve heard from Council. If any of you know what Charity Navigator is – trying to figure out the best charities to give. The way you get the highest ranking is to spend more than two-thirds of what you make on your programs, on whatever you do. Right now the Diocese is at 47.2 percent. That means 52.8 percent of all of the money it raises goes to support the staff, the administrative expenses that you just can’t starting cutting too much.

This is a call for moving forward to really figure out where our priorities are. If we want to have that kind of church that says, “We know what we’re going to do with our money.” Think going forward: How, instead of cutting, to add to this? Because that’s when we’ll start finally getting to the point where we won’t have to decide what to cut but rather where to add. Thanks.

The president recognized a member of Meade Memorial, White Post, who addressed Council: I want to follow up on the comment of the young man in front of me. One of the ways you might consider, in the future, looking at the budget is to allocate the staff budget to the programs where you are working on them. I think that would give a clearer picture of how staff use their time and how valuable it is to the program, while also increasing the program budgets and decreasing the staff budgets as it were. It’s an accounting trick but I do think it does help people to see where the money really is going.

The president called for further discussion. The question was called without objection. Council voted to pass the budget.

Closing Meditation

The president called on Rt. Rev. Susan E. Goff for the closing meditation. Bishop Goff addressed Council:

“You are the body of Christ,” St. Augustine said. “In you and through you the work of the incarnation must go forward. You are to be taken; you are to be blessed, broken, and given; that you may be the means of grace and the vehicles of the Eternal Love. Behold what you are. Become what you receive.”

Like the bread in the Eucharist, like the physical body of Jesus, we have been taken, we have been blessed, we have been broken. All so that we can be given for the sake of the world. The whole point of the taking, blessing and breaking lies in the giving. As Jesus gave himself for the life of the world, he now gives us for the sake of a world in need. The living Christ gives us so that we may be his body in the world today. And not just a body in the sense of a group or organization of people, like a team, or a corporation or the “body politic.” Christ gives us to be his very own literal, physical, flesh- and-bones body.

A story illustrates this. A child woke in the middle of the night, terrified and screaming from a nightmare. Her mother hurried to the room, turned on the light and sat on the bed to comfort the little one. After the tears subsided, the mother said, “You don’t have to be afraid. You are never alone; God is always with you.” “I know God is with me,” the child said with trembling voice. “But when I’m scared, I need someone here who has some skin on.” We are that someone with skin on for the sake of others.

St. Teresa of Avila, a 16th-century Spanish mystic, put it this way:

Cristo no tiene otro cuerpo que el tuyo;
no tiene manos ni pies en la tierra, excepto los tuyos.
Christ has no body now on earth but yours,
no hands but yours, no feet but yours,
Tuyos son los ojos a través de los cuales
El mira a este mundo con compasion.
Yours are the eyes through which Christ’s compassion is to look out to the earth, tuyas son las manos con las que El bendice
a todo el mundo.
yours are the hands by which He is to bless us now.
Christ gives us as his flesh-and-bones body in the world. Christ gives us as the gift of love with skin on, to care for the bodies of others in concrete action.
Let us pray.

A prayer from Cameroon

Lord, I do so much want to be like you.

Like you, I want to feed human beings with love and with bread.

I want to bring hope and faith to the world even if the world crushes me. Amen.

(From A Procession of Prayers, by John Carden)

A prayer from a 7-year-old American child:

Thank you Lord for the bread that makes us the same as you, the same as others.

(From A Procession of Prayers, by John Carden)

Litany of the Disciples of Christ the Servant in India.

Servant Christ,
Help us to follow you
In untiring ministry to town and village,
To heal and restore the broken body of humanity,
To cast out the demonic forces
Of greed, resentment, communal hatred
And self-destructive fears
Help us to follow you on the road to Jerusalem,
To set our faces firmly against friendly suggestions to live
A safe, expedient life;
To embrace boldly the way of self-offering,
The way of life given for other’s gain.
Help us to follow you into the upper room
To share your meal of bread and cup,
To accept our common place in your one body
Broken to create a new humanity
Help us to follow you out of the dark tomb;
To share fully in your resurrection life,
To be renewed daily in your image of love,
To serve daily as your new body
In ministering to the world.
Servant Christ, help us all to follow you.
Behold what you are. Become what you receive – the body of the living Christ. Amen

Closing Remarks
The president addressed Council:

I think by way of my closing remarks, I would like to offer my great thanks to my colleague and fellow bishop, Susan Goff, for the meditations and for the sermon that she offered to us at this Council.

And then simply to remind you that when Moses parted the Red Sea he did so with the words, “Roll Tide.”

Please stand for the blessing. The president delivered the episcopal blessing. Council members joined in singing the hymn, “Go Forth for God.”

The president declared Council adjourned, sine die.

Whereas, Mr. Taylor was one of the 25 people that established Saint James’, Mount Vernon, as a Mission in 1958 and served as Vestry Finance Committee Chair responsible for constructing the original church building in 1960; and

Whereas, Mr. Taylor rallied his parish to support many world-wide outreach programs including the Advent Episcopal Church in the Philippines, the Wesleyan Church in Sierra Leone and the Sainte Rose de Lima school in Haiti; and
Whereas, Mr. Taylor served faithfully on the parish Vestry as Senior Warden many times and as a lifelong Trustee for Saint James’, Mount Vernon; and

“As an Episcopalian committed in baptism to seeking justice and peace and promoting the dignity of every human being, I commit to being part of the solution to the violence in our culture that claimed the lives of 26 people at Sandy Hook Elementary School and that claims the lives of 2000 innocent children through gun crimes each year. I commit to the pursuit of laws that keep guns out of the hands of criminals, prioritize the needs of at-risk children, provide care for mental illness, and address the many ways in which our culture both celebrates and trivializes violence. I commit to holding my lawmakers, my community, and my own household accountable. I commit to accomplishing these things in 2013. I commit to being the change we need”;

Resolved, that the 218th Annual Council of the Diocese of Virginia encourages all members of this Diocese to work within our churches through prayer, preaching, education and advocacy, toward reducing the gun violence that kills so many of God’s children in our nation.

Annual Reports
Committee on Aging

The Committee on Aging began its active year with a display and leading a workshop at Annual Council. We have in past years sponsored an annual Longevity Service and a 50th Wedding Anniversary Celebration. This idea has caught on in various places around the Diocese. Instead of sponsoring these services ourselves we began to network with several regions to co-sponsor an event with them. As a result, in 2013 Region 5 will be hosting a 50th Anniversary Celebration at St. John’s, McLean. We welcome working with other regions to provide these events around the Diocese.

In July we celebrated the life of long time committee member, Madell Day. In addition to serving on the committee, she was a member of the Diocesan Homes Board. Although short in statue, she was big of heart. We miss her wisdom and good humor.

For the second year, in early October, we met with some of the college chaplains over lunch. This afforded us an opportunity to learn about activities on various campuses and become acquainted with others who belong to the Christian Formation Commission. We also explored ways that older adults might assist with our campus ministries and how they might assist the committee.

We joined with the Diocese of Southern Virginia and Southwestern Virginia from October 22-25 at Shrine Mont for the annual Fall Camp. We had over 130 campers. Our keynote speaker was Phillip Gulley, a Quaker Minister. In addition to being the author of the Harmony Series, he has written some theology and numerous books as well. Bishop Hollerith from Southern Virginia served as Chaplain. Ed Kilbourne returned as Folk Theologian. Fall Camp in 2013 will be October 21-24. Phyllis Tickle returns as our keynote speaker. Camp will be more experiential. Our worship will be Emergent.

During the year several members of the committee visited congregations presenting, “Are Your Affairs in Order?” This document can be found on the diocesan web site. We encourage you to use it.

The Committee on Aging is available to members of the Diocese as a resource. Do not hesitate to call upon us.

Anna Julia Cooper Episcopal School

We continue to focus on the same two goals: 1) creating a community of affection and an environment that the kids feel and know is different and that makes real for them the hope of a different way to live; and 2) doing all that we can to help students improve and succeed academically. Following the belief that the best people make all the difference, this year we have brought George Bland on board as our new Principal. The dividends have been apparent from day one. Academically, the addition of a Title I teacher has been a huge asset as she is able to see over half of our kids for additional instruction in reading. We continue to commit to a double dose of Language Arts and math every day. Spanish would be nice. Right now, more English is better. On the overall academic front, I’ve been most impressed by the improved quality of our students’ writing. They’re starting to work hard at it and it shows.

I’m happy to report that our first class of graduates is doing well. Many seem to be doing very well. Academically, athletically and socially, they’re keeping pace, and then some. Most have been back to see us, some on a regular basis. We continue to stay in touch with and support them. They have left the building but have not left the family. What’s most moving is that many of the pioneering group of 17 are enjoying a high school experience that, prior to the emergence of AJCES, would not have been possible.

At 62 students strong we’re not yet an athletic powerhouse, but our fall athletic cross country and football teams deserve a shout out. Some of you may have seen pictures on our website, Facebook (friend us!) or through the e-newsletter. I’ve come to believe more strongly than ever in the value of athletics if they’re done the right way. I don’t think our football team’s front line – Abel, Javon, Kenneth, and Robert – had ever played a single down prior to September. To see the change in them after a few wins was striking. Along the way they learned about teamwork, sweat equity, grit, and sportsmanship. I’m certain, too, that none of our 16 kids in cross country had ever run 2.2 miles before. A few races into the season all of them finished, some at a pretty good pace. Kudos to our teacher-coaches who made it all happen with no small measure of grit themselves.

This summer during a week of professional development, the faculty and staff came up with a theme for the school: P.R.I.D.E. We’re focusing on taking pride in all we do as a ‘pride’ of lions at AJCES. I am Prepared; I show Respect; I model Integrity; I have a Dream; I will Excel. That’s our mantra and we’re sticking with it. If we can continue to make progress in all these areas, we know we can keep hope alive and give our kids a shot at a different kind of future.

Church Pension Fund

Canon 5 requires that at each regular meeting of the Annual Council, there shall be submitted a report concerning the Church Pension Fund, a church operated corporation which provides benefits to clergy who have elected either early retirement, retirement at age 65, or those who must retire at the age of 72, as well as benefits to a surviving spouse or named adult beneficiary, for those who have disability benefits and those children of deceased clergy who are eligible for benefits and have not yet reached the age of 21.

The most current statistical information made available to the Treasurer of the Diocese from the Church Pension Fund reflects that total benefits paid by the Church Pension Fund in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2012 to beneficiaries in all dioceses amounted to $270,441,181. This far exceeds the benefits paid in the prior year of $258,586,963.

For the information of the 218th Annual Council, annual benefits received by recipients within the Diocese of Virginia, based on the Church Pension Fund report dated December 3, 2012, were as follows:

192 Clergy receiving benefits (age 65, early or disability retirement): $6,166,856.17
59 Surviving spouses receiving benefits: $1,473,536.53

Total benefits paid to beneficiaries in the Diocese of Virginia: $7,647,024.80

A subsidiary of the Church Pension Group is the Church Life Insurance Corporation. All active clergy, with Church Pension Fund assessments kept current, or any cleric who has earned at least 25 years of credited service but not yet receiving a pension benefit, are provided with a Group Term Life Insurance policy with a face value of four times assessable compensation up to a maximum of $100,000. The IRS does require that an “imputed value” of any Group Term Life Insurance benefit above $50,000 be included on a Form W-2. This value is provided to the clergy by both the Church Pension Fund and the Treasurer of the Diocese each year.

Likewise, the Church Pension Fund benefits for clergy were expanded several years ago to include short-term disability insurance. This benefit is provided at no cost to the employer or employee and provides up to $1,000.00 per week, for up to 52 weeks, as a subsidy to the church employer. The employer is expected to continue making full compensation payments to the employee. This is only a benefit for clergy. The coverage typically has a 30-day waiting period for coverage to begin, but this period is waived for pregnant clergy mothers upon delivery.

The Church Pension Fund also offers vested retired priests, surviving clergy spouses and retired lay employees a variety of Medicare supplement plans. Based on the credited service of a cleric, the three available plans have a range of costs, but coverage can be obtained at no cost for those with 20 years or more of service.

Through the actions of General Convention, the Church Pension Group, through the Medical Trust subsidiary, is the provider of medical insurance for the Episcopal Church. The Diocese maintains standalone plans for dental insurance and for long-term disability insurance. Current premiums for all insurance products can be found on the diocesan web site and in the current compensation report for the Diocese.

Finally, the Church Pension Group subsidiary Church Insurance Company is the captive property and casualty insurer for the Episcopal Church. The overwhelming majority of Episcopal Church institutions use CIC for the provision of general liability, theft, fire, automobile, Directors and Officers and Umbrella insurance coverage, among others. The CIC policy can also include coverage for flood and earthquake damage at the request of the insured party. The “blanket fidelity bond” is provided through CIC and this covers all persons considered to handle finances at insured churches and institutions, therefore complying with Title I, Canon 6, Section 3 of the General Church Canons and Canon 13, Section 3 of the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese of Virginia.

Clergy, wardens or church treasurers who have questions about the Church Pension Fund may call their offices in New York at 800-223-6602. The Office of the Treasurer is also available to provide assistance and may be reached at 800-346-2373.

Submitted by Mr. Michael J. Kerr, Treasurer and Chief Financial Officer
Church Schools of the Diocese of Virginia

Each of the six Diocesan schools produces a comprehensive report of activity annually. Along with the annual financial statements of the Church Schools Corporation and the six foundations, these reports offer a historical and a qualitative sense of the year, and will join their predecessors in the Church Schools archive.

The following summary is an illustrative, but in no way comprehensive, list of activity. In a community of six schools, 800 employees, almost 4000 students, families and alumni, the schools system is a fully human enterprise with the full array of joys, accomplishments, sad events and lessons learned from experiences good and bad. It is always a temptation to describe an academic year as extraordinary, but in truth each year, while unique, is quite typical in the volume and speed of activity, the rich complexity of human experiences and balancing the deep satisfaction of accomplishment with the recognition of goals as yet unmet.

As academic year 2011-12 began much capital work was visible. Christchurch and St. Catherine’s added to their faculty housing programs. St. Christopher’s new Luck Leadership Center was opened to great celebration and is the hub of campus activity. St. Margaret’s finished construction of a locker room/restroom facility at the athletic campus, and Stuart Hall began the planning for a very significant “Green Space” project to beautify, connect and make useful the outdoor space in the center of the campus. As the year ended we watched the last stage of a renovated and expanded Science building at St. Catherine’s that opened as the 2012-13 school year began.

Leadership transitions are important in any enterprise and are to the Church Schools. Dr. Terrie Scheckelhoff was elected Head of St. Catherine’s School in November and Mrs. Sue Baldwin did a wonderful job as Interim Head of School during 2011-12. Margaret Broad advised her board in January of 2012 that she planned to retire after academic year 2012-13, her 23rd as Head of School. Happily, 2011-12 saw continuity in board leadership and in the key administration leadership positions.

Church Schools continues to weather the difficult economy reasonably well. Five of the six schools finished 2011-12 with operating surpluses. Enrollment at the urban/suburban comprehensive day schools has reached and remained at historical high levels. The schools in small towns or more rural areas, and which have a significant boarding component, face a difficult set of demographic and economic trends, but their efforts have kept them both excellent and viable in a challenging season. A priority for all of the schools, but particularly at the boarding schools, is to identify and exploit the potential in collaboration. The technology that enables schools to share instructional offerings exists. Alignment of calendar and schedule makes possible myriad enrichment, service, summer and co-curricular possibilities.

Church Schools are human communities. In 2011-12 we experienced the predictable handful of difficult personnel matters and a few unpleasant student discipline situations. There were great individual joys in our communities and there was deep sadness when illness, death or other tragedy struck individual students, faculty members, alumni/ae or their families.

The array of service trips and projects continues to increase in number and to grow in participation. It would be difficult to estimate the number of volunteer service hours given annually by young people and adults in our school communities, but that number would be many tens of thousands. Most schools hung athletic championship banners in 2011-12. While the list of colleges and universities that will enroll one or more 2012 Church Schools graduates includes most of the finest institutions in the United States, we are most proud of finding the right college for each student.

During 2011-12 the officers of Church Schools negotiated and contracted with auditors, insurance companies, vendors, banks and retirement fund managers. They represented the Church Schools to the Virginia Council for Private Education, and advocated on behalf of independent schools as well as our schools to the General Assembly. Church Schools was threatened occasionally with legal action and the officers worked with heads and business officers on measures to reduce or prevent the possibility of same. Throughout the year, the CSDV officers and school leaders worked together to exploit the strength and potential of collaboration among the group members without eroding the essential individuality of each.

Academic year 2011-12 was a year of extraordinary accomplishments, challenges, joys, sorrows, wins and losses. Thousands of students and families were served. The schools, students and families were and are served by hundreds of professional faculty and staff supported by many parent volunteers. The Church Schools system is exceedingly well governed through the efforts of hundreds of volunteer governors, trustees and foundation directors.

Those of us to teach and learn in the Church Schools believe that the work is the best and most satisfying work there is. Great work is done with young people. They learn skills, master content, engage mysteries of this life and the next, and become young adults of integrity and good character.

I cannot thank or recognize sufficiently those who serve in and work for these schools. They care about the Church, these schools and the young people and families that are served. Their gifts of time, wisdom, experience, insight and their personal generosity are essential to the enterprise. I am very proud of the work done in our schools. I know the people of the Diocese of Virginia are as well.

Committee on Congregational Missions

The Committee on Congregational Missions (CCM) assists the bishop suffragan in her delegated oversight of the approximately thirty-five mission churches in the Diocese including those designated as Mountain Missions. Its members serve as lay liaisons or as area priests. Each lay liaison works closely with the mission(s) assigned to him or her and provides regular reports to the bishop suffragan and to the other members regarding each mission’s spiritual well-being and financial stability. Area priests serve as resources for the liaisons and the mission churches and may represent the Bishop Suffragan when a Diocesan response is needed.

CCM was pleased to welcome the Rt. Rev. Susan Goff, bishop suffragan to our midst. She quickly become very engaged with the Committee and has brought thoughtful suggestions. She led our retreat at Roslyn earlier in the year.

We meet about seven times each year at mission churches throughout the Diocese. At the meetings, representatives of the host churches report on their successes and their challenges. A highlight of our meetings is the opportunity for CCM members to share a meal with the leadership of the host churches and to visit informally with them.

CCM assists missions in their quest for full parish status. We rejoice with St. Peters-in-the Woods, Fairfax Station, which will become a full parish at Council 2013. We are proud of their good work and were honored to endorse their application.

Our work includes identifying missions that begin to experience difficulties including such issues as a reduction in attendance or income, conflict among the leaders or between the clergy and members of the congregation. The CCM liaison then works with the area priest and bishop to help the congregation address these issues.

Each mission church, with the help of their CCM liaison, is preparing a covenant to identify how they will reach beyond their bounds to become more involved in their community. A longer goal of CCM is to help the mission churches to better understand that they are members of a larger community and at the same time to educate the parish churches to understand the dynamic qualities and engagement in ministry of many of the mission churches. The covenant process may be the vehicle to help with this effort.

Our members are Dr. Paul Ackerman, Ms. Linda Bailey, Ms. Beverly Bivins, Mr. J. David Canoles, Ms. Anne Heldreth, Ms. Elizabeth Kim, Ms. Sandra Kirkpatrick, Mr. Scott Mingledorff, Mr. Robert Moffett, Jr., Ms. Kathie Panfil, Mr. Tomas Saucedo, Dr. Jack Schick, Mr. Richard Shirey, Ms. Linda Strickland and Mr. Courtland Warfield. Our Area Priests are The Rev. Webster Gibson, The Rev. Jennings Hobson III, The Rev. David Keill and The Rev. Tinh Huynh.

The members of CCM are a talented, dedicated group. We are grateful for the opportunity to work on behalf of the Diocese.

Committee on Ecumenical & Interfaith Relations

The Rev. Dr. Christopher M. Agnew serves as Ecumenical Officer and the Rev. Diane Carroll as Associate Ecumenical Officer of the Diocese. The Ecumenical Officer and Associate Ecumenical Officer also serve as co-chairs of the Diocesan Ecumenical and Interfaith Relations Committee (DEIC). In 2012 your Ecumenical Officers and the DEIC have been involved in a number of activities to promote the unity of the one Church for whom our Lord prayed on the eve of his death.

An essential element for all ecumenical relations is the nurture of personal relationships. These relationships must take place between judicatory heads and those who work in the area of ecumenical relations on their behalf. Relationships of this type take time to develop and, once developed, need to be sustained over a period of years. The work of your Ecumenical Officers and of the Diocesan Ecumenical and Interfaith Committee is about developing and sustaining our ecumenical relationships. It also involves our joint witness with other Christians to the Gospel through mission and through the exploration of theology.

In response to the “Call to Common Mission” agreement of Full Communion between the Episcopal Church and the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA), we have continued to seek ways in which we can more fully live into this relationship. The Rev. Dr. Christopher Agnew attended the Annual Assembly of the Virginia Synod of the ELCA. Approximately once a month the Metropolitan Washington Lutheran-Episcopal Joint Coordinating Committee has met. This committee is made up of representation from the Episcopal Dioceses of Washington and Virginia, as well as the Metropolitan Washington Synod of the ELCA. The Rev. Dr. Christopher Agnew and the Rev. Dr. David Harper serve on this committee for the Diocese of Virginia. Bishop Edwin F. Gulick, Jr. and Bishop Mariann Budde of the Diocese of Washington and Bishop Richard Graham of the Metropolitan Washington Synod of the ELCA meet with the Joint Coordinating Committee twice a year.

The Diocese of Virginia belongs to the Virginia LARCUM Covenant. This Covenant has been signed by the bishops of the three Episcopal Dioceses in Virginia, the two Evangelical Lutheran Churches in America synods, the two Roman Catholic Dioceses and the Virginia Conference of the United Methodist Church. This year Bishop Johnston and Bishop Gulick, other bishops of the jurisdictions mentioned, and their ecumenical officers gathered in the Lakeside area of Richmond the day before the annual LARCUM conference. The bishops committed themselves to joint witness in the coming year particularly during Holy Week and on the Feast of St. Nicholas. They and their ecumenical officers are committed to meeting together again in 2013. The theme of the LARCUM conference in 2012 was “Living out the LARCUM Covenant: Vatican II at 50.” The 2013 LARCUM conference will take place in Winchester on December 6 and December 7. The conference is open to all clergy and laity and we urge you to join us.

The National Workshop on Christian Unity and annual meeting of the Episcopal Diocesan Ecumenical and Interfaith Officers took place this year in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma April 16-19. There are numerous seminars and presentations at the Workshop and the Diocese of Virginia sends two members of the committee in order to cover most of the presentations and report back to the committee. One of the highlights of the workshop this year was a plenary on Native American Ministry. The Workshop took place on the anniversary of the Oklahoma City bombing and your ecumenical officers participated in a service at the site of this tragedy.

Dr. Agnew serves as Vice-President of the National Episcopal Ecumenical and Interfaith Officers. The Annual Meeting of the National Episcopal Ecumenical and Interfaith Officers (EDEIO) takes place concurrently with the Workshop. The focus of the meeting this year was on preparing for the upcoming General Convention of the Episcopal Church. In anticipation of the adoption by General Convention of a resolution mandating EDEIO conduct a survey of the interreligious activity of the Episcopal Church, the meeting examined the statement on interreligious relations adopted by General Convention in 2009. General Convention in 2012 did mandate the survey of the interreligious activity of the Episcopal Church, and this will form part of the work of DEIC in the coming year.

The principal ecumenical agencies supported by the Diocese of Virginia are the Interfaith Center for Public Policy and the Virginia Council of Churches. The Center for Public Policy works on behalf of the faith community with the General Assembly.

The Rt. Rev. Edwin F. Gulick, Jr. and the Rev. Dr. Christopher M. Agnew serve on the Coordinating Cabinet of the Virginia Council of Churches, and Dr. Agnew serves on the Steering Committee of VCC as well. In the past the Virginia Council of Churches has had two major program units that work in the areas of Refugee Resettlement and Rural Family Development. Beginning in the summer of 2012 the Council no longer works in the area of Refugee Resettlement.

Other program ministry of the council includes the Campus Ministry Forum and Infant Mortality. The theological work of the council is done through the Commission on Faith and Order, which is chaired by the Rev. Dr. Christopher Agnew. Each year the Faith and Order Commission helps sponsor the Joint Ecumenical Retreat which takes place in the fall at Roslyn.

Members of DEIC welcome the opportunity to speak to each Regional Council at least annually on our current ecumenical commitments and interfaith developments. We also are prepared to speak to individual parishes. If you wish to have a speaker attend one of your meetings, please contact the Rev. Dr. Christopher Agnew or the Rev. Diane Carroll to make the necessary arrangements.

Education for Ministry
Education for Ministry (EfM) is a formation program available to all our parishes by virtue of a contract by the Diocese of Virginia with the School of Theology of the University of the South at Sewanee. EfM is a theological education by extension for laity and includes both individual and group work in weekly seminars under the guidance of trained mentors. The four-year program of study includes the Old Testament, the New Testament, Church History, and Theology, Ethics, & Interfaith Relations. With great anticipation, Sewanee will be introducing new materials in September, 2013. Themed core texts will be used in each of the four years and each year will also have textbooks for reading in the tradition. Groups will also read several common texts. At the end of four years in EfM, the graduate will have a significant theological library for future reference.

In addition to the new texts, there will be more emphasis integrated in the seminar group on formation for ministry. Through individual and group study, shared worship, and the process of theological reflection, participants in an EfM community move toward a greater understanding of the fullness of God’s kingdom and in so doing, discover opportunities for responding to their own personal call to ministry. An EfM seminar group is composed of six to 12 students guided and administered by a trained mentor and perhaps a co-mentor. Mentors may be laity or ordained but must attend a training session sanctioned by Sewanee in order to be accredited as a mentor. Mentor training will be available in the Diocese of Virginia from July 28-30, 2013 at the Roslyn Conference Center. The Diocese sponsors one of the largest mentor training events in the nation. Last July, 65 participants from dioceses throughout Virginia and surrounding states attended training under seven certified trainers from Sewanee to either be accredited as first time mentors or to reaccredit their status as active mentors.

There are EfM groups meeting throughout the United States and the world. There are even online EfM groups. The Diocese of Virginia currently sponsors 32 active groups in parishes throughout the Diocese. Parishes interested in finding out more information about EfM are encouraged to visit the EfM website for the Diocese of Virginia at www.efmvirginia.com or email me at wendy@efmvirginia.com for more information. As EfM Coordinator for the Diocese of Virginia, it is my ministry to support and promote EfM in the Diocese by assisting current groups, helping parishes that wish to explore EfM, locating groups for individuals looking for an EfM group, and coordinating training opportunities for existing and new mentors.

Episcopal Church Women

2012 was a wonderfully busy year for the Episcopal Church Women. I took office as President in January. In March, we sponsored a “Lenten Quiet Day,” led by the Rev. Canon Susan Goff and held at Roslyn. It was a huge success with more than 50 attendees.

Our ECW task force appointed last fall has met regularly and continues to diligently restructure the Diocesan ECW to meet the needs of all Episcopalians. Other dioceses are following our lead and will be watching our progress.

In May, our spring meeting was held at Pohick Episcopal Church in Lorton. The women of Pohick and the Rev. Dr. Donald Binder graciously hosted the meeting. The women of St. Margaret’s, Woodbridge, provided breakfast. The meeting was well attended with 24 churches and 10 regions represented. Emma Wright, Lead Diocesan Youth Speaker for the Bishop’s Nets for Life Campaign spoke. The ECW formed a partnership with the Diocesan Youth to help raise awareness and reach their goal of having 20,000 nets sent to southern Africa. We are now working with Buck Blanchard to expand our involvement in Africa.

In July, three Board members and I attended Triennial/General Convention in Indianapolis. We spent eight days in prayer, worship, meetings, and workshops. The presence of the Holy Spirit was evident throughout.

Our Annual Meeting, held at Christ Church, Glen Allen, was well attended with 32 churches and 11 Regions represented. Ruth Gibson, an ECW past president, was recognized as “Distinguished Woman of the Year” as she was at Triennial in July. Ruth’s love and service to her church are a true

Journal of the 218th annual council

The Communion Alms Fund collected in 2012 was divided between the Bishops Nets for Life Inspiration Fund 2012, and the Canterbury Campus Ministries fund, which we will continue to uplift. The Viva Voce funds collected this year were given to five recipients within the Diocese, all of whom work with women and/or children at risk.

UTO reported that $84,474.26 has been collected thus far and that 54 Grants were funded in 2012. ECW Gifts and Scholarships awarded 5 scholarships this year totaling $4,500. Our historian continues work on the booklet, “Joy in Service” with research, revisions, and rough drafts completed. Tentative date for distribution is ECW Spring Board 2013.

We live in a challenging time of church and economy, however, the ECW will continue to focus on our purpose… to joyously follow Jesus through mission and ministry.

The Rev. Torrence Harman and the women of St. Mary’s, White Chapel, have invited us to have our Spring Meeting there on May 23. The Rev. Daniel Robayo and the women of Emmanuel Church, Harrisonburg, have graciously agreed to host our Annual Meeting on October 17. We hope you will mark your calendars and plan to attend!

Executive Board

The Executive Board is composed of one elected member from 15 regional councils and the Bishops of the Diocese. Each elected member serves a three-year term. Each region alternately elects a member from the laity and then from the clergy. One third of the Board will end their service at the close of this Council. The ECW president has by custom a seat and voice at the meetings of the Board. Bishop Johnston serves as President of the Board and a lay member serves as Vice-President.

It has been my privilege to serve for the past three years as a member of the Executive Board and as its Vice President for the past year.

On behalf of the Board, I would like to recognize the graduating members of the current Executive Board, the Class of 2013, and thank them for their service to the Diocese.

The Executive Board is the governing body of the Diocese between sessions of Council, with the Canonical charge to “prepare and recommend diocesan programs, and the proposed funding of such programs.” To this end the Board has two standing working groups: a working group on program and a working group on budget. Dr. Barbara Allison-Bryan led the program group this year, while The Reverend Lin Hutton led the budget group. The Board thanks Barbara and Lin for their able leadership, and for their faithful service to the Board and to the Diocese.

On behalf of the Board, I would also like to recognize the extraordinary Diocesan staff. The Executive Board could not do its work without your able and patient support; in so many ways you make the work of the Board possible. More so, your hard work, good humor, and love of church are the connective tissue that keeps this Diocese alive and thriving from Council to Council - and most certainly during Council. The few doing the work of the many. The Board thanks you for your assistance and for your extraordinary professionalism.

The Diocesan staff, and by extension the Board, have observed the transition of three key staff members this fall: Anna Moncure as Assistant Secretary; Frances Caldwell as Director of Development and Stewardship; and Henry Burt as Secretary of the Diocese and Chief of staff. Through their years of faith-filled service to the Diocese, they have each been exemplary servant leaders. They will be greatly missed by the Board and the Diocese. The Board extends a heartfelt “thank you” and “God speed” to Anna, Frances, and Henry.

These transitions have brought us the gracious services of Bill Martin as our new Assistant to the Secretary.

The Executive Board met six times since the last Council. Two of the meetings—those in April and November – were held jointly with the Regional Presidents. The Board started its annual pilgrimage at Little Fork Church, Rixeyville; subsequent meetings were held at St. Johns, Tappahannock; The Falls Church, Falls Church; St. Peters’s, Arlington; Trinity, Washington; and finally we concluded our journey together at Mayo House, Richmond. The Board would like to thank all the host parishes and the staff at Mayo House for their wonderful hospitality.

These are a few general highlights of the year:
- This year Pat Hardy from Church of Our Savior, Montpelier, began her tenure as ECW President, and concurrently, started to attend Board meetings.
- In June - with a significant portion of the litigation resolved; with much of the property and churches returned to the diocese; with continuing congregations returning home; with the new Dayspring initiative being rolled out - we met as a Board at The Falls Church – a very meaningful, symbolically important, long anticipated experience.
- The April election and the July consecration of our colleague Susan Goff as our new Suffragan Bishop was a true highlight and cause for great celebration.
- We welcomed Pat Wingo this fall as our new Canon to the Ordinary.
Finally, I want to note that the Board played a central role in two of the submitted resolutions before this year’s Council - one of which was very much a grassroots effort from and by the Board.

With regard to the working groups, the working group on budget addressed a range of issues throughout the year, including revisions in Clergy housing benefits, the refinancing of existing debt related to reclaimed properties, the sale of non-strategic properties to help defray Diocesan debt, and recommendations for the Bishop’s minority scholarships. One of the major projects the budget group worked on this past year was the development of guidelines for medical parity between clergy and full time lay employees, as directed by General Convention. In addition, the budget group developed a recommended model for medical parity for parishes and the diocesan staff following an online survey of church employees throughout the Diocese. Finally, the work of the budget group culminates with the presentation of the budget at Council. Members of the budget working group are, by custom, also appointed to the Budget Committee of Council. The Executive Board, throughout the coming year, will monitor the 2013 budget adopted by this 218th Council.

The working group on program, among other responsibilities, reviews and recommends appointments to various committees of the Diocese. The program group has continued to work closely with Paris Ball and Emily Cherry this year, as well as other members of the Diocesan staff, to evaluate the reorganization of the Commission and Committee structure of the Diocese. The program group also reviews the recommendations for Mustard Seed Grants and Human Need Grants made by the Commissions on Human Need, Congregational Development, and Youth and World Mission. For the past two years the program group has worked hard to clarify, tighten and to improve the application process for Mustard Seed Grants and Human Need Grants.

One of the most joyous duties of the Executive Board is to hear the Petition for Church Status of mission churches that believe they are ready to be granted church status. In September it was our great pleasure to meet with a jubilant delegation from St. Peter’s in the Woods, Fairfax Station, led by the Rev. DeDe Duncan-Probe. At the conclusion of their presentation the Executive Board was pleased to unanimously endorse St. Peter’s in the Woods petition for church status.

On behalf of the Board, I want to thank Bishop Johnston, Bishop Goff, and Bishop Gulick for their outstanding leadership. We are blessed to have you – individually, and more so as a team. Your deep faith, inclusive collegiality, great warmth, exceptional wisdom, and notable humility are a great blessing to our Diocese.

Committee on Mental Health

The Diocesan Committee on Mental Health continues to work to promote understanding, awareness, advocacy, and action for and on behalf of those affected by mental illness throughout the Diocese. Our emphasis is on educational opportunities to provide knowledge and clarity about mental illness/wellness. Our goal is to alleviate the stigma that overshadows the mentally ill, thereby promoting understanding, awareness, compassion, inclusion, and mental wellness. We are focusing on education regarding resources for referral to mental health within a parish, as well as educational programs through parishes regarding mental wellness and prevention of personal and community trauma. From a perspective of inclusion as its major objective, the committee is also focusing on prevention of mental health crises and problems individually and to provide the assistance necessary to help any Christian find mental wellness.

During 2012, our monthly meetings have continued generally on the second Saturday of most months at 10 a.m. at Trinity, Fredericksburg. The schedule is posted on the website, www.VAmentalhealth.org. Meetings are open to the public, so that other interested people may attend.
Committee members and “friends” have made mental health presentations and facilitated discussions about mental health in various regions and parishes that have been well-received. Minutes of the monthly meetings, agenda, and other materials are also available on the above website.

Products of the Mental Health Committee in 2012

The Mental Health Committee of the Diocese of Virginia is pleased to announce that we have just completed the design and creation of educational program modules that will assist adult education groups in parishes to discuss the painful but inevitable tragedy of suicide in the congregation. These modules are contained in a DVD box and consist of a comprehensive and user-friendly guide for parish educational facilitators and a DVD. On the DVD are four speeches by experts on suicide and suicide prevention. These speakers were videotaped at a Mental Health Committee/Diocesan conference entitled: “The Church and Suicide – Compassion and Response’ (Alexandria, VA. October 29, 2011).

Are our clergy prepared to lead and support your congregation, parish, and community in the spiritual healing process in the aftermath of a tragic event? Recent murder–suicide events, such as those at Aurora and Sandy Hook Elementary School, bring to the forefront the need for education and open discussion about mental health issues, as well as the role of the clergy, church leaders, and the church community in the spiritual healing process before and after a tragic event occurs.

Our materials can assist clergy, church leaders, and lay pastoral care givers, as well as churches and communities in their efforts to have a meaningful dialogue on mental health issues, and suicide in particular, as well as prevention of community tragedies and healing after community trauma incidents. The program has four separate discussion modules which can be run as stand-alone discussion forums or presented as a four part series. The program includes a resource guide to a wide range of mental health services and comes with a comprehensive Facilitator’s Guide. The Facilitators’ Guide can assist in a relevant discussion regarding how everyone can become more aware of prevention and response to such individual and community tragedies.

These materials, DVD Packages or internet links, will be available at the Mental Health Committee Display at Annual Council, January 24-26, 2013, or upon your request. The programs are available to anyone conducting the adult education program at no charge. The DVD or website format highlights several speakers who discuss various aspects of suicide. What is it like to contemplate or attempt to complete suicide? One articulate and sensitive professional tells us her story. What are general issues a church faces when impacted by suicide? Listen to a working priest explain the issues. Does the Bible or the Church condemn suicide? Be surprised at the answers by a scholar/priest. What can congregants or clergy do to prevent suicide or to heal the congregation? Two suicide professionals, military and civilian, give pragmatic steps on how to interact with someone who expresses suicidal thinking.

Also available on a continuing basis is a mental health Resources Tool-Kit (2011). This Tool-Kit incorporates a listing of available Commonwealth of Virginia mental health services, provides personnel names and office numbers, and also lists many internet resources for education and prevention, as well as available organizations offering services to persons with mental health challenges.

In the past and in preparation for our prior conferences, we have done outreach to include other interfaith communities including the United Methodist Conference, the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, and the Presbyterian Church, as well as the Diocese of Southern Virginia and the Diocese of Southwest Virginia. We look forward to continuing our interfaith outreach efforts as well as interaction with other Episcopal Dioceses.
The Future
The Mental Health Committee plans to develop additional Education Programs (DVD format and online) focusing on 1) a church’s response to community crises; 2) Building a Bully-Free environment; and 3) assisting persons with disabilities and their families with stigma and accessibility challenges.

2013 Mission Statement – Mental Health Committee
As members of the Body of Christ, we seek to live out the reconciling love of Jesus by offering educational programs and net-working resources so that the Church may be a welcoming sanctuary for people living with mental illness.

You are invited to stop by the Mental Health Committee Exhibit Display Table to learn about opportunities for Adult Forum programs/discussions for your parish.

You are invited to become ACTIVE as a member, “friend”, or regional representative on the Mental Health Committee.

Come to me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Shoulder my yoke and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. Yes, my yoke is easy and my burden light. –Matthew 11: 28-30.

Commission on Ministry
The Commission on Ministry is charged by the general canons of the Episcopal Church, Title III (Ministry), Section 2 (of Commissions on Ministry), to advise and assist the Bishop in “the determination of present and future opportunities and needs for the ministry of all baptized persons,” and “the design and oversight of the ongoing process for recruitment, discernment, formation for ministry, and assessment of readiness therefor.” The Membership is comprised of the chairs of committees and several at-large members.

Following the election of the Rt. Rev. Susan Goff as Bishop Suffragan, the Commission on Ministry transitioned to the leadership of the Rev. Canon Pat Wingo, who became the Commission’s diocesan staff liaison in September. Canon Wingo and his assistant, Ed Keithly, work very closely with the related committees, alerting them to anything that needs addressing and keeping track of the paperwork and timelines essential to the work of discernment and formation.

The Commission met three times this past year: in February, June, and September. At the annual Commission on Ministry retreat in October, with representation from the Standing Committee, the Commission focused on keeping one another informed about the work of the committees. There is a continual need for information sharing and reeducation of members and all involved in the discernment and formation process, which the Commission on Ministry is improving and seeking to improve.

The Committee on Continuing Clergy Formation
Fresh Start, a program widely used throughout the Episcopal Church, is a diocesan led program for clergy who are either newly ordained or who have recently moved to a new position in a parish, school chaplaincy, or other ministry in the Diocese. The program is based on three key principles: the theory of transition, the importance of relationship building, and the need for self-care. Participation in this two-year program is required by the bishop and the support of the parish or other institution in which the clergy is serving is strongly encouraged, as both the clergy person and his or her cure benefit.
Those participating in Fresh Start meet monthly, beginning each year with a retreat either at Shrine Mont or at Roslyn in September and continuing through June. The morning session centers around some particular aspect of ministry. The sessions are led either by diocesan staff members, the facilitators, or guest presenters in various fields of expertise. The afternoon time is spent with in small groups, meeting to support one another in a safe and confidential setting where participants can share their experiences. Both the content of the sessions and the opportunity for building of relationships provides a foundation for successful transition into a new ministry.

For the 2012-2013 calendar year, there are 39 participants in the Fresh Start program. Serving as facilitators are the Rev. David Knight, the Rev. Laura Minnich Lockey, the Rev. Jim Papile, and the Rev. Kaki Swann. The Diocesan liaison staff person is Lindsay Ryland, Transition Ministry Officer for the Diocese. The Fresh Start program is grateful to Trinity, Fredericksburg, for providing the space for the meetings.

The Committee on the Diaconate

On February 11, 2012, Virginia ordained its second cohort of deacons – one woman and two men. The seven members of the third cohort of deacons completed their studies and were granted candidacy. Their ordination is scheduled for February 23, 2013. Two aspirants were interviewed and recommended for postulancy in 2012.

The Cross-Diocesan Committee on the Diaconate, consisting of the dioceses of Virginia and Southern Virginia, spent the past fifteen months discussing the formation of a Cross Diocesan Deacons’ School. These conversations have been very fruitful: The Cross-Diocesan Committee has agreed on foundational goals for the Deacons’ School and have hired a curriculum consultant, the Rev. Lynn Orville, to develop and implement this new program. The new Deacons’ School will open in January of 2014.

The Committee on Discernment

The mission of the Committee on Discernment is to develop, oversee and refine the discernment process for leadership ministries, both lay and ordained; train and support Diocesan Spiritual Discernment Facilitators (DSDFs); design and deliver Diocesan Discernment Retreats; and serve as a resource on discernment for the Diocese.

There are currently ten lay and clergy persons trained as Diocesan Spiritual Discernment Facilitators, six more that are continuing to be mentored, and eight new facilitators being trained and mentored. The DSDFs meet several times a year for continuing education and reflection on their ministry. The committee is in the process of training and mentoring new DSDFs, especially in the Northern Virginia area where they are most needed.

In 2012, Diocesan Discernment Retreats were held in March, June and October, with 24 participants from 21 congregations. The intent of the retreats is to deepen understanding of the discernment process by providing spiritual grounding, encouraging seekers to work with spiritual directors, offering opportunities for faith sharing and discernment in community, and providing an overview of the diocesan process for discerning call to leadership ministries.

The Committee on Leadership Formation
The Committee on Leadership Formation is charged with the development of leadership learning programs for lay and ordained persons in the Diocese of Virginia.

The Committee oversees the Episcopal Leadership Institute (ELI) – an action learning program for leadership development which includes modules on Biblical models of leadership, leadership theory, change processes, conflict and communication, servant leadership and leadership education.

ELI is currently used as an adjunct program to the Diaconal Formation Institute for the preparation of vocational deacons in the Diocese. Postulants and candidates meet quarterly for six sessions of ELI. 2012 saw the ELI graduation and ordination of our second class of vocational deacons and the completion of ELI for the third cohort. This cohort is scheduled for ordination in February 2013.

Although a solicitation for participants in a cohort of lay leaders did not achieve a critical mass, there are plans underway to extend ELI to other leaders who might benefit from the curriculum, such as church musicians, priests and vestries.

The Committee on Priesthood
The Committee on Priesthood is charged with overseeing the process through which priests are formed for ministry and with guiding and monitoring the progress of those who are in the process. We work with presenting priests and aspirants from the time of discernment of a call through ordination to the transitional diaconate. Each person in the process is paired with a representative on the committee and is interviewed when applying for postulancy, candidacy and ordination by members of the Committee. The Committee on Priesthood makes recommendations to the bishop and assists and advises the bishop in matters relating to the formation of priests.

In 2012 the Committee recommended 11 of 14 applicants for postulancy and seven for candidacy. Ten people were ordained to the transitional diaconate, ten to the priesthood, and two former Roman Catholic priests were recognized as Episcopal priests.

The Diocesan Board of Examining Chaplains
The mission of the Board of Examining Chaplains is to review and evaluate General Ordination Examinations for persons seeking priesthood, and recommend and oversee any additional work required to demonstrate proficiency in the seven areas covered by the GOEs; assist in the development, administration, and evaluation of written and oral examinations for persons seeking the diaconate, and recommend and oversee any additional work required to demonstrate proficiency in the canonical areas examined; develop, administer, and evaluate examinations for clergy ordained in other denominations; provide advice and counsel to the bishop on matters related to GOEs and related examinations; serve as resource on theological education for the Diocese. In 2012 the DBEC read examinations of eleven candidates for priesthood and six candidates for the diaconate. In addition they developed, administered, and read the examinations for two former Roman Catholic priests seeking to be received as Episcopal priests.

The Young Priests Initiative
The Young Priests Initiative is a committee designed to help young adults, college students especially, discern their call to ministry—whether that be lay ministry or ordained ministry. The program provides a committee for discernment that does much of the work that a parish-based discernment group would do for someone who had a long-term, year-round parish home. The Initiative seeks to serve young people who move often, are away from their home parishes while in school, or who have come to the Episcopal Church through college ministries and not through traditional parish membership.

In 2012, the YPI journeyed with six young adults in their discernment process. Four of them participated in summer internships, three of them are planning to apply for postulancy and go before the Committee on Priesthood in the spring. One young woman, who is participating in an Episcopal Service Corps internship in Omaha, also plans to interview in the spring. There are four young people planning to join YPI in March and participate in YPI’s summer internships.

Committee on Parish Nursing

This year the committee was represented at Council with a table. We had over 30 inquiries about the Parish Nurse Program. From those who took information, we have connected with eight people and shared information about parish nursing.

We are asking this year that the name of the Committee be changed to reflect general health information for our parishes. I found while sitting at the table that people would comment that they didn’t have anyone to become a parish nurse. When I spoke to them about a health ministry in their parish they were interested.

I am going to suggest the committee name be changed to Ministry of Health and Parish Nurse Committee.

During the spring Clergy Retreat at Shrine Mont I presented two sessions on, “Health in Your Parish.” It was well received and I hope to do this again. I had several separate inquiries about ideas to promote health for parishioners.

Parish Youth Ministries Committee

PYM (Parish Youth Ministries) is a committee composed of high school students from across the Diocese. It is the only committee in the Diocese of Virginia that is made up entirely of youth. The members of the group, which ranges from 25-30 members, are the leaders in a series of weekend and day events held throughout the school year.

Annually PYM hosts three large events at Shrine Mont: 6th & 7th Grade Weekend, 8th Grade Weekend and Senior High Weekend. There are also several one-day events held at various locations across the Diocese such as the Fall and Spring Day of Service. The main objective of these events is to promote opportunities of fellowship and spiritual growth for the youth in our Diocese through music, arts and crafts, games, bible study, small group discussion, initiative exercises, and prayer. The group also spends two weekends a year in retreat for planning and leadership training, and on months where there is not an event the committee meets in Fredericksburg to evaluate the program offerings and plan for future events. A selection of the committee serves as pages at Annual Council.

The PYM Committee elects their two co-chairs; for the 2012-2013 school year the co-chairs are Victoria Giordano and Emma Wright. The diocesan liaison is Michael Wade.

Peter Paul Development Center

The Peter Paul Development Center (PPDC), located in the East End of Richmond, is one of only two Affiliated Organizations of the Diocese working in one of the highest concentrations of urban poverty in the Diocese. In the PPDC neighborhood, the median household income is approximately $15,500 (the poverty threshold for a family of four is $22,314). Almost half (46%) of the adults over age 25 in the PPDC neighborhood have not completed high school or its equivalency, a key ingredient for continued impoverishment and dependency.

Peter Paul is directly confronting this challenge through its test-based, results-proven after-school educational enhancement program for at-risk primary school kids at the Center. The success of the program prompted the Richmond Public School System to propose exporting it to one of their schools in the neighborhood. Thanks to the support of Richmond’s St. James’s and St. Stephen’s churches, and grant funding, the pilot program was begun at Fairfield Elementary School in November 2012.

For the last two years PPDC’s Board and management have renewed the organization’s dedication to financial stewardship. In 2012, its total revenue and public support were $967,004 and total expenses were $882,105 (without the non-cash expense of depreciation, which was $92,421 for FY12). PPDC also repaid a portion of its debt to the Diocesan Missionary Society, and has reached an agreement for the long-term repayment of the balance. PPDC’s financial focus will remain on prudent expense management, continuing to build revenue streams, and conscientiously managing debt.

In another major development, in March of 2012, the Board hired Mr. Damon Jiggetts to serve as its Executive Director. Damon has a proven record of accomplishment with organizational development, fiscal management, personnel development, and community relations.

PPDC is grateful for the encouragement and support of the Bishop and his staff, and the churches, individuals, corporations, foundations, and other sponsors who have contributed so much this past year. “...just as you did it to one of the least of these who are members of my family, you did it to me.”

–Matthew 25:40.

Committee on Race & Reconciliation

The Committee on Race and Reconciliation of the Diocese of Virginia embraces the responsibility to:

• Develop and implement programs and strategies that affirm our baptismal covenant;
• Engage and lead conversations across the Diocese about race and racism in a safe, prayer - and faith-filled context.

Highlights of 2012

In 2012 we submitted the current version of the history of race relations in our Diocese. The research for this document was done by our member, Dr. John Chilton, who serves as our Lead for Research and Communication. He was assisted in editing the document by Dr. Mildred W Robinson, Professor of Law at the University of Virginia. We cannot adequately express what the process and result mean to the Committee.

By submitting this current version of the Diocese’s race relations history, we have fulfilled the obligation of the Diocese set forth in the resolution of the General Convention that each diocese research and disclose its involvement in the slave trade, and the perpetuation of racism. This current version of the history may be found on our webpage, http://sites.google.com/site/dovracerelations/

In January the Committee presented a workshop at the 2012 Annual Council entitled “Many Faces, One Faith”. We introduced the Meet Me in Galilee program and offered a brief, very high-level presentation about the history of race relations in the Diocese as a taste of what was to come with the first edition of the history.

Also Joseph Royster, who had been nominated by the Committee, was elected as an Alternate Lay Delegate to the 2012 General Convention. Then, due to the untimely passing of Russell Palmore, Joseph became the first African-American Lay Delegate to General Convention from The Diocese of Virginia.

The Committee rolled out a new program for the Diocese called “Meet Me in Galilee – A Journey from Repentance to Reconciliation.” It is a multi-year curriculum that will guide journey-groups through the difficult task of learning about and acknowledging the Diocese’s complicity in the slave trade and racist practices. The program offers the opportunity to study the characteristics and results of the power dynamic at work in race relations and other instances of social conflict, e.g. economic, gender equality. Finally, the activities of the journey groups offer a path to reconciliation so that a more perfect collaboration can be established for doing God’s work fulfilling the promise of the Baptismal Covenant in the future.

Engaging and supporting journey groups in this work throughout the Diocese are part the Committee’s goals for the next two years. In addition, the Committee spotlighted both our history and this program in July at General Convention in Indianapolis, Indiana.

In September 2011 Emily Cherry assisted the Committee in conducting a diocesan wide race relations survey. Using the same questions asked in a similar survey of race relations in 1993, congregations in the Diocese were asked to provide a current snap-shot of how we are doing. In 2012 the Structural Analysis Sub-Committee analyzed the material and produced a report of the findings. A poster showing the results in six areas will be on display at Annual Council. In addition, the survey questions and Diocese-wide results have become one of the tools for our “Meet Me in Galilee” program.

We offered the workshop, “Seeing the Face of God in Each Other” in October at Christ Church Episcopal in Glen Allen. Participants were laity and postulants for the vocational diaconate.

Since September, Ellyn and David have been working with the Committee on Liturgy in preparation for the February 16, 2013 diocesan service, “From Reconciliation to Hope: A Service of Remembrance, Celebration, and Witness In Commemoration of the 150th Anniversary of The Emancipation Proclamation.” This service will begin at 10 a.m. at St. George’s, Fredericksburg, with Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori presiding.

The members of the Committee on Race and Reconciliation pray for God’s continuing guidance, grace and inspiration as we continue our work in 2013.

Region I

Region I has just completed a year of activity that has brought our 19 churches closer together. Under the leadership of our president-elect, Ben Hicks of St. Peter’s, Port Royal, we already are planning for a future that will build on our foundations.

The highlight of 2012 was our “Dinner with Bishop Shannon” on October 24 at St. George’s in Fredericksburg. With 70 attendees present, representing churches from Culpeper and Madison to Colonial Beach, we took advantage of the bishop’s offer to converse rather than to present.

It was an evening of storytelling, laughter and serious discussion, complemented by wonderful and bountiful food. We heartily recommend this format as a way to get to know our bishops on a personal basis.

Our evening with Bishop Shannon was our second annual Region I dinner since this ritual was resumed. Its success will surely lead to more evenings of conversation and community building in the years to come.

Region I has worked in other ways to connect our churches with the Diocese, other parishes and the greater Church.

During our three meetings in 2012, we hosted presentations on St. George’s, Fredericksburg, Preschool; the Virginia Diocesan Homes; and the Regional Presidents Retreat. We’ve pursued or discussed mission initiatives in Haiti, South Sudan and the Democratic Republic of Congo. We’ve learned about the still new program in the Diocese to develop vocational deacons. We’ve continued to build our Region I website (regionone.thediocese.net), which is a model for connecting parish communities. We’ve offered financial assistance to several churches with earthquake damage and one church with ruptured water pipes. We’ve benefited from the outstanding participation of our youth delegate to the two Council sessions of 2012.

Another highlight of the year was the November 9 “Spirituality and the Arts” presentation at St. Mary’s, Colonial Beach, featuring Bishop Goff and Susan Tilt, the local artist who designed the bishop’s vestments for her ordination and consecration last summer. This Friday-night event filled the parish hall at St. Mary’s and helped set the stage for the town’s Art Walk later that evening.

Plans for 2013 initiatives are well underway. Region I endorsed President-elect Hicks’ proposal to help buy farming and fishing implements to assist refugees who have fled to South Sudan. This initiative, which will include a shopping list from which parishioners in Region I can purchase items, will be coordinated with the efforts in South Sudan of missionary Larry Duffee of St. George’s.

Hicks also outlined several priorities for Region I in 2013. They include:

1. A series of Mission Forums to discuss mission work going on in our parishes, the Region and the Diocese.
2. A greater emphasis on youth and young adults, including support for the Shrine Mont capital campaign.
3. A presentation on spiritual practices and spiritual care.
4. A presentation on congregational development, including issues of evangelism, hospitality and the discernment process.

With new officers and a new youth delegate and alternate, we are confident that Region I will continue to serve our member churches with programs that help them to learn and grow.

Region II
Region 2 Activities and Events During 2012:

The Diocesan Native American Ministry and the Renovation of St. Mark’s, Beazley, VA: Two years ago, Bishop Shannon, in his annual address to Council, called for a Diocesan supported Native American Ministry (NAM). That is now well underway with an active agenda.

Region 2, responded to this call by offering to the Diocese our energy and ideas during the development of this Ministries Goals. An initial co-operative project has been found within the Rappahannock Tribal area; which is the renovation of an abandoned historical Church. This Church, St. Mark’s, Beazley, was attended by some members of the tribe whose strong emotional connection is evident today.

Region 2 has developed building demolition and renovation plans for the restoration of St. Mark’s Church. The Construction Work has progressed to completion of all demolition work and stabilization of the weakened structure. Region 2, and partnering churches from the DioVA are planning a Spring 2013 resumption of Work. Contact the undersigned to learn how this activity can become your Congregations Ministry as well.

Assisting Needy Regional Parishes, and People Elsewhere

Our regional Council recognized early in 2011 that the best way for us to identify and to become aware of ‘needs’ that may exist within a Parish, is by visiting our churches to meet the vestries and congregants alike. We have continued during 2012 visits to identify where we can be helpful.

Supporting Our Needy Youth

Region 2 maintains an Annual Budget Line Item for assisting our ‘Needy Youth’ to attend

Summer Camp at Shrine Mont.

We are now considering an additional Budget Line Item to assist all Diocesan Youth Programs.

Paris Ball has visited a 2012 Regional Council Meeting to enlighten our Council Members on the various programs, and where help is best needed. With the benefit of her advice, we are ready to determine how the added support will be structured and funded.

Assisting Diocesan Committees and Commissions

Region 2 and its Council recognizes an ongoing need to continue to improve internal communications, and the sharing of work products, between Diocesan Committees and our Churches. We assisted in the preparation of Resolution R1a (2011 Council) which provides a means for sharing and communicating via a ‘Church Stewardship Partner’. The program gained notable success two years ago from within the Diocesan Stewardship of Creation Committee, where 25% of Diocesan Churches quickly named a representative.

During 2012, Region 2 has continued to promote the ‘Church Stewardship Partner’ concept. We have encouraged our Clergy, and the Clergy of other Regions, to name their designated representative, or, as an alternative, to use their current Council Lay Delegate as their temporary representative until a permanent person is found.

Some areas where representation is needed remain to be:
- A positive distribution of Notices and Flyers to Churches of Workshops and Conferences.
- Naming each Church’s point of contact to communicate with Diocesan Ministries; (i.e., the Diocesan Disaster Preparedness and Response Team).
- To have a Congregational Representative to communicate with the leaders of committees and commissions of the Diocese; thereby receiving reports and work products for use within our Churches.

Region 2 will continue its efforts with our Clergy and Delegates to assure that a Representative is available from each church.

Our Annual Evensong

The Region 2 Annual Evensong and Picnic continues, and once again, is open to the people of all churches of the region and beyond. At Grace Church, Kilmarnock, we gathered for the Annual Evensong which was followed by a picnic dinner on the grounds of Grace Church.
The ‘Reverend Canon’ Susan Goff accepted our invitation to our Evensong as our guest Preacher; and then …’ lo and behold’ … Rev. Susan appeared in June as our ‘Bishop Suffragan Elect’!

Activities in our Regional Churches
To be brief, herein are named the activities which occurred in our Region this past year. We hope you too will find an exciting idea which can become a new ministry for your Church. Always, we are open to hear new ideas from everyone; which we will share.

1. Saving lives through Blood Donor Programs.
2. ‘Inreach’ Ministries that include providing Emergency Meals and other Services.
3. ‘Clothes Closets’ are developing within the Region. Donated used clothing is being supplied to needy families and to the homeless.
4. Our Regional ECW made a substantial donation to the Renovation Work at St. Mark’s, Beazley, VA.
5. In response to the Bishop’s Emergency Preparedness Ministry, Wicomico Parish prepared a notable example of a Congregational Response Report. Copies may be available by contacting the Rev. James Silcox, Rector, at Wicomico Church, or, the Parish Administrator.

Additional information is available regarding any of these Church and Community activities. Contact Rocco V. Tricarico, President, Region 2 at NorNeck@Hughes.Net.

The Regional President’s Annual Retreat:
Following a successful ‘First’ meeting last spring with Bishop ‘Ted’ Gullick, it has been agreed that under his continuing guidance, annual meetings will continue. The ‘Second’ Annual Meeting of the Regional President’s will occur again this year at Shrine Mont.

Region IV
Region IV is composed of the eight parishes in Alexandria – Christ Church, St. Paul’s, Grace, Immanuel Church-on-the-Hill, Emmanuel, Church of St. Clement, Church of the Resurrection, and Meade Memorial.

Each year, Region IV makes grants to support a variety of organizations, using funds contributed by the eight parishes. Traditionally, we have given relatively small amounts to a dozen or so entities and in 2011, we gave $4,250 to help 11 organizations/churches.

In the fall of 2011, however, Region IV undertook a review of our process for making grants and came to the conclusion that rather than giving small amounts to many organizations, we would in the future concentrate the grants on a smaller number of organizations where we believed the money would be more effectively used. In 2012, the Region voted to give $6,900 to support two local organizations, two parish programs within the Region, and to help pay for a new Lenten series of speakers sponsored by our eight parishes.

Grants were made to Alexandria Neighborhood Health Services (which provides primary health care to thousands of individuals in Alexandria and surrounding communities) and to the Child and Family Network Centers (which provides services to preschool children). The Region also voted to support essential programs sponsored by two of our parishes -- the feeding program at Meade Memorial Church and the winter shelter program for the homeless at the Church of St. Clement. Finally, the Region agreed to provide monetary support for a new Lenten speakers program being sponsored in 2013 by the Region’s eight parishes.
In September, 2012, we welcomed Bishop Susan Goff, who shared with us her concerns and plans for her new ministry. We also heard from Ms. Anna Moncure, then Assistant Secretary of the Diocese, who spoke about the Diocesan summer camps.

In November, Region IV elected new officers for three year terms beginning after Diocesan Council in 2013. Elected as our new President was Ms. Beth Wiggers of Church of the Resurrection. Elected Vice President was Ms. June Huber of Grace Church, and re-elected as Treasurer was Ms. Barbie Frank of Emmanuel Church. We agreed to divide the task of taking minutes among the eight parishes and lots were drawn to determine the order in which in each parish would have responsibility for providing this secretarial role.

Region V
Region V Council conducted four regular meetings during 2012 (in March, May, October and December).

This year we welcomed the Very Rev. Stephen Shepherd as our new Dean.

At our March Meeting, we passed a motion that Epiphany, Oak Hill, be welcomed to Region V provided their request for transfer to this region was approved. Then, at our December meeting, following approval of the transfer by the Standing Committee, we enthusiastically welcomed Epiphany to our region and our regional community.

At the May 14 Meeting, we discussed a proposed Latino congregation/mission at St. Timothy’s, Herndon, and the ministry of Natividad Menjivar, a former Roman Catholic priest. Natividad was subsequently received as an Episcopal priest in a beautiful bi-lingual service presided over by Bishop Goff at St. Timothy’s September 29, which was attended by many from around the Region. Natividad’s inspirational participation in ministry within the Herndon Latino community has already led many in that community to look to him as a pastoral leader. The Council voted unanimously to provide $1,000 to help develop this ministry.

We also began exploring some possible ideas that had been suggested for organizing additional region-wide youth activities. And we heard an update on the Young Adults Fellowship (YAF): a group of persons in their 20s and 30s from various Episcopal churches in our Region which receives support from the Region, and which gathers twice a month at Ireland’s Four Provinces in Falls Church for fellowship, to talk about their faith and to participate in theological discussions.

At our October 1 meeting, we set up a “Regional Life Committee” to continue more productively our on-going discussion within the Council about: what our Region and Council should be; what purpose and role it should serve in the life of the church and of the parishes that make it up; how we can encourage our Region itself to function better as a community with a shared life; and the role of lay delegates in improving connections and communications between the Region (and the Diocese) and their respective parishes. The Committee will be open to all interested members of the constituent parishes of Region V (not just Council members).

Mary Beth Emerson, a Deacon at St. Thomas, McLean, has begun working jointly with the various parishes of the region to coordinate projects that will involve youth and others on a region-wide basis. We warmly welcomed Mary Ellen and her new ministry as offering great promise to further the ways we can cooperate and act together, especially with our youth, on a region-wide basis and across parish boundaries. One of the first events was a very successful “gleaning” trip to a local farm to gather produce for local food banks.
In December, we held officer elections, and the Region V Council unanimously elected a new Vice-President, Diane Miller (St. Timothy’s, Herndon) and warmly welcomed her to her new role in the leadership of the Region. Diane succeeds Betsy Heilman (St. Thomas, Mclean), who will leave office after the 2013 Annual Council, having served the maximum three-year term allowed by our Bylaws. The Council unanimously passed a resolution thanking Betsy for her years of exceptional service to the Region V Council, both as lay delegate and as Vice-President.

Region VI
During 2012, Region VI concentrated on the Woodbridge area. With the settlement of the lawsuit involving St. Margaret’s, the parish’s former home on Church Hill Dr. returned to the Diocese. Concurrently, All Saints Church vacated their former home on Saratoga Lane. St. Margaret’s then opted to move to Saratoga Lane, rather than return to Church Hill Dr. This move required removing parish property both from their temporary location in Lakeridge and also from the Church Hill Dr. site. One problem at the Saratoga Lane site that has only partially been fixed is a leaky steeple that caused part of the ceiling in the nave to collapse prior to the move. The region continues to monitor this transition and to offer support as needed.

The Church Hill building has three sections: a worship space, a parish hall wing, and an education wing. The education wing is not fit for habitation and probably should be demolished. The parish hall wing has been leased to the Woodbridge Free Clinic. That leaves the worship space, which the region sees as an opportunity to maintain an Episcopal presence in that part of Woodbridge and at the same time to minister to a new community of people. With the US1 corridor becoming increasingly Latino, we saw a potential need for a bilingual ministry. The region has been funding a feasibility study during the last half of the year, led by the Rev. Navidad Menjivar from San Marcos, Alexandria, for such a congregation. They started meeting in homes on Friday evenings and since October in the Church Hill Dr. facility at 7:00 on Friday evening and 5:00 on Sundays. They currently have about thirty members and call themselves Iglesia Cristo Redentor, St. Margaret’s. The next step is to write a report of the study to be presented to the Diocese and to potentially seek recognition of this community by the Diocese as a mission.

As long as anyone in the region can remember, we have operated mainly on consensus without bylaws, which we have now rectified.

We held our tri-annual elections and Doug Varner of St. Mark’s has been elected president commencing with the conclusion of Diocesan Council.

Region VIII
The Region VIII parishes and affiliated organizations include: Holy Cross Korean (Falls Church), Iglesia de Santa Maria (Falls Church), St. Albans (Annandale), St. Barnabus’ (Annandale), St. Patrick’s (Falls Church), St. Paul’s (Falls Church), The Falls Church (Falls Church), and Center for Liturgy and the Arts (Annandale).

2012 Officers: Doug Hansen (The Falls Church), President; Mareea Wilson (St. Barnabus), Vice President; Christine King (St. Paul’s); Secretary; Jim Curren (St. Alban’s)/Gail Coleman (St. Alban’s), Treasurers.

A highlight of our 2012 activities include:
In General: Year Two of our “Pledge Card” program continued, which has enabled each parish to commit to a pledge card with a suggested amount of $6.25/pledging unit. As a result, we received funds in a timely manner from our parishes and had a $2500 budget this year dedicated to outreach, youth programs, Region VIII functions, and other support and education efforts as mentioned further below.

February 7, 2012 meeting (St. Patrick’s Episcopal Church): The Council recognized with appreciation Mr. Alan Forssell’s many years of outstanding service to the Council. He stepped down as secretary this year. Christine King was elected to replace him. Jim Curren was also recognized for his service as Treasurer, as he would be leaving in May to join the Peace Corps, working in Liberia. The Council celebrated the return of St. Patrick’s Church to full church status after 21 years as a mission church, and as recognized at the 2012 Diocesan Council. St. Alban’s Church, as well as Goodwin House, hosted a Lenten program for all the regional churches to attend. Support for outreach ministry in conjunction with the International Justice Mission was approved.

May 2, 2012 meeting (St. Alban’s Episcopal Church): The Council approved to financially support the work of Safe Haven, a community day shelter. Discussion took place regarding the wonderful news of Bishop Susan Goff’s election as Suffragan Bishop, with an idea to hold a Region VIII potluck with her as guest in Fall 2012. Gail Coleman was elected to replace Jim Curren as Treasurer, due to his impending departure for the Peace Corps.

September 4, 2012: There was the first-ever Regional President’s Retreat held in June at Shrine Mont, hosted by Bishop Ted Gulick, and the President recounted some of the major topics discussed, including why new confirmants join the Episcopal Church; a process of discernment regarding Shrine Mont Camps, which are celebrating 50 years’ service; the importance of explaining to parish’s how their money is being spent in stewardship campaigns; and the disconnects between the younger generation and the Church, and how to overcome this perception. A Region VIII potluck is scheduled for September 23, 2012 at The Falls Church, for region parishes to have an opportunity to meet Bishop Susan Goff. The Council elected Andrea Perez of Iglesia de Santa Maria as youth delegate for the 2013 Diocesan Council. A Task Force was established for the purpose of exploring the establishment of a University Chaplain’s Program in Northern Virginia. Outreach support was approved for: University Chaplain’s Project, Peace Corps. (Liberia), Annandale Christian Community for Action, Falls Church Community Service Council, Culmore Clinic, and Shrine Mont Camps.

November 27, 2012: The Council agreed to invite a member of the Diocesan Committee on Race Relations to speak with Region VIII as to how we can further support their work. The diocesan Commission on the Prevention of Sexual Misconduct is working with regional councils to offer training, and it was agreed that Region VIII would offer training sessions in January through March, 2013, as taught by The Rev. Cathy Tibberts. Paris Ball, Director of Christian Formation for the Diocese of Virginia, gave a report on the importance and activities of Shrine Mont Camps, celebrating their 50th anniversary. A check was presented to Ms. Ball to support the Shrine Mont Camp scholarship fund. Ms. Ball also presented an update on the Diocese of Virginia’s Campus Ministry Program, which supports five programs including George Mason University’s “Arise” program, an ecumenical ministry. 2013 officers were elected: Christine King (St. Paul’s), President; Scott Moser (St. Barnabas’), Vice President; Doug Hansen (The Falls Church), Secretary; Gail Coleman (St. Albans), Treasurer. The Rev. Cayce Ramey is being ordained a priest for St. Alban’s, in a ceremony being held at The Falls Church on December 15, 2012.

Region IX
Region IX consists of seven parishes in an area that starts in eastern Richmond and runs down the James River to include eastern Henrico, James City and Charles City Counties.

Region IX had another successful year, meeting quarterly on the second Thursday of February, May, September and November. The Regional Council continued its long-standing tradition of eating together before each meeting, with each church taking turns hosting.

In February, Trinity, Highland Springs, hosted the Regional Council, and in May we gathered at Richmond Hill. Richmond Hill is an ecumenical Christian retreat center located on Church Hill in Richmond within the boundaries of Region IX. In September, the Regional Council met at Westover Church, and in November at St Peter’s, Richmond.

Our November meeting was held on All Saints’ Day. In lieu of a guest speaker, Lynne Washington presided over a lovely service in the newly renovated worship space at St Peter’s, Richmond, in Church Hill.

Region IX looks forward to another eventful year in 2013, in which Susan Bland will succeed Brian Carr as Regional President.

Region X
Region X is comprised of five churches in the Fan District and near West end of Richmond: Grace & Holy Trinity, St. Andrew’s, St. James’s, St. Mark’s, and Church of the Holy Comforter. All have been active this past year, as both a group and individually. Group projects involving more than one church in the region, include the following:

- Mutual support of the VCU campus ministry
- Joint soup kitchen/food pantry provided by St. Mark’s and St. Andrew’s twice a month
- Wednesday morning Bible Study supported by St. Mark’s and Grace & Holy Trinity
- Participation in the ACTS program, Area Congregations Together in Service, a Greater Richmond interfaith mission providing support and resources during periods of financial crisis to prevent homelessness. St. James’s was a founding member of this program, and it has now expanded to more 40 congregations, including all of the Region X churches.
- Participation in CARITAS, which provides emergency shelter to individuals. Involvement varies from acting as an intake site to providing overnight shelter.
- Joint Vacation Bible School between St. Andrew’s and St. Mark’s
- Shared Lenten program between Grace & Holy Trinity, St. Andrew’s and St. Mark’s

Other notable happenings include the celebration of services of Holy Union (Same Sex Blessing) at two of our churches, St. Andrew’s and St. Mark’s. We have lost Rev. Lauren Kuratko, previously at Grace & Holy Trinity, to St. Martin in the Fields in Atlanta, Georgia, but are pleased to announce the arrival of Rev. David Niemeyer as Priest-in-Charge at St. Mark’s. For the first time in many years we will have a youth delegate at Council this year, Conor Salter from St. Andrew’s.

Following is a synopsis of the highlights of the year for the individual churches within the region:

Grace & Holy Trinity is planning a major renovation of the Parish Hall. An architect was hired to do preliminary plans for opening up the structure of the Parish Hall, renovating the kitchen, changes to the Chapel and choir space, and creating a columbarium. The Parish is now in the discernment process for a capital program. A soup kitchen is operated every Friday, assisted by volunteers, including those from the VCU campus ministry. A Celebration of Unity Concert was held in honor of the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. in January, 2012. Participants included the G&HT choir, the Greater Richmond Children’s Choir, and the Sanctuary Choir of Ebenezer Baptist Church. Several mission trips were held: the youth took a pilgrimage to Liverpool and London, England in June and two mission trips were made to Belize: a spring trip focusing on medical needs, including dental care; and a trip in July to run a camp for youth in San Ignacio. VCU Campus Ministry meets Wednesday and Sunday nights at Grace & Holy Trinity. This past spring the students took a mission trip to the Diocese of Christ the King in Johannesburg, South Africa, where they worked with the St. Mary’s Children’s Home.

St. Andrew’s is reaching out to their neighbors to create a greater sense of community. They are working with Pine Street Baptist Church to address homelessness issues and they sponsored the Annual Harvest on the Hill Community Fair. In July, St. Andrew’s was awarded a Mustard Seed Grant to explore the intersection of nature connection and Christian spiritual practice, with an emphasis on youth and young adults. With the partnership and support of the Diocese, St. Andrew’s is continuing the planning and implementation of a young adult service corps. They are expecting to welcome 3 to 6 post-collegiate, young adult interns in August, 2013. Two priests, raised from St. Andrew’s, were ordained in December of this year, Megan Limburg and Andrew Terry. A mission trip to Uganda was undertaken in the summer.

St. James’s has begun a new service – a jazz mass is held every Sunday night and features local musicians. The annual service in celebration of the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., including St. James’s choirs and the Concert Choir of Norfolk State University was held in January. In February, “WomanKind 2012: Holy Mysteries” was opened by Krista Tippett, host of public radio’s On Being and author of Einstein’s God: conversations about Science and the Human Spirit. The closing Eucharist was led by the Rev. Dr. Lauren Winner, author of Girl Meets God. Music was provided by the Women’s Gospel choir from Alfred Street Baptist Church in Alexandria. Church retreat opportunities were provided at the Society of St. John the Evangelist in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and at the Trinity Center on Emerald Isle. Numerous mission trips were held to locations including New Orleans, LA; Welch, West Virginia; Gonaives, Haiti; the St. Joseph’s Home for Boys at Port au Prince; and Inner city Richmond, VA. St. James’s also hosted children for the World Pediatric Project.

St. Mark’s was pleased to announce the arrival of Rev. David Niemeyer as Priest-in-charge this past year. In conjunction with an effort to reach out to the neighborhood, St. Mark’s has begun holding monthly community dinners, which have been well attended. St. Mark’s was awarded a mustard seed grant to assist in achieving the goal of becoming a cooling center for city of Richmond. The grant will assist in improvements to the air conditioning system. A youth mission trip to Southwest Virginia was undertaken in cooperation with Trinity, Fredericksburg. St. Mark’s continues its twice monthly food pantry ministry. The number of people served continues to increase.

Church of the Holy Comforter has adopted an environmental theme for the year. They are working with Virginia Interfaith Power and Light to become more environmentally sensitive, including ways to make their facility more energy efficient. Holy Comforter has linked with the village of Mzula, Tanzania on the Carpenter’s Kids program, a Parish Community Project. “Team TJ” has been established to Team up with Thomas Jefferson High School, to provide support to their neighborhood high school. Demand for the food pantry has increased this year, and support for the monthly feeding program at Freedom House continues. Holy Comforter became a participant in ACTS this year.
Region XIII
Region XIII meets five times a year. We meet for lunch on the Friday of Council as well as an evening in March, May, September and November. Our luncheon meeting is our biggest. With the direction of the Diocese, we support St. Gabriel’s, Leesburg. In 2012 we helped them by giving them $20,000 as we will do in 2013. This we do by contributions from the churches. We ask for 1% of their NDI. About half of our churches contribute to our Mission grant Fund.

Our speakers this past year have been Anna Moncure and several members of Mission trips that the Region has supported. As with a lot of the regions, we have trouble getting many of the clergy of the region to attend.

Region XIV
We are the congregations and other ministries of the Episcopal Church in and near Virginia’s Shenandoah Valley. The Shenandoah Valley stretches 200 miles through the Blue Ridge and Allegheny mountains.

Region XIV includes the 19 congregations and ministries in the Shenandoah Valley: Calvary Church, Front Royal; Cathedral Shrine of the Transfiguration, Orkney Springs; Christ Church, Luray; Christ Church, Winchester; Christ the King, Harrisonburg; Cunningham Chapel Parish, Millwood; Emmanuel, Harrisonburg; Emmanuel, Woodstock; Good Shepherd of the Hills, Boonesville; Grace, Berryville; Grace Memorial, Port Republic; Meade Memorial, White Post; St. Andrew’s, Mt. Jackson; St. George’s, Stanley; St. Mary’s, Berryville; St. Paul’s, Ingham; St. Paul’s Church-on-the-Hill, Winchester; St. Stephen and the Good Shepherd, Elkton & Canterbury Episcopal Campus Ministry (James Madison University), Harrisonburg.

Mission driven, a large part of the identity of Region XIV is mission. How are we living into our baptismal vows in the Shenandoah Valley?

Here are a few things that we did in 2012:

Emmanuel, Harrisonburg, began a Sunday, Holy Eucharist in Spanish. An average of 15 new people attended this 9 am service, which also brought about 6 new children to the Sunday school. In addition, more Spanish-speaking families have begun to attend the 10:30 am service because their children prefer to worship in English.

In response to the desire of the vast majority of current and potential Latino parishioners, la misa en español will move to 2pm in 2013.

Christ Church, Luray - Our primary 2012 outreach activity was the Christ Church Cares Food Pantry, where we helped an average of 53 households per month (representing 125 individuals). At the pantry day each month, we provide fresh vegetables from the Millwood Community Garden, venison and beef from local hunters and farmers, and healthy food purchased and donated for the pantry. We gave away hams and turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and we offer a clothes closet for free clothing and toys each month. The Valley Health Coach also offered free heart health and bone density screenings on three different occasions at our church, twice on pantry days. After Superstorm Sandy, we collected over 500 pounds of coats, cleaning supplies and baby items and shipped them to Long Island for relief work in the Rockaways.

Christ Church, Winchester, is participating in the WATTS (Winchester Area Temporary Thermal...
Shelter) program this year, whereby we provide shelter and food for the homeless for a one week period. This is in conjunction with a number of other churches in the area which do the same thing for a week.

In the spring, we will have a project for Stop Hunger Now. For the last two years we have provided 15,000 meals and hope to increase that number this year.

Calvary Church, Front Royal, was the recipient of a $5,000 Diocese of Virginia Mustard Seed Grant award and a $500 Region XIV grant that we used to assist in the renovation of our parish hall kitchen in support of parish feeding programs; Backpack Buddies, which served over 8,000 meals (over 16,000 since 2011); Tuesdays Table, which served over 5,000 meals (over 31,200 since 2007); hosted the inaugural meeting for Region XIV Community College Returning Warriors outreach project ministry; utilized resources available through the Diocese to revise and implement new guidelines for gifts – coincidentally just before Calvary received a major bequest of $100,000; and With others, inaugurated an ecumenical Youth Group with Front Royal Presbyterian, Good Shepherd Evangelical Lutheran, and Asbury & Linden United Methodist churches.

St. Paul’s Church-on-the-Hill, Winchester - Our Food Pantry provided the equivalent of 65,000 meals in 2012; the Blessing of the Bikes where over 40 people and 30 bikes (motorcycles) were blessed; gleaning, helped gather apples with the Society of St. Andrew; and participated in the Salvation Army Winter Clothes Drive.

Region XV
Region XV is comprised of 19 churches within the city of Charlottesville, the county of Albemarle, and also in parts of Greene, Fluvanna, and Orange counties.

The Region XV Council met three times since our last Diocesan Council meeting. Each of our gatherings was held at a different parish within our region. Each evening began with Eucharist at 6:00, followed by time for a reception, fellowship, and dinner. The business meeting usually began at 7:30. An average attendance for each meeting was approximately 40 delegates and/or clergy.

On Thursday, May 19, we met at Trinity, Charlottesville, with Emergency Preparedness as our meeting topic for discussion, and with a presentation by Ruth Gibson on the mission of the Schoolhouse Thrift Shop. In June, I attended the Regional President’s retreat with Bishop Gulick at Shrine Mont. Thursday September 13, we met at St. Thomas’s, Orange, with the Rev. Jane Piver and the Rev. Don Cady giving a presentation on the Deaconate. On Thursday November 8, we were honored to have Suffragan Bishop Susan Goff as our guest and speaker.

Region XV has five significant outreach ministries which it supports. The Schoolhouse Thrift Shop at Rio just celebrated its 20th anniversary. It continues to be not only a wonderful place of fellowship for members of the region who volunteer there, but is also a very much needed ministry to the community. The Thrift Shop also continues to be a large contributor to the outreach budget of the region. The Ministry with the Aging, under the guidance of three marvelous missioners, continues to meet the needs of many elderly within the region. AIM serves to help those in emergency situations by helping with prescriptions, utility bills, and transportation. PACEM is a local homeless shelter and program. Again this year Region XV supported the ministry of Habitat for Humanity, in both Albemarle and Greene Counties. There are also several smaller donations given to local charities including the Mitchell House for battered women.

This has been my fourth and final year as President, as I am moving on to the Diocese Executive Board. John Savage of Emmanuel, Greenwood, has been elected the new President of the Region.

Roslyn

2012 was a busy year for Roslyn as we hosted 250 groups and organizations, served over 25,000 meals, offered complimentary clergy retreats and dished up our popular Easter Brunch. We welcomed back many groups, like the College of Bishops, CREDO, the Catholic Diocese of Richmond, the Mid-Atlantic Vipassana Network (MAVN), the Education for Ministry, the Washington National Cathedral, the Virginia Council of Churches and the International Mission Board. We were pleased to welcome several new organizations too, like the Episcopal Preaching Foundation, the Society of Children’s Book Writers and Illustrators, River Road Church – Baptist and the Youth Apostles Institute.

In the spring of 2012, Roslyn completed the renovation of the Chancellor’s Room (formerly the East Room in the Dining Hall) in honor of Russell V. Palmore, Jr, who was a long time member of the Roslyn Memorial Trustees. The room was decorated to embody the warmth and caring that Russ brought to Roslyn in his leadership role with the center. A portrait of Russ, by artist Louis Briel, was unveiled at the room’s dedication ceremony in May.

This past fall, Roslyn’s Memorial Trustees established a board designated maintenance fund for The Bishop’s Chapel. The fund’s $400,000 goal is to ensure that the chapel is properly maintained for years to come. This fund is essential to the delivery of Roslyn’s fundamental mission of serving the clergy and laity of the Diocese of Virginia.

Throughout the year, Roslyn continued the cost savings measures that were implemented in the fall of 2011. The Trustees refinanced the original loan for the debt associated with the dining hall and the new lodges. By refinancing the loan and extending the schedule from 20 to 30 years, payments were lowered substantially – resulting in an annual savings of $160,000. Collectively, budget reductions, realignment of responsibilities, and refinancing of debt have helped Roslyn realize over $250,000 in cost savings.

As we begin 2013, Tucker Hall is getting a much needed face-lift that includes removing the outdated wallpaper and painting the walls a warm, welcoming color. This will open up and brighten the space, making it more appealing to our guests.

We are also excited about a new relationship with Challenge Discovery and Signature Team Building, a company that specializes in facilitating team building activities. This partnership will offer a new type of service to the groups and organizations that come to Roslyn.

As the year continues, the Roslyn Managers Corporation has a forward focus on marketing, with a goal to develop concrete ways for Roslyn to directly impact the center’s revenue and visibility. This focus includes utilizing social media in new and different ways and establishing an intentional contact structure with our current groups and organizations.

Roslyn came into 2012 a more efficient organization and is now positioned for growth in 2013 thanks to the very hard work of the staff, the Roslyn Managers Corporation, and the Memorial Trustees. This support, when combined with that of our groups, organizations and donors, has made Roslyn’s accomplishments and growth possible.

We are looking forward to another great season in 2013 and hope that every member of the Diocese will spend some time with us.

Standing Committee
Your Standing Committee has had a full and productive year in caring for the prescribed canonical needs of the Episcopal Church as they came before us each month. Each of us values this opportunity to serve and we are particularly aware of the responsibility we hold as our many decisions involve the lives of as well as relationships with other people. A list of our specific Official Acts may be seen elsewhere in the report of this 218th Annual Council.

This group of 12 members, four each serving a three-year term rotation, begins its year-group time of being together with the celebration of Holy Eucharist and starts each gathering with prayer and devotions being offered by our members. We come from various parts of the Diocese, are both male and female, lay and ordained, gay, widowed, married and blessed partnership, employed and retired, and of varying ages. We are enabled to speak in open and honest communication with each other because we are faithful members in our own congregations and serving in ministry there. We are one of the elected bodies of the Diocese, along with your deputies to General Convention, deputies to Provincial Synod, and members of the Disciplinary Board. We are called to service by the broad range of delegates to our Council and we hold fast to God’s love for each of us.

Our canonical responsibility to receive names of those candidates seeking ordination after obtaining recommendations to us from the Committee on Priesthood or the Committee on the Diaconate, calls forth our best efforts and the Bishop Diocesan is called to wait on our decision before being able to take affirming action. We are privileged to read volumes of their paperwork of reflections in discernment and the comments of others with whom they have been in study and ministry over a period of years. We approved six persons for candidacy to the priesthood who are expected to be ordained this June to the transitional diaconate on their journey to become priests in the church. We granted approval for candidacy to seven persons as candidates to become vocational deacons. These same seven persons were approved for ordination to the diaconate which will take place on February 23, 2013 at All Saints, Richmond. We also approved the ordination of eleven persons to the priesthood.

We gave our approval to accept two candidates coming from the Roman Catholic tradition to have their ordination in a church in apostolic succession, but not in communion with the Episcopal Church recognized, and then we gave approval to receive them into our tradition.

Another focus of our responsibilities is in connection with church property. Each of our three actions involved distinct and different changes. One was an exchange of boundaries on each side of a common driveway – we actually gained more land while making clearer sense of where the road boundary should be as they lead to the two entities. Another was an easement sought by the state to use land to install a sidewalk, a decision in which we had no choice but to agree but, canonically, we had to give permission. The third was to give an easement to a telephone company to erect their own pole for wires on church property after years of using, unknowingly, a church pole upon which to hang the telephone wires. Clearly, our church members gained benefits from all of these decisions.

One church sought our approval to change regional identification. While originally located in the region of their founding parish, in the ensuing years their mission, ministry and identity now are more affiliated with communities in another. We were happy to grant permission for this to take place with the prior approval and recommendation of each region.
It was joyous to hear the presentations of lay and ordained persons from three parishes coming to us with sound plans for incurring debt. Their growing needs and increased focus in ministry made these decisions for expanding and renovating their properties necessary. It is encouraging to hear about the spread of the gospel in their areas where people are joining their communities of worship and their additional needs. We wish them well and will keep in contact with them over the next few years to support and uplift what is happening. There are several additional congregations who currently have liaisons of Standing Committee members to their parishes as they work through the process before coming to see us.

We filled another canonical responsibility by consenting to the appointment of a new Registrar for the Diocese. The incoming members will have this opportunity to affirm a diocesan staff person when the new Secretary of the Diocese is named.

We approved a positive renouncement of vows for a priest who is relocating to the Anglican Church in Canada. This is a General Church requirement even though the person continues to be a priest within the Anglican Communion.

Our polity has been enhanced by the presence that the Diocese of Virginia has given to the participation of youth and collegiate delegates. While youth delegates are raised up from within Regions, it is our place to affirm the election of two collegiate delegates. This year’s delegates come from the Canterbury Ministries at James Madison University and from the University of Virginia, Charlottesville programs. We hope, with the second reading of the proposal at this Council, that each of our college chaplaincies will be able to send the name of a delegate for approval in future years.

We are tasked by the General Church to grant approval to hold an election for bishops and affirmation or rejection for bishops who are elected. This year we gave approval to two dioceses to do so, one for a Bishop Diocesan and the other for a Bishop Suffragan. Additionally, we must have a majority of members give consent to elections in all other dioceses to any bishop elected. Because this was a year when General Convention met, six of these approvals happened at the Convention.

We have given approval for two other persons elected Bishop during our deliberation period. This will no longer be the method of approval – due to actions taken at the General Convention, all approvals for election of bishops, in addition to approvals needed by a majority of Bishops Diocesan, will come before Standing Committees for action.

In my role as President, it was a distinct privilege to have the role of presenting Bishop-elect Susan E. Goff to the Committee on the Election of Bishops during General Convention, and of reading the affirmation of the election of our Bishop Suffragan Susan E. Goff at her consecration service last July.

Lest you think that all of our business is voting approvals and affirming or rejecting items needing consent, much of our time is also spent in pastoral ministry. Bishop Johnston dedicated his time in conversation and consultation with us in our crucial role as Council of Advice to the Bishop during the morning gathering of each of our meetings, missing only two for other, wider calls of service. This was a nourishing and nurturing time for all of us and our conversations on behalf of the people of this Diocese and the Episcopal Church and wider Anglican Communion were wide-spread, filled with open sharing, debate and discernment, with care for each other and with the presence of the Holy Spirit. In being able to have these conversations, the gifts of each person were able to unfold as needed and to enhance the ways we sought to move forward in every instance.

We enjoyed getting to know our recently arrived Canon to the Ordinary, the Rev. Canon Pat Wingo, when he joined us for a meeting. Our Diocese is blessed with the gifts he brings to share among us and for what he expects to learn from and with us. Two of our members joined twenty-plus members of the various committees that function under the heading of the Commission on Ministry for the second time at a retreat under his leadership this fall at Shrine Mont. The sharing of information about our inter-activity and the impact each of our various places of service has on the other was enlightening to all. We look forward to places of enhanced growth under his focused direction of raising up leadership, lay and ordained, in our diocese.

We have sent a letter, with Bishop Johnston’s approval, of faithful and faith-filled support, to the Episcopal Diocese of South Carolina. Members of the Standing Committee will continue to work to be aware of what is happening there and the ways that our experiences over the past few years may be of assistance in understanding and in pastoral care.

None of our work could move forward without the capable and gracious support of persons at Mayo House. Henry Burt has been most generous in his time and efforts to keep us apprised of ongoing actions with continuing congregations and needs that have arisen with the positive return of properties to the Diocese. Sometimes, our advice and then consent is needed for action to continue to move forward without final decisions in place but often it is a matter of open dialogue but privileged communication. Mike Kerr is a valuable consultant especially in all things financial. We rely on Ed Keithly for communications about those in the ordination process and for the many needed attachments to emails that we must read and make ourselves aware of as we hold conversations with candidates. Amy Williams assists us in the way things need to flow between Bishop Johnston and our group.

The class of 2013 has been filled with changes. We were called to release lay member Paul Brockman to eternal life and to accept the call of the Rev. Michael Pipkin to ministry in a parish in the Diocese of North Carolina. We were blessed last year with the appointment of others, Mareea Wilson and the Rev. Bob Malm, to sit at the table. Elections at last year’s Council filled our year-group seats to complete the term with faithful service offered by Steve Van Voorhees and the Rev. Bob Malm. The Rev. Abbott Bailey has been a faithful presence throughout these many adjustments. All has been a blessing.

This gathering of 12, known as your Standing Committee, who grew in strength, understanding and community through dedicated work, brings special friendships that will forever be a bond. I am thankful for the presence, voices and service of my other colleagues – from the class of 2014, Frank Baxter, Janet Peyton, the Reverend Wes Smedley, Secretary of the Committee, and the Reverend Jackie Thomson, and from the class of 2015, the Honorable Jane Delbridge, the Reverend Lucia Lloyd, the Reverend Sven vanBaars, and Mareea Wilson. May God continue to bless this work being done on behalf of others for the enrichment of God’s kingdom.

Committee on the Stewardship of Creation

Mission:
1. Help parishes identify and implement ways to become even better stewards of God’s creation.
2. Offer ideas for action to help restore and protect the Earth.
3. Provide theological and scientific materials on environmental matters and spirituality.
4. Encourage dialogue on the environment and our faith.

Objectives:
We share information about ongoing environmental and sustainability issues. The SoCC Vice-Chair (Mr. Tal Day) maintains the SoCC website providing access to information and resources. See http://www.caringforgodscreation.net

The SoCC blogs on topical issues deemed important to spur additional conversation. See http://www.caringforgodscreation.net/Blog/. SoCC blogs include Climate Change and Justice, World Hunger, Energy, Water Quality, Water Supply, and Sustainable Agricultural Systems.
The SoCC’s weekly "eBlast" provides practical information for our Parish Partner’s Sunday bulletins, weekly emails, and monthly newsletters. (If your parish currently does not receive these eBlasts, please contact Lesley Markham at markhamlesley@hotmail.com!)

We help people to understand environmental issues as religious concerns. The Committee is guided by a “Spiritual Co-Chair,” a member of our Clergy (vacant as of the end of 2012).

We conduct conferences on issues related to faith and the environment. The 2010 and 2011 conferences focused on “Water Sustainability.” The September 2012 conference focused on “Food and Agricultural Sustainability” and included experts in public policy, organic farming, preservation of agricultural land, water and energy resources, sustainable livestock production, and the challenges of global food insecurity. See http://www.caringforgodscreation.net/Annual_Conferences/ The September 2013 conference will continue focusing on food and agricultural sustainability issues.

We provide articles and SoCC events for the ‘Virginia Episcopalian’ and weekly Diocesan e-Communiques. See, e.g., the Virginia Episcopalian, Winter 2013 (‘Feed My Sheep,’ by Martha Burford, at page 26).

Virginia Diocesan Homes

Virginia Diocesan Homes, Inc. (VDH) has been designated by the Annual Council as the diocesan agency through which institutional care of the aging is maintained. VDH’s mission includes encouraging the development of new residential care communities for aging people in the Diocese and maintaining liaison with the five existing CCRC’s with six locations and the HUD subsidized facility as follows:

Goodwin House in Alexandria and Baileys Crossroads: 459 units
Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury Irvington: 232 units
Shenandoah Valley Westminster-Canterbury Winchester: 312 units
Westminster-Canterbury of the Blue Ridge Charlottesville: 374 units
Westminster-Canterbury Richmond: 850 units
Lockwood-Elmwood House Arlington (HUD): 150 units

The VDH board meets quarterly and rotates its meetings between the seven locations throughout the Diocese giving board members a chance to observe the facility and hear from the administrator as to the condition and operation of the facility. Each of the CCRS’s maintains a Foundation which can offer financial aid to residents who have out lived their assets. Lockwood-Elmwood, because of the HUD subsidy, runs a constant waiting list for entry. Several of the CCRC’s are restructuring their unit mix to offer more of the larger in demand units vs. the smaller studio’s that were original constructed. This will keep them current with market trends in the industry and keep occupancies up. Several CCRC’s are also exploring in home care as an option to further leverage their expertise and bricks and mortar facilities.

In addition to monitoring the existing facilities, VDH scheduling meetings with the different Regions to talk about (1) what the existing CCRC’s have to offer and schedule presentations with individual Churches and (2) see if any of the Churches within the Diocese have land they would like to use for the construction of moderate income retirement housing. To date we have met with Regions I and V and have scheduled Regions X and IX.

VDH is actively seeking interested Churches to sponsor a moderate income housing project in their area, either on their land or Diocesan land that might be available. Management capability already exists with either the CCRC’s that are close by or the management company that handles Lockwood-Elmwood House. These will most likely be not for profit structures with no financial liability to the Church or Diocese. VDH will assist with that structure and has funds for initial studies. Thus far we have two churches in the northern part of the Diocese, two in the central portion and two wests.

If your Church has an interest in any of the VDH areas, please contact us directly through Mayo House or by contacting Mary Holly Bigelow at 7613 Hollins Road, Richmond, Va. 23229 or e-mail maryholly@verizon.net.

Executive Board
The Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia

Report on the Financial Statements
We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of The Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia, which comprises the statement of financial position as of December 31, 2012, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. The prior year summarized comparative information has been derived from the Diocese’s financial statements as of December 31, 2011 and for the year then ended whose report, dated June 18, 2012, expressed an unqualified opinion on those statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion
In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia as of December 31, 2012, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
Report on Supplementary Information

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the financial statements taken as a whole. The accompanying supplemental schedules on pages 20 - 27 are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements. The information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statements and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements or to the financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the information is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1—Organization and nature of activities

The Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia (Diocese) is a community of members and clergy in counties throughout central, northern, and northwestern Virginia. Established in 1785, the Diocese serves the world through its congregations, schools, diocesan centers, and diocesan homes.

Note 2—Summary of significant accounting policies

Reporting Entity and Related Organizations - These statements present the financial position, changes in net assets and cash flows for funds under control of the Annual Council of the Diocese. The statements do not present such information on individual church, parish, or regional organizations or separately organized and controlled entities in the Diocese, such as Trustees of the Funds of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia, Inc. (Trustees of the Funds), Memorial Trustees under the will of Annie Rose Walker and Roslyn Managers Corporation (Memorial Trustees), Diocesan Missionary Society of Virginia (DMS), Church Schools of the Diocese of Virginia (CSDV), The Episcopal Church Women, Virginia Diocesan Homes and Shrine Mont, Inc. (Shrine Mont).

Basis of Presentation - The Diocese is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets and permanently restricted net assets. The financial statements report amounts separately by class of assets as follows:

Unrestricted – amounts are those currently available at the discretion of the Annual Council of the Diocese for use in operations and those resources invested in property or equipment.

Temporarily restricted – amounts are those which are stipulated by donors for specific purposes. When a donor restriction expires, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.

Permanently restricted – amounts are restricted to investments in perpetuity, the income from which is expendable in accordance with the conditions of each specific donation.

Fund Accounting - In order to ensure observance of limitations and restrictions placed on the use of resources available to the Diocese, its accounts are maintained in accordance with the principles of fund accounting. Resources for various purposes are classified for accounting and reporting purposes into funds established according to their nature and purpose. Separate accounts are maintained for each fund; however, in the accompanying financial statements, funds that have similar characteristics have been combined into fund groups. Accordingly, all financial transactions have been recorded and reported by fund group.

Operating Funds - Operating funds include the unrestricted funds available for operations controlled by the annual Diocesan budget.

Designated Funds - Designated funds include the unrestricted funds which have been designated by the Annual Council of the Diocese for specific purposes and amounts received from donors which are classified as either temporarily restricted or permanently restricted according to donor intent.

Development Funds - Development funds include amounts raised for the Fifth Century Fund Campaign and Mustard Seed campaigns and are temporarily restricted based on the donor's intent.

Other Funds - Other funds include amounts received from donors that are either undesignated or designated as temporarily restricted or permanently restricted to primarily support capital needs, Bishop discretionary funds and various parish and mission needs of the Diocese. Net assets are released from restrictions by incurring expenses satisfying the purpose restriction specified by the donor. Undesignated amounts also include unrestricted earnings that are available to the Annual Council of the Diocese.

Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Such estimates also affect the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates and assumptions.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - For purposes of reporting cash flows, the Diocese considers demand deposits and investments with a purchased maturity of less than three months to be cash and cash equivalents.

Property and Equipment - Property and equipment are stated at cost. Major additions are capitalized. Repairs and renewals are expensed. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over a useful life of between five and seven years.

Income Tax Status - The Diocese is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code; accordingly, the accompanying financial statements do not reflect a provision or liability for federal and state income taxes. The Diocese has determined that it does not have any material unrecognized tax benefits or obligations as of December 31, 2012.

Concentration of Credit Risk - Financial instruments which potentially subject the Diocese to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of temporary cash investments and trade receivables. The Diocese places its cash and cash equivalents on deposit with financial institutions in the United States. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) provides insurance coverage for up to $250,000 for substantially all depository accounts and temporarily provides unlimited coverage, through December 31, 2012, for certain qualifying and participating non-interest bearing transaction accounts; however, effective January 1, 2013, the FDIC discontinued the additional unlimited coverage. The Diocese, from time to time may have amounts on deposit in excess of the insured limits; however the Diocese has not experienced any losses in such amounts. As of December 31, 2012, the Diocese had $1,457,901 in deposits that exceeded these insured limits.

Real Estate - The Diocese holds real estate, recorded at cost, as a part of mission development projects in various regions. The intent is to transfer the properties to the particular parishes when they are authorized to appoint their own Trustees. The real estate acquired through the property litigation as described in Note 16 has been recorded at the property’s fair value at the time of acquisition. It will be carried at the acquisition date fair value until such time as it is either disposed of or the value is deemed to be permanently impaired.

Property titled to Trustees of individual congregations is not recorded by the Diocese. Under the Canon law of the Episcopal Church, this property is held in trust, in the names of the individual churches, for the benefit of the Episcopal Church and the Diocese.

Investments with the Church Schools in the Diocese of Virginia (CSDV) represent funds pooled with other affiliates of CSDV and invested in commercial paper, corporate bonds, and loans to member schools. Funds can be added or withdrawn at any time. Revenue arising from the ownership or disposition of pooled investments is allocated to the various funds based on the ownership interest of such funds in the investment pool. The majority of the fund was withdrawn in 2012, with the balance being withdrawn in 2013.

In 2012, the Trustees of the Funds of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia opened a fully liquid short-term asset management pool (STAMP) utilizing short-term and ultra-short-term bond funds as well as a fixed income fund through SunTrust Bank. In 2012, the Diocese began using STAMP as a short-term investment pool.

The Diocese also has amounts invested with Trustees of the Funds of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia through a unitized investment pool for Diocesan organizations and parishes within the Diocese of Virginia. The funds are held as part of a diversified managed endowment model portfolio. Investment earnings net of fees are allocated to the participants based on units.

Note 7—Related-party transactions

The Diocese provides administrative and accounting services to several related organizations. Memorial Trustees, Trustees of the Funds (TOTF), Diocesan Missionary Society (DMS), and Shrine Mont, Inc. reimburse the Diocese for a portion of the salary and benefits of the accounting staff under a "common paymaster" arrangement. Under this arrangement, any person employed by several related organizations is compensated by one organization, which is reimbursed by the other organizations. During 2012, salary costs incurred and subsequently reimbursed were $8,909, $136,297, $32,417 and $7,410 for Memorial Trustees, Trustees of the Funds, Diocesan Missionary Society, and Shrine Mont, Inc., respectively.

Trustees of the Funds, a nonstock, nonprofit corporation, was established in 1892 to receive, hold and invest gifts and bequests of real and personal property for the Diocese, including the Mayo Memorial House, which is used as the general offices of the Diocese. The Diocese receives free use of the Mayo Memorial House. The value of this nonexchange transaction is not reflected in the financial statements.

The Diocese runs camps and conferences as a part of their summer programs. These activities are held at Shrine Mont, which is a separate Diocesan retreat facility. During 2012, the Diocese paid $381,870 for room and board to Shrine Mont as a part of these programs.

In 2012, the Diocese extended the settlement date to July 1, 2014. The Diocese agreed to purchase the property from DMS for the original purchase price plus any expenses DMS incurs related to the acquiring, investing, and developing the property. Note 14—Fair value measurements

Accounting standards establish a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described below:

Level 1 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Diocese has the ability to access.

Level 2 - Inputs to the valuation methodology include:
- quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
- quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
- inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
- inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means. If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

Level 3 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

The asset or liability's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value. There have been no changes in the methodologies used during 2012.

Trustees of the Funds: Valued on the basis of the net asset value of units held by TOTF at year-end.

CSDV pool: Valued at the allocated closing relative value of pooled assets.

Beneficial interest in trusts: Valued using the fair value of the underlying assets of the trust as an estimate for the present value of the expected future cash flows.

Pledges receivable: Pledges receivable are reported at net realizable value if at the time the promise is made payment is expected to be received in one year or less. Pledges receivable that are expected to be collected in more than one year are reported at fair value initially and in subsequent periods. Fair value is calculated as the present value of the expected future pledges to be received using a discount rate.

The preceding methods described may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, although the Diocese believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

All amounts held by TOTF are held in one account with minimal restrictive redemption provisions and no unfunded commitment requirements. TOTF is managed with the overall investment objective of preserving a steady and consistent spending stream for the support of fund participants. The asset structure reflects TOTF’s needs for liquidity, preservation of purchasing power, long-term growth of principal, and risk tolerance. TOTF investments are comprised of three parts: a bond fund, an equity fund and a short-term fund. Each one has specific objectives and policy guidelines.

Note 15—Endowment funds

The Diocese’s endowment consists of twenty-six individual funds held in the Other Funds group and one individual fund held in the Designated Funds group. These funds are all donor-restricted endowment funds and were established for a variety of purposes. As required by generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), net assets associated with these endowment funds are classified and reported based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions.

The management of donor-restricted endowment funds is governed by state law under the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) as adopted by the Virginia state legislature in 2008. The law gives guidance for investment and spending practices, giving consideration for donor-intent and the organization's overall resources and charitable purpose. Based on their interpretation of law and in compliance with donor intent, the Diocese classifies as permanently restricted net assets the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment. The portion of the donor-restricted endowment that is not classified as permanently restricted net assets is classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure.

The Diocese appropriates amounts for expenditure based upon accumulated earnings in the funds and the needs of the organization. The primary objective is long-term capital appreciation and total return. The Diocese utilizes diversified investment classes that provide the opportunity to achieve the return objectives without exposing the funds to unnecessary risk.

A summary of the activity in endowment funds for the year ended December 31, 2012 is as follows:

All of the above temporarily restricted net assets are from purpose-restricted endowment. Amounts shown as unrestricted at year-end represent funds where the fair value of assets has fallen below the level required to be held as permanently restricted. These deficiencies resulted from unfavorable market fluctuations that occurred after the investment of new permanently restricted contributions.
Note 16—Real and personal property settlement

On January 10, 2012, the Circuit Court of Fairfax County ruled in favor of the Diocese of Virginia and the Episcopal Church in the property litigation that began in December 2006. The Court held that the Diocese of Virginia and the Episcopal Church have contractual and proprietary rights in the real and personal properties at issue, and directed all real property and all personal property acquired prior to January 31, 2007 be conveyed to the Bishop of Virginia. On March 1, 2012 the Court entered a final order, ruling that the transfer of the property must occur by April 30, 2012. All transfers have been completed with the exception of one. The Diocese currently has a court case pending with one congregation about monetary property that is due to the Diocese. The case has gone back to the Virginia Supreme Court per the request of the congregation for a rehearing. As of the June 19, 2013, there has been no final ruling on this outstanding case.

Note 17—Comparative totals

The summarized amounts shown for 2011 in the accompanying financial statements are included to provide a basis for comparison with 2012 and are not intended to present all information necessary for a fair presentation of the summarized 2011 statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with the Diocese's financial statements for 2011, from which the summarized information was derived.

Note 18—Subsequent events

In preparing these financial statements, the Diocese has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through June 19, 2013, the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

Report on the Financial Statements

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Trustees of the Funds of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia, Inc., as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, and the schedule of investments, statement of activities, changes in its net assets and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

TRUSTEES OF THE FUNDS OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1—Organization and nature of activities

Trustees of the Funds of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia, Inc. (the “Corporation”) a not-for-profit corporation established under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia acts as an investment agency for Diocesan organizations and parishes in the Diocese of Virginia (the “Diocese”). The Corporation also receives and holds real property and designated funds for the Diocese, including the Mayo House.

Note 2—Summary of significant accounting policies

Basis of Presentation - Operations for investment activities are conducted in a manner similar to common trust funds. The operations of each fund are accounted for separately. The funds included in the financial statements are described below:

Parish Funds account for investment funds managed for churches and church-related organizations located within the Diocese.

Diocesan Funds account for investment funds controlled by the separate Diocesan organizations.

Trustee Funds account for investment funds held for the benefit of the Diocese which are primarily controlled by the Bishop.

The Mayo Memorial Fund accounts for the cost of the Mayo House, the general offices of the Diocese.

Land and Building - The land and building comprising the Mayo House are considered investments by the Corporation. The properties are not depreciated and are stated at cost. All property-related expenses are paid by these affiliates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - The Corporation includes all investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased as cash and cash equivalents on the accompanying statement of financial position.

Investment Units - The equity of each fund in the pooled net assets is represented by investment units. New money entering the pool is accepted at the unit value of net assets as of the last day of the previous month in which the deposit is made. The number of new units bought is determined by dividing the new money by the unit value. Withdrawals from the pool are determined in the same unit value manner based on similar unit value.

Distribution to Unitholders - The income allotted to each fund is computed monthly based on the number of units owned during the month. An income distribution is made at least annually. Distributions of $55.84 and $54.65 per unit, aggregating $4,328,280 and $3,954,911, were paid to unitholders in 2012 and 2011, respectively.

Income Taxes - The Corporation is exempt from income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and the tax statutes of the Commonwealth of Virginia; accordingly, the accompanying financial statements do not reflect a provision or liability for federal and state income taxes. The Corporation has determined that it does not have any material unrecognized tax benefits or obligations as of December 31, 2012. Fiscal years ending on or after 2009 remain subject to examination by federal and state tax authorities.

Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Such estimates also affect the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates and assumptions.

Concentration of Credit Risk - The Corporation's credit risk consists principally of cash and securities. Cash positions are part of the managed investment portfolio and are not FDIC insured accounts. The investment portfolio is divided among many securities and several money managers. This policy mitigates the Corporation's exposure to concentrations of credit risk.

Note 3—Note receivable

The note receivable, which is an asset of the Diocesan Funds, is a $100,000 note from the Diocesan Missionary Society of Virginia. The note is due in semiannual installments of $2,750 (interest only) at 5.5% with principal due on November 22, 2019.

Note 4—Land and building

Land and building, which are assets of the Mayo Memorial Fund, are stated at cost and consist of the following at December 31:

Note 5—Fair value measurements

Accounting standards establish a framework for measuring fair value. That framework provides a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described below:

Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Corporation has the ability to access.
TRUSTEES OF THE FUNDS OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN THE DIOCESE OF VIRGINIA, INC.

Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include:
- quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
- quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
- inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
- inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.
If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

The asset or liability's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value. There have been no changes in the methodologies used at December 31, 2012.

Debt and equity securities: Valued at the closing price reported on the active market on which the individual securities are traded. Corporate bonds are valued based on bond pricing models using standard inputs such as benchmark yields, reported trades, and broker/dealer quotes.

Mutual funds: Valued at the net asset value (“NAV”) of shares held by the Corporation at year-end.

Hedge funds, real estate and natural resources, and private equity funds: Valued at the Corporation’s pro-rata interest in the net assets of these entities. Investments held by these entities are valued at prices which approximate fair value. The fair value of certain investments in the underlying entities, which may include private placements and other securities for which values are not readily available, are determined in good faith by the investment advisors of the respective entities and may not reflect amounts that could be realized upon immediate sale, nor amounts that may be ultimately realized. The estimated fair values may differ significantly from the values that would have been used had a ready market existed for these investments, and these differences could be material. Net asset valuations are provided daily, monthly, or quarterly by these entities. Appreciation of investments in these entities is net of all allocations to the investment advisors.

The preceding methods described may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, although the Corporation believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

Note 7—Related-party transactions

The Diocese provides administrative and accounting services to several related organizations including Trustees of the Funds. The Corporation reimburses the Diocese for a portion of the salary and benefits of the accounting staff under a "common paymaster" arrangement. Under this arrangement, any person employed by several related organizations is compensated by one organization, which is reimbursed by the other organizations. Salary costs incurred and subsequently reimbursed by Trustees of the Funds were $128,886 and $105,479 as of and for the year ended December 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively. The Corporation had a related-party receivable with the Diocese in the amount of $56,498 and $44,382 as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively.

As described in Note 3, a note receivable of $100,000 is outstanding from the Diocesan Missionary Society of Virginia as of December 31, 2012 and 2011.

Note 8—Commitments and contingencies

The Corporation has guaranteed a line of credit to the Diocese. The Diocese has a $4,000,000 line of credit available from a bank to fund cash requirements through July 31, 2013. As of December 31, 2012, the Diocese had an outstanding balance on this line of $2,493,910. The line of credit carries an interest rate of the British Bankers Association London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR") plus 1.15% (1.36% at December 31, 2012). Repayment of the line of credit is due in full upon the sale of real estate located in Prince William County or at July 31, 2013, whichever occurs first. Advances are limited to 80% of the unrestricted market securities held by the Corporation. The collateralization and guarantee by the Corporation of the Diocesan line of credit was not renewed at the expiration date of July 31, 2012. This was completed at the request of the Diocese and of the lender due to the reduced level of the line of credit being renewed effective August 1, 2012.

Note 9—Subsequent events

In preparing these financial statements, the Corporation has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through August 21, 2013, the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

Board of Trustees
Diocesan Missionary Society of Virginia

Report on the Financial Statements
We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the Diocesan Missionary Society of Virginia which comprises the statements of financial position as of December 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion
In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Diocesan Missionary Society of Virginia as of December 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
Report on Supplementary Information
Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the financial statements taken as a whole. The accompanying supplementary schedules on pages 15 - 19, are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements. The information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statements and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements or to the financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the information is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTES TO FINANCIALS

Note 1—Organization and nature of activities

The purpose of the Diocesan Missionary Society of Virginia (Society) is to assist in missionary work within the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia (Diocese). This is accomplished by seeking gifts, loans and property in order to make low interest loans available for the extension of the mission of the Diocese. The Society also owns property used by others assisting in the missionary work of the Diocese.

Note 2—Summary of significant accounting policies

Basis of Presentation - The Society is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets and permanently restricted net assets. The financial statements report amounts separately by class of assets as follows:

- Unrestricted - amounts are those currently available at the discretion of the Society's Board of Trustees for use in operations and those resources invested in property or equipment.

- Temporarily restricted - amounts are those which are stipulated by donors for specific purposes. When a donor restriction expires, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.

- Permanently restricted - amounts are restricted to investments in perpetuity, the income from which is expendable in accordance with the conditions of each specific donation.

Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Such estimates also affect the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates and assumptions.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - For purposes of reporting cash flows, the Society considers demand deposits and investments with a purchased maturity of less than three months to be cash and cash equivalents.

Concentration of Credit Risk - Financial instruments which potentially subject the Society to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of temporary cash investments and trade receivables. The Society places its cash and cash equivalents on deposit with financial institutions in the United States. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) provided insurance coverage for up to $250,000 for substantially all depository accounts and temporarily provides unlimited coverage, through December 31, 2012, for certain qualifying and participating non-interest bearing transaction accounts; however, effective January 1, 2013, the FDIC discontinued the additional unlimited coverage. The Society from time to time may have amounts on deposit in excess of the insured limits; however, the Society has not experienced any losses in such amounts. As of December 31, 2012, the Company had $7,868 which exceeded these insured amounts.

Investments - Investments are presented at fair value. Investments received as gifts are recorded at fair value as of the date of gift. Investment income, including realized and unrealized gains and losses, is recorded in the statements of activities and allocated between restrictions according to the underlying nature of the net asset fund to which it was earned.

Loans Receivable and Bad Debt Expense - The Society provides low interest financing to churches and other entities within the Diocese. The loans bear interest at 2.8%-7.25% and are due within five years; however, the Society often grants extensions in five year increments up to 30 years. The loans are typically collateralized by deeds of trust on real estate or by securities. Uncollateralized loans consist of an $800,000 construction loan that will accrue interest until December 31, 2013, at which time the accrued interest will be capitalized and amortized over 25 years. On February 6, 2013, a deed of trust was executed thus securing this loan. Management has determined that an allowance of $32,000 is necessary for 2012 due to the uncollectibility of interest receivable related to the $800,000 construction loan. Bad debt expense was $32,000 and $0 for the years ended December 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011.

Real Estate - Real estate is recorded at cost or, in the case of gifts of real estate, at fair value on the date of the gift. Depreciation of buildings is computed using the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives of 30 years.

Revenue Recognition - Interest income from loans is recognized over the term of the loan and is computed using the simple interest method. Investment income, which is primarily interest income, is recognized when earned. Donated land is reflected in the accompanying statements at its estimated fair value at the date of donation.

Valuation of Long-Lived Assets - Accounting standards require that long-lived assets be reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of the long-lived asset is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of the asset to future undiscounted net cash flows expected to be generated by the asset. If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the estimated fair value of the assets. Assets to be disposed of are reportable at the lower of the carrying amount or fair value, less costs to sell. There was no impairment recognized in 2012 or 2011.

Income Tax Status - The Society is exempt from income taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and the tax statutes of the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Society has determined that it does not have any material unrecognized tax benefits or obligations as of December 31, 2012. Through its affiliation with the Diocese, the Society is not required to file returns with federal or state tax authorities.

Note 3—Investments

Investments are reported at fair value. The market values are as follows at December 31:

Trustees of the Funds of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia (TOTF) is a unitized investment pool for Diocesan organizations and parishes within the Diocese of Virginia. Investors participate in a diversified investment portfolio based on a unitized per share price structure and allocation methodology.
Note 4—Fair value measurement

Accounting standards establish a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The hierarchy assigns the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described below:

Level 1 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Society has the ability to access.

Level 2 - Inputs to the valuation methodology include:
- quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
- quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
- inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
- inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.

If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

Level 3 - Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

The asset or liability's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value. There have been no changes in the methodologies used at December 31, 2012.

Trustees of the Funds (TOTF) - valued on the basis of the net asset value of units held by TOTF at year-end.

The preceding methods described may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, although the Society believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

All amounts held by TOTF are held in one account with no restrictive redemption provisions and no unfunded commitment requirements. TOTF is managed with the overall investment objective of preserving a steady and consistent spending stream for the support of fund participants. The asset structure reflects TOTF’s needs for liquidity, preservation of purchasing power, long-term growth of principal, and risk tolerance of TOTF. TOTF investments are comprised of three parts: a bond fund, an equity fund and a short-term fund. Each one has specific objectives and policy guidelines.

Note 5—Real estate

The Society has title to land and buildings which are used only for church related activities within the Diocese of Virginia. Real estate consists of the following at December 31:

During 2006, the Society entered into an assignment of residential sales contract with the Diocese to purchase 13.6 acres in Hanover County, Virginia. Under the terms of the contract, the Society assumed the Diocese's purchase commitment and the Diocese agreed to purchase the property from the Society within five years of the settlement date of June 9, 2006. The Diocese will purchase the property from the Society for the original purchase price plus any expenses the Society incurs related to acquiring, investigating, and developing the property. In February 2012, the Society approved a three-year extension of the settlement date to July 1, 2014.

The book value of the land and development costs was $1,287,147 at December 31, 2012 and 2011 and is included in real estate on the statements of financial position.

Note 6—Notes payable

Notes payable consist of uncollateralized loans from churches. These loans are used to provide funds for capital improvements to churches. The loans are evidenced by negotiable promissory notes which bear interest from 3.50% to 6.50%. Generally, interest on all notes is payable each June 30th and December 31st, with principal generally due 5 to 15 years from the date of issue.

Aggregate principal maturities of the notes payable are presented below; however, these schedules represent scheduled maturities and the notes have traditionally been renegotiated for an additional 5 to 15 year period.

Note 8—Endowment

The Society’s endowment consists of the Reid Fund, Revolving Loan Fund and Other Endowed Fund. All of these funds are donor-restricted endowments.

The management of donor-restricted endowment funds is governed by state law under the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) as adopted by the Virginia state legislature in 2008. The law gives guidance for investment and spending practices, giving consideration for donor-intent and the organization’s overall resources and charitable purpose. Based on their interpretation of law and in compliance with donor intent, the Society classifies as permanently restricted net assets the original value of the gifts donated to permanent endowment.

The Reid Fund is invested long-term and is managed to generate additional resources for use in accordance with the donor’s intent. The primary objective is long-term capital appreciation and consistency of total portfolio return without undue exposure to risk. Amounts are appropriated for expenditure annually based on distributions from the TOTF investments (4.75% spending policy for 2012 and 2011) and interest and dividends earned on other investments. In accordance with donor intent, this distribution is sent to the Diocese for use in mission work. The portion of the donor-restricted Reid Fund that is not classified as permanently restricted net assets is classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure.

Other permanently restricted funds are amounts contributed by donors and required to be held in perpetuity for lending to churches which are held in a Revolving Loan Fund and Other Endowed Fund. The loans to churches are collateralized and financial information of the borrowers is monitored to reduce the risk of loss. Earnings on amounts held as part of the Revolving Loan Fund are added to the unrestricted revolving fund in accordance with donor intentions and earnings on the Other Endowed Fund are distributed annually to beneficiaries as designated by the donors.

Whereas, the civil government in the Virginia Colony from time to time established within the bounds of the Colony parishes of the Established Church of England in Virginia, which parishes continued as such until the Church was disestablished by the several acts of the General Assembly of Virginia in 1784; and

Whereas, the Protestant Episcopal Church of Virginia was organized in May, 1785, by a union of all the parishes of the disestablished Church of England within the bounds of the Commonwealth of Virginia and took part in the organization of the union of all the Protestant Episcopal Churches of the several States and, by its own formal ratification of the plan of union, became the Diocese of Virginia of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America; and

Whereas, the original Diocese of Virginia, embracing the entire State, has since been divided into several Dioceses, one of which remains established as the Diocese of Virginia;

Now, Therefore, the Diocese of Virginia acknowledges the authority and power of the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, as set forth in the Constitution and Canons adopted thereby, and, in the exercise of its own powers and authority, doth amend and revise the Constitution of this Diocese so that the same shall read as follows:
The Constitution of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia

Order, Government and Discipline.

The order, government, and discipline of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia shall be vested in the Bishop, and in the Council of the Diocese, constituted as provided in Article III hereof, which shall have power to adopt Canons, and take any other action for the conduct of its affairs not in conflict with this Constitution.

Article II.
Meetings of Council.

The Council shall hold on a weekend, upon the date designated by the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese, a regular annual meeting at the place designated by the preceding regular meeting of the Council. The Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese may, for any cause deemed by it to be sufficient, change the time, or the place, or both, for any regular meeting of the Council. At meetings of the Council, the Rules of Order of the previous meeting shall be in force until they are amended or repealed by the Council.

Article III.
Composition of the Council.

Section 1

Assignment to a Region shall be by majority vote of all members of the Standing Committee, which may create as many Regions as it wishes, but not less than nine nor more than twenty, each containing at least two or more geographically contiguous Churches.

Section 2. The Vestry or Vestry Committee of any Church which desires to change to another Region shall petition the Standing Committee for such change, stating reasons, and including with the petition the views of both Regional Councils affected by the change. The Standing Committee shall decide the change by majority vote of all its members.

Section 3. The Standing Committee shall notify the Bishop, the Bishop Coadjutor, if there be one, and the Suffragan Bishops, if there be such, the Executive Board, and the Secretary of the Diocese promptly of any change in the number or compositions of Regions, and shall provide annually to the Council a list of the Regions and their member Churches, which shall be published in the Journal of the Council.

Section 4. In each Region there shall be a Regional Council, subject to the following provisions:

(a) Each church of the Region shall be represented by its active Clergy and as many Lay persons, elected by its Vestry or Vestry Committee, as it has Lay Delegates to the Council of the Diocese. Qualifications for election to Regional Councils shall be the same as for election to a Vestry.

(b) The Dean shall call the first meeting of a Regional Council, which shall then organize itself, electing Lay Members as President and Vice-President, respectively. Each Council shall elect such other officers as it desires and shall establish a schedule of regular meetings. Special meetings may be called by any Bishop, by the Dean, by the President, or at the request of the representatives of any two constituent Churches.

(c) All terms of office shall be determined by each Regional Council, and shall expire at the conclusion of the regular meeting of the Council of the Diocese in the appropriate year. Notice, and the results, of any election shall be forwarded to the Secretary of the Diocese at the conclusion of Council.

(d) Each Regional Council shall elect one member and one alternate member of the Executive Board. That member and alternate member must be a Lay person eligible for election to the Vestry of a Church in the Region or members of its active Clergy, and may not be the Dean of the Region or a member of the Standing Committee. Such member and alternate member shall be elected for a term of three years and shall both be of the same order. The positions shall alternate between Lay and Clerical incumbents. The rotation of members shall be established by the Standing Committee from time to time so that as nearly as possible one-third thereof shall be elected each year. Vacancies shall be filled by the appropriate Regional Council for the unexpired term, with due regard as to order, except that, when the unexpired term is for three months or less, the replacement member may be of either order. Regional Council representatives on the Executive Board shall become ex-officio members of their own Regional Council.

Section 5.

(a) Each Regional Council shall be responsible for seeing that the ministrations of The Episcopal Church are made available to every person living within the boundaries of such Region and shall exercise authority for the Region as a whole in safeguarding the interests and extending the ministrations of the Church throughout its borders, so that the Region may function as a unit in matters of common concern and responsibility. A Regional Council may, for these and other purposes, and subject to the approval of the Executive Board, adopt and administer a budget.

(b) Any proposal to begin missionary work or to found a Church must have the approval of the Regional Council of the Region in which such work or Church is to be established.

(c) In any case when a Church is aggrieved by an action of its Regional Council, its Rector or Vicar, with the advice and consent of its Vestry or Vestry Committee, may appeal the matter to the Standing Committee, the decision of which shall be final.

(d) In any case when a Regional Council, upon request to the Dean of the Region by the Ecclesiastical Authority, fails to meet and act within sixty days of such request, the Executive Board of the Diocese shall exercise the authority of the Regional Council with respect to the matter under consideration, subject to the right of appeal set forth in Section 5(c) of this Canon. Any such exercise of authority by the Executive Board shall be reported within one month of its exercise to the Standing Committee, and shall also be reported in full to the next meeting of the Council of the Diocese.

CANON 9. Boundaries.

Section 1. The Parishes of the Diocese, and their boundaries, are fixed as of January 23, 1972, and shall not be changed henceforth.

Section 2. In every Region, the Rector and Vestry of each Church and the Vicar and the Vestry Committee of each Mission shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction within the boundaries of the Region, and equal responsibility for the extension and welfare of the Church and ministration to needy people within the Region.

Section 3. The authority of an inactive Church is assigned to the Executive Board, which may delegate this authority in specific cases to a sub-committee composed entirely of members of the Executive Board. An inactive Church is defined as one in which there is no functioning Vestry or Vestry Committee.

CANON 10. Churches.

Section 1. A group of people (1) which acknowledge the jurisdiction of the Bishop or Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese of Virginia, (2) among whom there is a regular program of identifiable Episcopal services (including regular celebration of the Holy Communion) at a designated place or places of worship, (3) which as a group shares in the support of the Episcopate of the Diocese, (4) which makes provision for the pastoral administrations of the church to its members, and (5) which functions under the supervision of a Priest or Deacon, shall be called a Church. A list of all Churches shall be published annually in the Journal of the Council. All congregations designated as Parish Churches, Parishes or Separate Congregations on the effective date of this Canon shall be classified as Churches.

Section 2. A group of people seeking such status must signify its desire to a regular meeting of the Council of the Diocese of Virginia by petitioning for Church status. Such petition must contain the proposed name for the Church, a certification that the requirements of Section 1 of this Canon are complied with, the name and address of the supervising Priest, the address or addresses of the place or places of worship, and a copy of the current budget. The petition shall be accompanied by certificates of endorsement from the Regional Council of the Region in which such group provides a place of worship and from the Executive Board, it being the responsibility of the group to obtain such certificate.

Section 3. Each Church shall have a Vestry in conformity with Canon 11.

Section 4. The Vestry of a Church shall elect, from among those persons eligible to serve as Vestry members of that Church, representatives to the Regional Council and Council of the Diocese in the number provided by Canon.

Section 5. The Rector and Vestry of a Church as herein defined are expressly designated as the “Rector and Vestry of a Parish” for purposes of the Constitution and Canons of The Episcopal Church.

Section 6. A group of persons who desire to organize a congregation, but who are unable to meet all of the requirements of Section 1 of this Canon, may be constituted by the Bishop or Ecclesiastical Authority, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, or the Standing Committee itself if it be the Ecclesiastical Authority, a Mission. Application for such status shall be accompanied by a certificate of endorsement of the Regional Council of the Region in which such group proposes to worship, it being the responsibility of the group to obtain such certificate. A list of all Missions shall be published annually in the Journal of the Council of the Diocese. Upon the request of any Church, or the failure of any Church to meet all the requirements of Section 1 of this Canon, or upon request by a Church for direct aid from the Diocesan Budget, the Bishop or Ecclesiastical Authority, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, or the Standing Committee itself if it be the Ecclesiastical Authority, may change the status of such Church to that of a Mission. Any action taken under this section shall be reported in the Journal of the next succeeding Council as one of the official acts of the official taking the action.

Section 7. The minister in charge of a Mission shall be called the Vicar.

Section 8. Any Church may, with the consent of the Ecclesiastical Authority and the Regional Council of the Region in which the Mission is to be located, establish within the boundaries of such Region one or more Missions of a Founding Church. The minister in charge of such Mission shall be appointed by the Rector of the Founding Church with the concurrence of the Ecclesiastical Authority. The Vestry of the Founding Church shall appoint or shall allow to be elected a Vestry Committee which shall be composed as provided in Canon 11.14. It shall be charged with transacting the temporal business of the Mission, except that the Founding Church may retain to itself such temporal functions as it deems proper and in any event shall be ultimately responsible for the temporal obligations of the Mission.

(b) The Rector and Vestry of the Founding Church may at any time agree with the Bishop to designate such “Mission of a Founding Church” as a “Mission,” and upon such designation becoming effective, the provisions of this section shall no longer apply to such a Mission. Any Mission functioning under this section shall be so marked in the annual list of Missions.

(c) A Mission shall be entitled to Lay and Clerical representation in the Diocesan and Regional Council as is afforded other Churches.

CANON 11.
Election and Organization of Vestries, and Call of Congregational Meetings.

Section 1. In this Canon, the term “Rector” implies “Rector or Vicar,” and the term “Vestry” denotes “Vestry or Vestry Committee,” unless specifically noted to the contrary.

Section 2. A Church shall have a Vestry which shall consist of not fewer than three or more than twelve members, except that in any Church having more than one hundred confirmed communicants in good standing one additional member may be elected to its Vestry for each additional one hundred confirmed communicants in good standing, or major fraction thereof, provided that the total number of elected Vestry members shall not exceed eighteen.

Section 3. The election of Vestry members shall be held annually at such time and place as shall be designated by the Vestry, or in the event the Vestry does not act then by the Rector, or, if there be no Rector by the Wardens. If the time and place be not so fixed then the election shall be held on Easter Monday in the church or regular place of worship. At least three days notice of the time and place of each election of Vestry members shall be given in the church on an occasion of public worship or by other adequate means.

Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, if any Church so authorize, Vestry members may be elected for terms not to exceed four years, the congregation to determine the length of terms, the beginning of the term, and the number of Vestry members to be elected for such terms. The Vestry members elected and qualified under this Canon shall serve until their successors are elected and have qualified.

At all meetings of the congregation, the Rector shall preside, except that at the request of the Rector or if the Church is without a Rector, the meeting shall be presided over by one of the Wardens or, in their absence, by a Vestry member selected by the Vestry.

Section 4. Only Lay persons, who are confirmed adult communicants in good standing of the church, as defined in General Convention Canon I.17., shall be eligible for election as Vestry members of such church. However, regardless of eligibility of a person for election, no person shall be elected at duly convened congregational meetings to consecutive full terms on a congregation’s Vestry or Vestry Committee.
Section 5. All adult communicants in good standing, registered in the particular Church in which they offer to vote, shall be entitled to vote at the election of Vestry members. The voting shall be by ballot in person and, unless otherwise provided by the meeting, a majority of the votes cast shall be necessary to a choice. There shall be no voting by proxy. But no election shall be valid unless the participating qualified votes number at least ten per cent of the number of active communicants qualified to vote reported for the previous year.

Section 6. The Vestry may appoint three persons to act as judges at the Vestry elections, whose duties shall be to determine the qualifications of the voters and the eligibility of persons for nomination as Vestry members.

Section 7. As soon as may be after their election, the persons chosen as Vestry members shall assemble and organize at such time and place as the Rector shall appoint, or, if no time or place be appointed by him within a reasonable time, then at such time and place as shall be designated by any two Vestry members elect, the Rector and each Vestry member elect being notified. The newly organized Vestry takes office at a time previously established by the congregation in a duly called meeting. The proceedings at this and every meeting of the Vestry shall be opened with one or more collects and the Lord’s Prayer by the Rector, or other person appointed by the Rector.

Section 8. Every person chosen a Vestry member shall qualify by subscribing the following declaration and promise: “I do believe the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testament to be the Word of God, and to contain all things necessary to salvation; and I do yield my hearty assent and approbation to the doctrines, worship and discipline of The Episcopal Church; and I promise that I will faithfully execute the office of Vestry member of ________________________________ Church, in Region ________, in the County (or City) of __________________________, according to my best knowledge and skill.” No person shall act as a Vestry member until this declaration and promise have been subscribed to.

Section 9. The Vestry shall elect a Senior and a Junior Warden, a Register and a Treasurer, who shall continue in office until their successors are elected and qualified. The Wardens shall be members of the Vestry.

Section 10. The Rector shall preside at all meetings of the Vestry. In the absence of the Rector, or at his request when present, the Rector may request the Vestry to elect a substitute presiding officer, in which case the Rector will continue to have seat, voice and vote. If the church is without a Rector, meetings of the Vestry shall be presided over by one of the Wardens or, in their absence, by a Vestry member selected by the Vestry. All Vestry meetings shall be subject to the Rector’s call; but in case he fails to call a meeting when requested to do so by two Vestry members, such Vestry members may themselves call a meeting, giving at least three days notice of the time and place to the Rector and to each Vestry member. A majority of the Vestry members who have qualified, exclusive of the Rector, shall constitute a quorum; but any Vestry may by resolution fix a smaller number to act as a quorum at future meetings. The Vestry may adopt by-laws not inconsistent with Diocesan or National Canons.
Section 11. In case of a vacancy in the Vestry, the remaining members may elect a qualified member of the congregation to fill the vacancy until the next annual congregational meeting, at which time such vacancy shall be filled. The following actions of any Vestry member may, after due warning, be deemed to create a vacancy which shall be declared by resolution of the Vestry:

a. Failure to qualify within 60 days of election; or
b. Failure to continue as a communicant in good standing; or
c. Continued failure to attend the meetings of the Vestry without adequate excuse; or
d. Neglect to perform faithfully and diligently the duties of Vestry members enumerated in the Canons or by the by-laws of the congregation.

Section 12. Any Church having two or more congregations in different communities may apportion to each congregation the number of Vestry members to be chosen as its representation upon the Church Vestry. A separate election shall be held by and for each congregation, at which the number of Vestry members allotted to that congregation shall be chosen in accordance with the procedure presented in the preceding provisions of this Canon.

The Vestry members so chosen, together with the Rector, if there be one, shall constitute the Rector and Vestry of the Church. The Vestry members chosen by each congregation, together with the Rector, shall be a committee of the Church Vestry to have the care and control of the property and to transact the local business of the congregation from which elected. Each Vestry committee may appoint one Warden for its congregation, a Treasurer and a Clerk. If Wardens have been chosen for particular congregations by Committees of the Vestry, the Senior and Junior Wardens of the Church shall be chosen from among such Wardens.

The Church Vestry shall meet as a whole at least quarterly. Any matter concurred in by a majority of the committees of the Vestry, recorded by their respective Clerks and by the Register of the Vestry, shall be the act of the Vestry of the Church unless the Rector, or if there be none, the Senior Warden, deem it proper that such matter should be acted upon in a meeting of the Church Vestry as a whole.

Section 13. In addition to the annual meeting of the congregation for the election of Vestry members, other meetings of the congregation may be called by the Vestry or, if they decline to do so, by ten qualified voters of the congregation after at least three days notice of the time, place and object of the meeting have been given either on an occasion of public worship or by other adequate means to the minister, each Vestry member and the congregation. At such meetings only those persons shall be entitled to vote who are qualified to vote for Vestry members and such meetings shall be conducted in the same manner as meetings held for the election of Vestries, except that voting by ballot need not be required.

Section 14. The Bishop or the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese shall appoint, or else allow a Mission which is not a Mission of a Founding Church to elect, a Committee of not fewer than three nor more than twelve Lay persons, who are confirmed adult communicants in good standing of that Mission, as defined in General Convention Canon I.17, to be called the Vestry Committee.

At the end of his term of office, he shall deliver all books and records pertaining to his office to the Wardens.

(a) Records of Active Proceedings. Records of active proceedings before the Disciplinary Board, including the period of any pending appeal, shall be preserved and maintained in the custody of the Clerk.

(b) Permanent Records. The Bishop shall make provision for the permanent storage of records of all proceedings under this Canon at the offices of the Diocese and the Archives of the Episcopal Church, as prescribed in Title IV of the Canons of the General Convention.

Section 13. Transitional Provisions. The amendments to this section adopted by the Council at its regular meeting in 2011 shall be effective July 1, 2011. The provisions of this Canon in effect prior to the Council’s regular meeting in 2011 shall remain in effect until July 1, 2011, and thereafter solely with regard to matters then pending before the Ecclesiastical Trial Court, until such matters are finally disposed. At the 2011 regular meeting of Council, the Council shall elect an Ecclesiastical Trial Court pursuant to those provisions, and also shall elect members of the Disciplinary Board to be effective July 1, 2011. The initial members of the Disciplinary Board shall be elected to terms expiring in equal number in 2012, 2013 and 2014, provided that only one Lay Person’s term shall expire in 2012; succeeding members shall be elected to three-year terms. The meeting of the Disciplinary Board to elect its initial President shall take place within sixty days of July 1, 2011. The provisions of this amendment related to the election of a Disciplinary Board at the 216th Annual Council shall be effective as of the approval of this amendment by two-thirds of the members present.

CANON 28.

Relationships Among Clergy and Congregations.

Section 1. Except upon mandatory resignation by reason of age, a Rector may not resign as Rector of a church without the consent of its Vestry, nor may any Rector canonically or lawfully elected and in charge of a church be removed therefrom by the Vestry against the Rector’s will, except as hereinafter provided.

Section 2. When a Rector or a majority of any Vestry believe the pastoral relation between the Rector and the congregation is imperiled by dissension, it shall be the duty of either or both, before contemplating dissolution of the pastoral relation, to lay the matter before the Bishop.

Section 3. If for any urgent reason a Rector or Vestry desires a dissolution of the pastoral relation, and the parties cannot agree, either party may give notice in writing to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese. Whenever the Standing Committee is the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese, it shall request the Suffragan Bishop, if there be one; or the Assistant Bishop, if there be one; and if neither office is filled, then the Bishop of another Diocese, to perform the duties of the Bishop under this Canon.

Section 4. Whenever a Rector or a Vestry notifies the Bishop under the terms of this Canon, the Bishop shall labor for a reconciliation of the Rector and the congregation, either directly or through the Bishop’s designees, or both. The Bishop may require one or more meetings with the Vestry and the Rector, either together or separately, and may require such meetings to be held with the Bishop, with the Bishop’s designee, or both. No later than 90 days after receiving the original notification for consultation under the provisions of this Canon, the Bishop shall issue a Pastoral Direction in writing to the Rector and the Vestry shall outline a course of action to unify the congregation.

Section 5. If, in the judgment of the Bishop, the Rector, or the Vestry, the terms of the Pastoral Direction issued by the Bishop as specified in Section 4 above have not been met, or that the purposes for the Pastoral Direction have not been achieved, and 90 days have passed since the issuance of the Pastoral Direction, then the Rector or the Vestry may request a final judgment on the pastoral relation from the Bishop as follows or the Bishop may proceed on his own initiative as follows:
(a) The Bishop shall give notice to the Rector and Vestry that a godly judgment will be rendered in the matter after consultation with the Standing Committee and that either party has the right within ten days to request in writing an opportunity to confer with the Standing Committee before it consults with the Bishop.

(b) If a timely request is made, the President of the Standing Committee shall set a date for the conference, which shall be held within thirty days.

(c) At the conference each party shall be entitled to representation and to present its position fully.

(d) Within thirty days after the conference, or after the Bishop’s notice if no conference is requested, the Bishop shall confer with and receive the recommendation of the Standing Committee; thereafter the Bishop, as final arbiter and judge, shall render a godly judgment.

(e) Upon the request of either party the Bishop shall explain the reasons for the judgment. If the explanation is in writing, copies shall be delivered to both parties.

(f) If the pastoral relation is to be continued, the Bishop shall require the parties to agree on definitions of responsibility and accountability for the Rector and the Vestry.

(g) If the relation is to be dissolved:
   (1) The Bishop shall direct the Secretary of the Council to record the dissolution.
   (2) The judgment shall include such terms and conditions including financial settlements as shall seem to the Bishop just and compassionate.

(h) In either event the Bishop shall offer appropriate supportive services to the Priest and the church.

Section 6. In the event of the failure or refusal of either party to comply with the terms of the judgment, the Bishop may act as follows:

(a) In the case of a Rector, suspend the Rector from the exercise of the priestly office until the Priest shall comply with the judgment.

(b) In the case of a Vestry, recommend to the Council of the Diocese that the Church be placed under the supervision of the Bishop as a Mission until it has complied with the judgment.

Section 7. For cause, the Bishop may extend the time periods specified in this Canon, provided that all be done to expedite these proceedings. All parties shall be notified in writing of the length of any extension.

Section 8. Statements made during the course of proceedings under this Canon are not discoverable nor admissible in any proceedings under Title IV of the General Convention Canons or Diocesan Canon 27 provided that this does not require the exclusion of evidence in any proceeding under the Canons which is otherwise discoverable and admissible.

Section 9. In the course of proceedings under this Canon, if a complaint is made by the Vestry against the Rector under General Convention Canon IV.1. or Diocesan Canon 27, all proceedings under this Canon shall be suspended until the complaint has been resolved or withdrawn.
CANON 29.
Gender of Pronouns.
The masculine pronoun whenever used in these Canons shall be deemed to include the feminine pronoun.

Amendment of Canons.
Section 1. The Canons of this Diocese may be amended by the Council; but no proposed amendment shall be considered by the Council unless at least one day’s notice be given in open Council, nor until such amendment shall have been referred to and reported upon by a Committee of at least two Presbyters and two Laymen. Nor shall such amendments be adopted during the same Council unless two-thirds of the members present concur therein; but if the majority be less than two-thirds, it shall lie over for consideration at the next regular meeting of the Council. Unless otherwise provided by the Council, all amendments shall become effective upon the adjournment of the meeting of the Council at which final action was taken.

Section 2. Whenever a Canon is amended, enacted, or repealed in different respects by two or more independent enactments at the same Council, including the enactment of an entire Canon, the separate enactments shall be considered as one enactment containing all of the amendments or enactments, whether or not repealed, to the extent that the changes made in separate amendments or enactments are not in conflict with each other, the Chancellor and the Chairman of the Committee on Constitution and Canons shall make the determination whether or not there is a conflict and certify the text of the single enactment to the Secretary of the Council.

Section 3. At the conclusion of each regular meeting of General Convention, the Chancellor and the Chairman of the Committee on Constitution and Canons of this Diocese shall be empowered to correct numbering references in the Constitution and Canons of this Diocese to the Constitution and Canons of the General Convention, which corrections shall be reported to the Secretary of the Diocese.

Health Insurance.
Section 1. Any and all health insurance coverage provided or paid for by the Diocese, Churches, Diocesan Missions or Missions of a Founding Church located within the Diocese for active and retired ordained persons or lay employees shall be provided through the diocesan health insurance plans established by the Executive Board.

Section 2. The Executive Board shall establish forms and processes for receiving applications for exception or exemption from the mandate of paragraph 1 hereof, and for reviewing and reaching a decision regarding each application. The Executive Board may designate an appropriately constituted body and delegate to it the necessary authorities to receive, review and make recommendations to the Executive Board. A description of these forms and processes shall be furnished to the entities identified in paragraph 1 hereof, made available by the Diocese upon request, and published in the annual guidelines offered by the Diocesan Compensation Commission as approved by the Executive Board.

Section 3. The Executive Board may grant such exemptions or exceptions from the mandate of paragraph 1 hereof as it deems appropriate. Each decision of the Executive Board shall be communicated to the applicant in writing together with a description of any process that the Executive Board may establish for appealing its decisions.

Section 4. In deciding on each application, the Executive Board shall be guided by the following considerations (among such others as it may deem appropriate):

(a) consistency;
(b) fairness;
(c) hardship;
(d) coverage available through spousal, military or other plans;
(e) the effect that the exemption or exception requested, if granted, would have on the plan as a whole;
(f) the precedential effect of the exemption or exception requested, if granted.
